Praise Roosevelt.
Mr. Hitler Copy Cats.
12 Fast Round Trips.
The Big French Day.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT will be remembered for many things. Heaven only knows how many, at the rate he is traveling in unexplored fields, but praised by no one more gratefully than by fifteen thousand American postmasters whose jobs and future he makes secure, putting them under civil service rules, no longer to be the playthings of politics.

This is all the more praiseworthy since these postmasters are, generally, Republican appointees.

CHANCELLOR HITLER, borrowing from President Roosevelt, or perhaps he thought of it himself, puts all German business under government supervision.

Business and labor will be under police control with strikes, lockouts, all labor disputes "suppressed." Later there is to come a definite arrangement of all these things.

HERE VARIOUS "codes" governing industry and businesses are expected to end much wastefulness of strikes and lockouts.

The coal industry, at present, is preparing a code concerning wages, hours and number of days work in a week. It would be a blessing to the country and the coal industry if a fair arrangement can be made to keep peace in an industry which has been more or less permanently at war.

BY THE WAY, imagine the emotions of Chancellor Hitler when he reads in a Vienna paper a story covering three pages, showing that he is descended from a Czech Jewish lady, also named Hitler.

The story is given in great detail. Alexander Basch, of Polna, found in his book the names of ten Jewish Hitlers born in Prague, between 1800 and 1831.

One member of the family still has his gravestone standing with Hebrew inscriptions on it, in the Polna Jewish Cemetery, and showed that Clara Hitler, one of a family that moved to Vienna and were baptized Christians, was a sister of Chancellor Hitler's grandmother.

THAT RELATIONSHIP probably will annoy Jews more than it will annoy Hitler, but it will annoy Hitler considerably. That dark-haired, straight-faced gentleman is supposed to live under the illusion that he is a 100 per cent fair-haired Nordic.

THE UNITED AIRCRAFT COMPANY deserves great credit for developing American aviation.

Flying time to California will be cut to 17 hours, doing away with waits for engine overhauling at landings. And though many Americans do not know it, United Aircraft air boats now make 12 trips each way daily between Chicago and New York, in five hours. It is a comfortable trip, usually with only one stop.

That efficient flying corporation, due to the initiative of Charles E. Mitchell, his associates in the National City Bank and the Boeing Air Company, deserves public thanks.

Today, July 14, "Bastille Day," France celebrates the destruction of that picturesque old prison, and the birth of modern French liberty.

It is always an enthusiastic celebration, Parisians dancing in the public squares, brilliant lights everywhere.

July 14 might also celebrate the famous issue of a substitute for paper money in France, known as the "assignats." Beginning with 400,000,000 francs worth of this money, the issue was gradually increased to 45,000,000,000.

The money became worthless, but it could always be used at face value to buy lands taken from the crown. And today, the backbone of French military strength is to be found in the fact that France, in proportion to its population, has more land owners than any other big nation.

NEWS FROM Washington pleases big oil companies and those that own their stocks. The President, under the Industrial Recovery Act, prohibits shipment in interstate commerce of oil distributed in violation of state conservation laws.

Secretary Ickes, who knows the importance of government regulations to protect the country's oil supply, says this will stop the illegal shipment of 500,000 barrels a day.

The United States with its wealth has been like a young spendthrift squandering inherited money, as though there would be no end to it.

FRANCE, ASSURED by her finance minister that "the national treasury is sufficiently prosperous," is paying to England £15,000,000 ahead of the maturity.

Europe does not do that with United States loans, perhaps on the theory that the shock might harm us.

Even the low price of the dollar does not tempt Europe to buy dollars and pay us a few of the billions owing.

OUR INTELLIGENT Canadian friends, knowing that their bread is buttered on this side of the Atlantic, not across the ocean, demand that Great Britain cease hitching the pound sterling to the French franc and other gold currencies, and

PARK URGED TO CONTINUE VOTE QUIZ

Federal Jury Calls Attention to Fake Registrations

District Attorney Andrew T. Park today was confronted with the opportunity to push forward the investigation of vote-cheating which enabled the federal grand jury to indict more than 100 political leaders and members of election boards.

After again indicting State Senator James J. Coyne, the federal grand jury, tired from a month's probe of the congressional elections, recessed with a broad hint that there was work to be done by Park's office.

'FICTITIOUS VOTERS'

The grand jury reported that "large numbers of fictitious voters" were registered in the Second, Third and Fourth Wards, and added:

"But we were advised that illegal registration was not a matter over which federal courts have jurisdiction."

Park has made plain that he would not ignore the federal grand jury's investigation. He said that when the probe was completed he would ask for a copy of the grand jury's testimony to determine whether there were grounds for action by his office.

The federal grand jury recessed after re-indicting nine political leaders and indicting 29 other

ROOSEVELT SON ASKS DIVORCE

MINDEN, Nev., July 14.—(AP.)—Elliott Roosevelt, second son of the President, filed suit here today for a divorce from Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt, of Philadelphia. His complaint charged extreme cruelty.

Although filed today, the case will not be heard before Monday, when Mrs. Roosevelt is expected to enter a cross-complaint and ask that the decree be awarded to her.

In that event Elliott will present no evidence in support of his complaint, while his wife's testimony will be read into the record from a deposition that it is to be dispatched from Philadelphia by air mail today.

Roosevelt will be the only witness, and he will testify only as to his residence in Nevada.

He and the former Miss Donner, who is the daughter of William H. Donner, retired millionaire steel executive, married at Villa Nova, near Philadelphia, on January 16, 1932, and have an infant son.

Mother, Baby Locked in Cell, Police Scored

When Magistrate Leo Rothenberg heard that a mother and 14-month-old daughter had been locked up in North Side Police Station last night on a disorderly conduct charge, he scored the arresting officers in Morals Court today.

Mrs. Edna Mills, 23, and her husband, Edward Mills, 36, of 905 Arch street, were discharged. They were arrested last night by Patrolmen Leo Fitzgerald and Nick Battis, operators of a radio car, after a complaint had been received that there was trouble at the house.

When it developed in the testimony that Mrs. Mills and her daughter, Edna May, had spent the night in a cell, Rothenberg said:

"It's a shame and a disgrace that this has happened. There are a thousand fine policemen, but the arresting officers in this case are brainless."

The officers were not in court at the time.

Husband and wife said the trouble was just a family argument.

CASHIER SLAYS BANK BANDIT

PARSONS, Kan., July 14.—(AP.)—Firing with deadly aim, while his wife was being held as a shield by a bank robber, Isaac McCarty, 35, cashier of the Labette County State Bank at Altamont, shot and killed the man with a rifle today after seriously wounding the robber's companion with a shotgun.

The slain man was identified as Kenneth Conn and the wounded man as Alva Payton. Both were participants in the Memorial Day prison break from the Kansas Penitentiary when 11 convicts escaped by kidnaping the warden, Kirk Prather.

Standing on the bank's vault concealed by a curtain, McCarty dropped Payton with a blast from a shotgun as the two men started to leave the bank after robbing it.

Conn grabbed the banker's wife and with her fell beneath a counter.

With his wife crushed against the robber, McCarty grabbed his rifle, took deliberate aim and shot Conn once in the head and once in the body. The convict was killed instantly. Mrs. McCarty was uninjured.

'Fatty' Arbuckle Leaves Only $2,000

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—The estate of Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle was disclosed yesterday as amounting to not more than $2,000 with the granting of letters to administration to his wife, Mrs. Addie McPhait Arbuckle.

RAILROADER, OUT OF JOB, KILLS SON

Rochester Man Plans To End Own Life, But Loses Nerve

BEAVER, July 14.—R. J. Simington, 50, an unemployed railroad draftsman, walked into the Beaver County jail here early today and calmly announced to Warden Hamilton Brown:

"I've murdered my son. Lock me up."

Officers found the body of Simington's 13-year-old son, Burton Bradford, in bed at the Simington home in Rochester, across the river. The boy had been chloroformed.

Simington, despondent over his inability to obtain employment, told County Detective Robert Branyan and Warden Brown he concocted a mixture of a salve and chloroform and smeared the boy's nostrils with it, telling him it was good for his cold and to breathe it when he went to bed. He said, according to the officers, that he intended ending his own life, but lost his nerve.

Simington's wife has been dead several years. He has four other sons, two older and two younger. They are being cared for by friends and relatives. He said Burton was the only one unable to care for himself.

He told the officers he purchased the chloroform at a Rochester drug store several days ago on the pretext of wanting to kill a dog.

Richard Henry Simington, eldest son of R. J. Simington, accused of the murder of his son in Rochester, is employed as an elevator operator in the Salvation Army Hotel, Boulevard of the Allies. Two younger brothers have been adopted by a Pittsburgh family and the fourth son, according to relatives, is living with a Salvation Army official in Warren, Pa.

Pirates and Braves End Series Here

FORBES FIELD, July 14.—The Pirates and Boston Braves closed their exciting four-game series this afternoon with the home boys trying hard to make it three victories in the four battles.

The ever-ready Larry French loosened up to pitch for the Buccos. Fred Frankhouse, one of Bill McKechnie's clever right-handers, warmed up to oppose the Buccos.

Boys' Day was observed in the final game.

U. S. TO BUY PITTSBURGH PRODUCTS

City Mills, Workers To Benefit by Program

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Pittsburgh industries and their employes will benefit in the allotment of $115,513,610 from the public works fund for various projects throughout the country, announced today.

Pittsburgh's share will come through purchase of materials amounting to from $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 to be used in the government's initial emergency building program.

Iron and steel products, including sheets, plates, tubes and glass, brick, cement, machinery, implements and electrical equipment, will be required.

Pittsburgh bidders are already on the ground, and it is expected that a goodly portion of the material will be supplied from Pittsburgh plants.

In the office of the Federal Administrator of Public Works, it was pointed out that industrial districts supplying materials would be benefited from the entire program, for which $753,513,610 has already been allotted.

Previous allocations were $400,000,000 for federal roads and $238,000,000 to the Navy for new ships.

CAMDEN, N. J., July 14.—(AP.)—The Rev. John S. Hackett, superintendent of a mission which operates the Camden Shelter for Homeless Men, has arranged for an orchestra to furnish music at religious services, and his congregation will be seated at tables instead of the conventional pews or benches.

Montreal Hails Balbo Armada; Hour Over U. S.

MONTREAL, Que., July 14.—(INS.)—The trans-Atlantic fleet of Italian seaplanes en route to Chicago, arrived here today at 1:45 p. m. (Pittsburgh time), on their last stopping place before attaining their 6,100-mile goal.

The 24 planes, under Gen. Italo Balbo, flew here from Shediac, N. B., approximately 500 miles.

The planes circled over buildings crowded to the roofs with citizens.

A refueling barge, overloaded with gasoline, suddenly sank in the river as the planes arrived. The sinking of the refueling barge may delay the takeoff of the planes for Chicago, although airport officials believed sufficient additional gasoline could be secured.

FLY OVER MAINE

JACKMAN, Me., July 14.—(INS.)—The air armada of Italy spent an hour today flying over United States territory for the first time.

Sweeping over Northern Maine from Canterbury, N. B., the fliers roared over the great northern woods of the Pine Tree state.

RECEPTION IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP.)—Extensive preparations, including a White House luncheon, are being made in the capital to entertain Gen. Italo Balbo and his Italian fliers.

Balbo and his aides were expected here on the fifth day after arriving at Chicago.

French Pay British Before Loan's Due

PARIS, July 14.—(INS.)—The French government, which is in default on two foreign debts installments due the United States, will repay half of a 32,000,000 pound loan from Great Britain three months before it is due.

This was revealed in a Treasury announcement that the installment, amounting to about $59,200,000 at current exchange rate, would be paid August 1, even though it is not due until November 1.

LINDYS ON WAY TO LABRADOR

BULLETIN.

BOTWOOD, Newfoundland, July 14.—(AP.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh hopped off again this afternoon for Cartwright, Labrador.

ST. JOHN'S Newfoundland, July 14.—(INS.)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed safely at Botwood, Newfoundland, early this afternoon.

The landing was made at 12:40 p. m., Newfoundland time (11:10 a. m., Pittsburgh time), after a 200-mile flight from St. John's.

The flight was made suddenly after it appeared the famous flying couple might delay here for another day before resuming their survey flight which will take them over the North Atlantic air routes as far as Greenland.

They landed at Botwood to refuel, and expect to go on to Cartwright, Labrador.

Adopted Heiress To Sue for Divorce

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 14.—(AP.)—Fredericka Fry Del Guercio, heiress to the fortune of Mrs. Georgia Timken Fry, Greenwich artist, who adopted her, was granted a divorce today from Eligio Del Guercio, New York law student.

FEDERAL WORK PLAN LAUNCHED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The administration's gigantic public works program was formally launched today when Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes, as administrator of public works, announced the allotment of $115,510,610 for projects.

The first grants from the $3,300,000,000 fund made since Ickes became administrator were almost exclusively for federal projects, many of which had been culled from appropriation bills in Congress.

Ickes, however, declared that the cabinet public works board soon will approve other projects to carry out President Roosevelt's goal of employing 1,000,000 men by October 1.

MISCELLANEOUS WORKS

The allocation included $64,561,542 for miscellaneous federal public works, $50,000,000 for roads in national parks, forest and Indian reservations as provided by law, and $952,068 to 24 towns for

Mother Gives Newborn Baby to Fill Arms of Another Robbed by Death

'Mine Didn't Live' Plaint Brings Gift Of Infant

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—They were two women, trudging slowly the corridors of Bellevue Hospital from the maternity ward.

In the arms of one, Ida Mariano, slept her newborn baby.

The arms of the other woman, Mrs. Victoria Barrett, were empty.

Whispered Victoria Barrett to Ida Mariano:

"I had a baby, too. He did not live."

The other woman said nothing. Mrs. Barrett asked:

"May I see—your baby?"

Ida Mariano pulled the blanket back. They stood there, two women.

Mrs. Barrett exclaimed:

"He is so sweet! My baby—he did not live."

She repeated it, as though it were new; as though it were necessary somehow to repeat it to make even herself believe.

Ida Mariano said:

"You like my baby, yes?"

Victoria Barrett replied:

"Oh, yes indeed. I Could love him."

Ida Mariano held the baby forth in her arms.

"Do you want him?"

It was in the corridors of Bellevue yesterday. A tiny bundle—a tiny baby—changed hands. Ida Mariano went out into the street. Her arms were empty.

When Victoria Barrett got home she told her husband, Charles, what she had done. Our baby, she said, is dead; yet we have a baby (see how sweet he is?) and he will be our own, just as though our own had not—died.

Her husband said no. Victoria Barrett, only 19, carried the infant back to the hospital. They could not take it. There was the law to consider. Mrs. Barrett should take the baby to the police—the little baby that was not hers.

Of course the police had no place for a baby. A cell is not a nursery. A turnkey is not a nursemaid.

The police turned it over to a foundling asylum. They made a notation for the records. They would look up Ida Mariano and ask her about the affair. It was grist. Policemen are practical persons.

Coal Price Increase Likely Under Code

Sharp advances in prices are predicted by coal dealers as a result of the imminent adoption of a code for the industry under the provisions of the Industrial Recovery Act.

Coal men declare that domestic buying has shown a sudden increase as a result of a growing rush on the part of consumers to obtain a supply before the increased wage scales to be put into effect under the code result in price advances.

Domestic lump coal now costs about $3 a ton dumped at the curb in Pittsburgh. Coal brokers expect an advance of $1 to $2 a ton before October.

While the administration's policy has been to discourage price advances in the principal products used by the public, the industrial codes are to prohibit sale of products below cost. Labor is a major item in coal production so that price advances in this field appear inevitable as soon as the code is made effective.

PITTSBURGH AND W. VA. COAL OPERATORS MEET ON CODE

MORROW HEADS CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK

Parley Drafting Own Plan as Opposed to Union Program

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP)—Discussions preliminary to defining a code of fair competition for the bituminous coal industry, but embracing trade and wage practices peculiar to their own operations, were in progress today among Pennsylvania and Southern operators meeting here.

When perfected, the code will be placed in hearing at Washington with one submitted yesterday by union operators and approved by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

NON-UNION STATUS

Operators meeting here are not affiliated with the United Mine Workers' union and, owing to their non-union status, are understood to favor certain revisions of the Lewis code to meet what they consider varying operating conditions in the industry.

Discussions have been cloaked in considerable secrecy, although it is known representatives are in accord on the goal to be sought.

The two principal operators are the Consolidated Coal Company of West Virginia, a Rockefeller concern, and the Pittsburgh Coal Company, a Mellon firm. J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, was said to be directing the conference.

Operators' Group, Union Agree on Coal Code

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP)—A delegation of bituminous coal operators and officials of the United Mine Workers of America yesterday handed Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, the agreement they had worked out covering wages and competition in their industry.

No agreement was reached on working hours and this was left for decision at the hearings on the agreement, the time for which will be set by Johnson later.

John L. Lewis, president of the mine workers, said after the agreement was submitted that although the operators who subscribed to the code produced only from 25 to 26 per cent of the nation's annual soft coal tonnage, he expected the code to be adopted eventually for the entire industry.

UNDERGROUND WAGE

The code provided a minimum basic underground wage of $5 a day. On maximum working hour, the union urged a 30-hour week with a five-hour day and the operators held out for a 36-hour average week with an eight-hour day.

It also provided a 5 per cent differential for fields south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers, Northern West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania excepted. Operators in the southern fields would pay a minimum basic wage of $4.75 for underground workers.

Lewis said he expected stiff opposition from some southern quarters since that scale was much higher than the wages paid in different southern fields.

A group of Iowa representatives, head by Sam Ballentyne, walked out of the conference before the final vote was taken. Ballentyne refused to comment on their action. It was understood the Iowans felt the wage scale proposed might put them in a less favorable competitive position with Illinois fields.

The vote, Lewis said, was unanimously in favor of the code. Other Iowa operators, he said, were present when the conference voted.

Pittsburgher Urged As Oil 'Policemen'

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP)—H. A. Logan, of Warren, Pa., Ralph T. Zook, of Bradford, and J. Frank Drake, of the Gulf Oil Company, Pittsburgh, are among oil men from all parts of the country suggested as members of the "police" agency planned for the oil industry.

The agency is embodied in the code of fair competition submitted to the national recovery administration by the American petroleum industry.

$107,000 for Roads In Parks of State

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP)—Pennsylvania's allocation of the $50,000,000 for forest, park and Indian roads under the public works fund will be $107,966.

Disproving An Old Theory -:- -:- By QUIN HALL

COAL INDUSTRY CODE IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Following is an outline of the code agreed upon by a group of bituminous coal operators and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and submitted to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, United States industrial czar, yesterday.

Section 1 of the code handed in dealt with its general purposes.

In considering wages, it said, the relationship of coal markets to those of competitive fuels must be carefully regarded as a safeguard to both capital and employment.

It provided for a board of five, responsible to the President of the United States, to administer the code. Two would be designated by the Industrial Advisory Board to represent operators, two by the Labor Advisory Board to represent miners, and one by the Industrial Recovery Administrator.

Each of five production regions would establish regional administrative boards. Appeals from regional board decisions would go to the central board. The regions were designated as "Northeastern," "Appalachian," "Central," "Southwestern" and "Western."

WAGE CONDITIONS

The following was the wage condition agreed to:

"The minimum pay for track layers, bottom cagers, drivers, trip riders, grippers, water haulers, machine haulers and timbermen shall be $5 per day. Helpers and other inside day labor shall be paid at the rate of $4.75 per day. Exceptions to these minimum rates are trappers, spraggers, switch throwers, oilers and couplers. The existing amounts by which wages in the high-priced classes, including strip mining, exceed the classes named shall be maintained.

"Outside workers shall be paid a minimum day wage of $4 except for slate and sulphur pickers. Outside workers are those workers employed incidental to plant operation. The existing amounts by which wages in the higher priced classes exceed the classes named shall be maintained.

MINIMUM RATES

"It is recognized that within coal-producing districts, wages and working conditions for mine workers shall conform to the minimum rates of pay herein established and be uniform within each district; that they shall likewise be uniform as between districts to the extent necessary to provide fair competitive production costs; and to that end each of the coal districts is directed to submit within 15 days from the effective date of this code for the consideration and approval of the National Industrial Recovery Administration its supplemental code setting forth its minimum rates of pay to mine workers employed on a tonnage basis in pick-mining, hand-loading, undercutting, solid-shotting and also mine workers employed in strip-mining and mechanized mining to conform to the basic rate of $5 for inside labor, and where the mine workers in any such district are organized and willing to bargain collectively for such wages and working conditions, to report what, if any, such mutual agreements have been made."

Operators in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas were given authority for a joint agreement on differentials. Existing higher differentials in far western states "established by reason of higher living costs" were not to be disturbed. Lewis said the basic scale in Washington, for instance, already was $5.40.

U. S. TIGHTENS RELIEF RULE

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP)—Private relief agencies will not be permitted to handle relief funds after August 1.

This order was issued yesterday to state relief administrations by Harry L. Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator. At the same time he made public rules and regulations to cover the administration of unemployment relief where federal money is involved.

Hopkins stipulated that where the personnel of private agencies is used, the individuals must be sworn in as public officials.

One of the most important regulations centered upon the relief of transients, for whom he plans to make appropriations separate from the regular state funds.

RIVER WORK UP TO U. S. BOARD

The board in charge of the federal construction program has turned its attention to War Department estimates of more than $50,000,000 for army construction and river and harbor improvements, according to word from Washington.

Whether this includes the $60,000,000 program of the Pittsburgh Flood Commission for flood control reservoirs on the Allegheny and Monongahela tributaries was not disclosed. Flood control, it is estimated, would save millions to industry in this district through improved water supply and navigation conditions.

City officials are also awaiting word from federal and state officials on the proposed $4,500,000 downtown wharf improvement.

ROOSEVELT TO SET WAGES, WORK HOURS

President to Call on Industry to Comply

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP)—Imminence of action by President Roosevelt for establishment of national minimum wages and maximum working hours was indicated today but the method remained to be decided.

Two motivating factors apparently lead in that direction, the desire to boost purchasing power steadily and simultaneously and to guard against excess production under way in attempts to take advantage of expected higher prices.

WORK LIMITATION

The plan, which would be voluntary, would call for a general weekly level of 35 hours' work at $14 minimum wage for labor, and 40 hours with $15 minimum for clerical and store help.

The prospect is for a general call for business and industry to join under a temporary, voluntary agreement to such a limit of working hours and wages.

At a press conference, Hugh S. Johnson said as the administrator he believed he would shortly ask the President to issue such a call, and that meantime he was gathering a tremendous volume of information needed to reach a decision.

BLANKET AGREEMENT

The blanket agreement would be effective until individual industrial codes, which set up trade organizations to improve labor conditions and purchasing power and to eliminate undesirable practices such as over-production and price cutting, can be approved.

The idea back of the general code is to get the purchasing power of American laborers and white collar workers increased immediately, so that before hot weather is over the "upward spiral" sought by President Roosevelt will have a substantial basis.

Codes for the lace manufacturing and men's wear industries today were added to the growing list of agreements submitted to the recovery administration.

U. S. FIGHTING OTTAWA PACT

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The United States intends to demand modification in its favor of the Ottawa imperial trade agreements as the price for a new reciprocal trade treaty with Canada, it was learned today.

Prime Minister Bennett, of Canada, already has been made aware of this government's fear that the Ottawa agreements as they now stand form an obstacle to the development of closer trade relations between the United States and Canada.

The Canadian premier was given a "very definite impression" during his recent visit to President Roosevelt here that this government expects modification of those agreements to permit concessions to this nation.

Penna. Oil Men Hire Baker and Mitchell

OIL CITY, Pa., July 14.—(AP)—Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, and A. Mitchell Palmer, former United States Attorney General, both members of President Wilson's cabinet, have been retained as counsel by the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association.

They will lead the association's fight against the lease and agency clause, adopted by the oil industry in its code, and will oppose any form of exclusive dealing in the marketing of petroleum products.

JOBS, PAYROLLS GAINING IN STATE

Upturn in Business Shown in Report of Reserve Bank

Substantial increases in employment, payrolls and general business in Pennsylvania were announced today by the Federal Reserve Bank, with headquarters in Philadelphia.

And in Braddock, the Carnegie Steel Company's Edgar Thomson plants started four additional open hearth furnaces. The new group brings a total of 12 of the 16 open hearth furnaces there into action.

TRAFFIC INCREASES

The Pennsylvania Railroad also announces increases in traffic, with 33 extra Pullman cars to be operated from here tomorrow—taking vacationists to Atlantic City, the World's Fair, and other spots. The road reports general improvement in resort and business travel.

The Federal Reserve's figures showed that, despite the season when manufactories have a tendency to decrease, that employment was up 6.7 per cent and payrolls 14.9 per cent in June over the preceding month. The figures apply to 17 cities, including Pittsburgh.

INDUSTRIAL GAIN

Industrial production in the Kiski Valley continued its upward swing, with payrolls from the West Leechburg Steel Company and the American Steel and Wire Company the highest in two years. The payrolls since February increased 400 per cent.

A further trend upwards is expected, steel officials said today, as soon as the industrial codes in preparation now are ratified.

Pennsylvania Railroad officials declared 2,300 extra Pullmans and 500 extra coaches on regular and 200 extra trains carried to the World Fair the thousands of persons who made possible between 100 and 150 per cent increase in traffic.

Pinchot Encouraged By Visit to Roosevelt

HARRISBURG, July 14.—(INS.)—"What's the use?"

That was Gov. Gifford Pinchot's expression today when asked about the possibilities of an immediate special session of Pennsylvania's General Assembly.

As long as conditions remain as they are, he indicated, he will not summon the Legislature into extraordinary session.

When questioned regarding rumors that he would call a session this month for the consideration of old age pension legislation, the Governor tersely replied:

"As long as conditions remain as they are, what's the use?"

He expressed satisfaction over his trip to Washington where he discussed with President Roosevelt and cabinet officers the part Pennsylvania hopes to take in carrying out provisions of the Industrial Recovery Act.

The pressure of the public works program necessitates the Governor's presence in Pennsylvania and for this reason he has definitely decided not to attend the governors' convention on the West Coast next week.

RUNAWAY BOYS' TRIP NIPPED

Four boys, three of them brothers, en route to a Century of Progress in Chicago and other points west, were halted in the Pennsylvania Railroad yards at Twenty-eighth street early today.

The boys left their home yesterday, telling playmates they planned to "get on a train and take a ride."

They were Russell Flinn, 9, 611 Kendall street; Lawrence McHale, 12, of 5400 Keystone street, and his brothers, Paul, 10, and Thomas, 8.

Food Prices Jump 3 Per Cent in Month

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP)—Retail food prices in 51 cities were 3 1-3 per cent higher on June 15 than on May 15, but still 3 1-3 per cent lower than a year ago.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today that its index number, with averages prices for 1913 as 100.0, was 100.1 for June 15, 1932; 93.7 for May 15, 1933, and 96.7 for last June 15.

GLASS STRIKERS SPURN OFFER

An offer of the United States Glass Company officials to "think about" a 10 per cent raise for striking employes if they return to work for one week at the Glassport plant was rejected today by the 450 strikers.

The company flatly refused the demand for a 40 per cent increase in wages.

Through the mediation of Burgess Seward Gross, of Glassport, a strike committee conferred with Edward Slick, Jr., vice president of the company, Philip Twiford, general superintendent, and A. Granger, assistant superintendent.

The strike committee was informed of the offer to "think about" the 10 per cent raise and possibly slightly more if the workers returned. The officials said they would not guarantee the increase.

After the conference, the strikers met and voted to refuse the offer and continue to picket the plant. About 200 women are among the striking employes.

'NIRA' CABINET YOUNGER MEN

NEW YORK, July 14.—(INS.)—One of the most encouraging things about the National Industrial Recovery ("Nira") Act's administration are the type of men Gen. Hugh Johnson is selecting for his "brain trust," or cabinet.

They are not the big names of 1929, but the younger, hard working men tested by the depression.

To date the cabinet includes:

William Wilson Cumberland, noted economist and partner in Wellington & Co.

Edward R. Stettinius, vice president, General Motors, and son of the late Morgan partner.

John M. Hancock, partner of Lehman Brothers and former naval officer.

Alexander Sachs, economist with large banking firms and the Lehman Corporation, an investment trust.

All are known as liberal conservatives.

State College Aide Named to Code Job

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 14.—(INS.)—Dr. Pauline Berry Mack, in charge of textile chemistry at Pennsylvania State College, today was named to represent the consumer in the drafting of the dry-cleaners' code under the National Industrial Recovery Act.

small water works and sewer systems.

With the $400,000,000 allotted by the President for highways and $238,000,000 for naval construction, the total allotment out of the $3,300,000,000 bond issue now is $753,513,610.

Denying there is any intention of holding back the public works program, Ickes said:

"I am in favor of proceeding vigorously, but that does not mean the first fellow that comes along and asks for $500,000,000 will get it."

The first distributions, Ickes said, are for projects which qualify within the intent of Congress "that only work of permanent and real social value shall be embarked upon."

The board now has before it a vast number of additional projects which may or may not meet with their requirements, said Ickes. He added:

"Absence of these projects from the list does not of necessity disqualify them. The board wished to act quickly in making work available for many and to that end eliminated controversial projects from its first submission to the President."

The federal projects, it was estimated, would provide one month's work for 258,000 men on a 30-hour week.

INTERIOR DEPARTMENT

Of the $64,561,542 awarded for government works, $53,042,319 went to the Interior Department. And of this amount $38,000,000 is for Boulder Dam. Other reclamation projects were allocated $6,460,000.

The new projects will include $1,344,480 for immigration stations on boundaries, $443,000 for relocating and improving airways, $5,353,551 for the Bureau of Lighthouses and $2,820,000 for Indian schools and hospitals.

Most of the money will be spent far from the large centers of population. The absence of public works near large cities, where the unemployed are centered, was explained by the statement that the projects approved are ready for immediate completion.

The Army housing program, it was announced, has been temporarily withdrawn.

The business of loaning funds to municipalities and states will get under way after 10 regional administrators and state public works advisory committees are named next week.

Abandoning the proposal to name state administrators, the public works board divided the country into 10 zones as follows:

First, New England; second, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey; third, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio; fourth, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, Iowa and Wyoming; fifth, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon; sixth, Colorado, Nevada, Utah and Arizona; seventh, Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana; eighth, Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Arkansas; ninth, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Florida; tenth, Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and North Carolina.

Canada finds that competition with American producers and cheap dollars, at the same time, is too much competition.

THE AUTOMOBILE Chamber of Commerce shows that automobile production in June was up 104 per cent over June a year ago.

All big companies report heavily increased sales, and Detroit, the automobile metropolis, is as cheerful as a farmer with a hot sun shining on his newly cut hay. That is good news for labor and business.

Oil Code Urges Curb On Production

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP)—A prescription for fair competition for the oil industry, whose plaint has stirred debate for the last several sessions of Congress, was put before the recovery administration yesterday by the American Petroleum Institute and set for hearing with the announcement that no clause of it was being given advance approval.

On July 24, public hearings will begin with representatives of independent producers, the big companies, the governors and regulatory commissions of the oil states in attendance.

Not only did Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, reserve judgment upon the proposed agreement, but he announced that the entire question of properly utilizing this national resource and federal and state policies would enter into its consideration as well as the interests of all producers, factions and of labor.

The agreement called for minimum wage scales ranging from 40 to 47 cents an hour and for a 40-hour week.

Allotment among producers was proposed, the total being equal to current domestic consumption plus the demand for export, with excess production labelled "unfair practice," and with provisions made for restricting refining to keep supply and demand in balance.

Provision was asked for limiting exploitation of newly discovered pools by a system of presidential permits.

The code advocated minimum prices for protection to producers, including stripper wells which were pronounced "necessary to conservation of the national supply," and also maximum price limits to protect consumers.

Bread, Butter and Milk Prices Scanned by U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Minimum butter prices would be fixed weekly for the nation's principal markets under a proposed trade agreement which butter interests said today they would submit to farm administrators within the next 10 days.

The butter planning committee, established recently at a conference of dairy groups called by administrators here, reported that only a few details of the agreement remain to be determined. After its presentation 10 days notice will be required for a public hearing which will be conducted by a representative of Secretary Wallace.

Meanwhile, in an unprecedented move to protect dairy farmers and consumers, the administration today prepared to license every milk dealer throughout the United States.

The blanket federal license, applying to all processors, wholesalers and retailers of fluid milk, will become effective in each "milk shed" as price-fixing agreements go into effect.

Secretary Wallace said last night that investigation had shown that in virtually all cases where bread prices increases of 3 cents or more had been reported bakers have increased the size of their loaves.

He made public a report of an investigation by Henry Stude, president of the American Bakers' Association, covering 10 places where increases were reported.

It said that almost all cases of reported excessive increases had proved unfounded.

U. S. TURNS ON O'CONNELL KIDNAPERS FOR MAIL MISUSE

ORDER POSTAL SLEUTHS ON TRAIL

Victim's Kin Get New Note Indicating He's 'All Right'

ALBANY, N. Y., July 14.—(AP.)—A new club of the federal government was swung today against the kidnapers of John J. (Butch) O'Connell, Jr.

The office of the United States Attorney of the Northern District of New York State said today that he had ordered an investigation of the three notes sent through the mails by the 24-year-old soldier's abductors to his uncles, Ed and Dan O'Connell, Democratic czars of Albany County.

Reached at Malone by long-distance telephone, United States Attorney Oliver T. Burden declared that misuse of the mails by the youth's captors had been brought to his attention and that he had instructed W. D. Teagle, the Albany district postal inspector, to make a thorough investigation.

Burden said:

"I feel it is my duty to investigate the letters."

He added that up to now he had hesitated to enter the case lest the presence of his department might tend to hamper the negotiations which are being conducted exclusively by the O'Connells. He declared:

"Postal Inspector Teagle, in Albany, will carry on the investigation. It will, of course, be necessary for him to see the letters."

O'Connells Get New Note From Kin's Kidnapers

ALBANY, N. Y., July 14.—(INS.)—The kidnapers of John J. O'Connell, Jr., 24-year-old nephew of the politically powerful O'Connell clan, today communicated with Dan O'Connell, his uncle, and gave assurances that the young National Guardsman was "all right."

A request for a new list of possible intermediaries was made in the communication. It was the first word received from the kidnapers in four days.

The message from the kidnapers was in the form of a letter which bore the signature of young O'Connell to show it was authentic.

The communication requested that the new list of possible negotiators should be published in three New York newspapers.

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—Three New York newspapers, designated by the kidnapers of Lieut. John J. O'Connell, Jr., to publish the names of a new set of negotiators, received the advertisement from the O'Connell family shortly before noon today.

Ex-Sailor Identified As Banker's Abductor

ATLANTA, July 14.—(AP.)—John K. Ottley, president of the First National Bank, today positively identified a New York police photograph of William Belinski, former sailor and stationery salesman with a long criminal record, as the man wanted as the leader in the banker's kidnaping.

Ely Urges Probe Of Boston Crime

BOSTON, July 14.—(AP.)—Gov. Joseph B. Ely, in a message to the Legislature today, requested authority to appoint a commission to investigate crime conditions in Boston. The governor severely criticized what he termed "most flagrant and apparent abuses."

The governor told the Legislature that "open saloons" were operating in Boston.

LUER'S DEBTOR HELD BY POLICE

ALTON, Ill., July 14.—(INS.)—Arthur M. Cooper, of St. Louis, was being grilled by police at Edwardsville, Ill., today in connection with the kidnaping of August Luer, 78-year-old Alton banker.

His 22-year-old son, Arthur, Jr., was also being held.

Cooper was arrested by St. Louis police, following a telephone call from St. Louis to Mayor Thomas Butler, of Alton.

According to Mayor Butler, Cooper represented himself as an intermediary for the kidnapers, and declared that if one of the wealthy banker's sons was named on the ransom committee and $50,000 cash were ready to turn over to the abductors, Luer might be released within 18 hours.

Cooper, who is heavily indebted to the Luer estate, had been casually suspected following the abducting, and his hotel telephone in St. Louis tapped by police. St. Louis police verified Mayor Butler's announcement of their call.

ALTON, Ill., July 14.—(AP.)—Two notes demanding ransom for August Luer, 77-year-old Alton banker, have been received by Luer's family, it was announced here today. It was said neither of the notes bore Luer's hand writing.

Chair Proposed By Crime Writer For Kidnapers

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—It will "be a very fortunate and comfortable day for the people of this country when some kidnaper sits down in the electric chair," in the opinion of Edmund Pearson, America's foremost writer on real life crimes.

He said:

"The crime of kidnaping is one which cannot be explained by people who try to account for all crime on the ground that it is a matter of sudden passion or impulse.

"It is a piece of carefully thought out and calculated devilishness. The kidnaper plans to extort money by torturing people. The men who plan kidnapings ought never to be allowed outside of prison again."

Pearson believes swift and sure punishment, particularly of murderers, offers a solution of the crime problem, citing the example of England and Canada. Ten years of murder trial study also has convinced the historian of the Lizzie Borden murder case and other sensational American crimes that 80 or 90 per cent of persons formally accused of murder are guilty. He said:

"This has made me lose the romantic and sentimental view of murderers."

3 CHICAGOANS ON KIDNAP SPOT

CHICAGO, July 14.—(INS.)—Every move of three of Chicago's wealthiest sportsmen was under the careful surveillance of government agents today, following a tip-off that the trio has been marked as kidnaping victims.

The gang which kidnaped John (Jake the Barber) Factor and for 12 days subjected him to mistreatment until $50,000 ransom was paid, is said to be awaiting an opportunity to seize John D. Hertz, capitalist and former taxicab and moving picture executive; Otto Lehmann, wealthy department store owner, and Warren Wright, rich real estate operator.

That the men are in imminent danger, was revealed by Factor in an interview with federal agents.

Factor told authorities that one of his abductors told him while he was being held prisoner:

"Jake, you can get all the ransom back by setting up some of your rich friends for the 'snatch.' You tell us who will make good pickings, show us where we can seize them, and we'll split with you."

On his indignant refusal, Factor said, he was threatened by his captors.

Country Publishers Work on Own Code

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Denied representation by a vote of 678 to 132 in administration of the printing industry code drafted by the United Typothetae of America, members of the International Editorial Association and other small-town printer-publishers worked on a code of their own.

FILM GIRL WED TO WRESTLER SECRETLY

But Actress, Linked With Cooper, Says She'll Get Divorce

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—(AP.)—Judith Allen, 21-year-old featured player of the films, disclosed today that she is the wife of Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestler, and is considering a divorce.

The former Boston society girl (Marie Eliot before her marriage) said she had used the name Allen and also Mari Colman in motion picture work.

Sonnenberg's resentment over his wife's name being linked in film gossip columns with that of Gary Cooper, the six-foot Montanan who drawled his way into stardom, led to the disclosure of her identity.

EX GRID STAR

Miss Eliot married the one-time Dartmouth football player at the age of 19.

Sonnenberg, himself at one time billed as world's heavyweight champion wrestler, gave away the identity of his wife as he lay in St. Vincent's Hospital recovering from the effects of a bout with Jim Browning Wednesday night.

He told friends he was tired of having his wife's name linked with Cooper's in a Hollywood movie gossip column. Further, he said, he received no answer when he sent a dozen roses to Miss Allen's apartment.

Miss Allen was asked about the truth of the report as she sat on a set where a picture is being made at a movie studio. She replied:

"I don't want to hurt Gus, but I do not love him, and all I can do, I supose, is to obtain a divorce.

"We were married in the Little Church Around the Corner in New York, March 12, 1931.

WED AT NINETEEN

The film player said they met in Boston through mutual friends. Miss Allen said:

"When I met Gus he was champion and a glamorous figure to me. I was 19 and thought I fell in love with him.

"Well, it didn't work. After a month with him I went back to continue my dramatic studies in Boston. We went back together again later, and I tried to keep house. He laughed at me.

"We took a trip to Honolulu as a honeymoon. From that time on I knew there was no use trying to make a go of it, so I returned to dramatic school and was graduated a month ago.

"I felt I was getting somewhere, but the thought of someone finding out my secret haunted me. I thought it was only fair to tell Gary about Gus. I want it understood that any gossip-column linking our names was merely that—gossip.

"I'm sorry Gus talked, but I'm glad this masquerading is over."

MATTERN ASKS TO FLY SOLO

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Despite injuries and the exposure that followed the crash of his plane in Siberia, Jimmie Mattern is determined to complete alone a flight around the world.

In a cable to S. J. Sackett, one of his backers, Mattern today outlined a plan of traveling as a passenger in a Soviet plane from Anadyr, Siberia, where he was stranded, to Nome, Alaska.

At Nome he would obtain a plane taken there by a relief expedition headed by William Alexander, of New York, fly back to Anadyr, and at that point turn about and complete the globe trip.

U. S. POLICE MAY FIGHT RACKETS

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP.)—No matter how long it takes, in the words of Attorney General Cummings, the Federal Government will fight the underworld until law and order prevails over the gangster, kidnaper and racketeer.

As part of that effort, the Justice Department continued work today on legislation intended to give the government greater power in dealing with the lawless. This will be presented to Congress in January, Cummings said, although specific proposals have not been agreed upon.

The idea, he said, is that of setting up a federal police force. But the laws would have to be changed, because in the past it has been held that the federal government can act only in things involving it, such as counterfeiting or smuggling, or in crime cases that spread across state lines.

N. Y. Broker Dies Following Beating

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—William Mitchell, 47, a broker, of Freeport, N. Y., died today in Bellevue Hospital from injuries which a subsequent autopsy indicated resulted from a beating.

2 WIVES MUST PAY ALIMONY

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—The adage that "it's the woman who pays" rang true today for two wives, ordered by Judge Joseph Sabath to pay their estranged spouses alimony.

They are Mrs. Grace Kettell, a stenographer, who must give her husband-until-yesterday, Harold Kettell, unemployed, $2.000 in weekly installments of $10, and Mrs. Kundegunda Koska, who was ordered to pay temporary alimony of $3.50 a week to Joseph Koska.

In addition Mrs. Koska must supply her husband, against whom she has a divorce suit pending, free milk and eggs from the farm they own.

The law making this possible was the reciprocal alimony bill passed by the Illinois legislature. It became a law without the signature of Gov. Henry Horner, a bachelor.

Lady Honor Guinness Marries U. S. Author

LONDON, July 14.—(INS.)—Lady Honor Guinness and Henry Channon, American author, were married today in an elaborate ceremony at St. Margaret's Church in Westminster.

Extra police were on hand to keep back a crowd of nearly 400, mostly women, anxious to catch a glimpse of the bride.

DOCTOR'S DEATH SEALS SECRET CURE

Friend Says Illness Halted Disclosure On Stammering

Illness and death prevented a Pittsburgh dentist from giving to a friend the secret of his successful operations to cure stammering, the friend disclosed today.

The secret apparently was carried to the grave by Dr. Charles R. Elliott, 36, who was perfecting his method when he was seized by a fatal illness a week ago.

Dr. Elliott

There was nothing among his effects to indicate he left any account of his discovery.

That he planned to insure perpetuation of his secret was revealed by a fraternity brother who, because of professional ethics, desired that his name not be divulged.

Dr. Elliott, numerous friends said, had admitted he performed operations that cured or aided several persons afflicted with stammering, but even the anesthetist in his office was excluded when he operated.

The fraternity brother, a dentist and close friend of Dr. Elliott, said Dr. Elliott performed a delicate operation on the throat, but when questioned was noncommittal except to say:

"I'm getting there with it."

On June 26, the friend said, Dr. Elliott came to his office and asked him to join him in practice and research. He quoted Dr. Elliott as saying:

"I will teach you all I know."

The friend said he made arrangements to join Dr. Elliott, but on Friday he was taken to a hospital. He was critically ill until his death, and could give no hint of his secret.

FUNERAL ARRANGED

Funeral services for Dr. Elliott will be held tonight at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Elliott, 427 Jefferson street, Evans City. Burial will be in North Cemetery, Butler, tomorrow.

He was a member of the Pennsylvania State Dental Society, the Odontological Society of Western Pennsylvania and past president of the South Hills Dental Society. He was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh and was a member of Delta Sigma Delta fraternity, Loyalty Lodge No. 696, F. & A. M.; Syria Temple, Pennsylvania Consistory and the Keystone Athletic Club.

Queen Marie Bound For Hamburg, Cruise

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 14.—(AP.)—Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania, accompanied by her daughter, Princess Ileana and Ileana's husband, Archduke Anton of Hapsburg, entrained today for Hamburg for a cruise in northern seas.

It had been feared that the princess, who is expecting a second child, would not have been able to make the trip, but plans were changed. The royal party expects to make a voyage to Spitzbergen.

Weather Conditions.

There was little change in the barometric pressure distribution since yesterday morning. The New England high is somewhat farther out on the coast, the low that was centered over Southern Manitoba is now over Lake Superior, while the southern low remained nearly stationary. There is a center off the North Carolina coast and another over Eastern Texas. The northwestern high spread inland over the Northwest country, causing rather cool weather over the Canadian Northwest and the Northern Rocky Mountain states. Showers were light and scattered. High maximum temperatures occurred yesterday over the southern and central plains and Rocky Mountain states. The highest reported east of the Rockies is 108 degrees at Abilene, Tex.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary or falling slowly. Stage at Franklin is 0.5 foot; Lock No. 7 (Monon.), 10.9; Dam No. 4, 9.2; No. 8, 7.7; No. 10, 8.6, and No. 12, 7.8. The dams are up.

JURY CALLS ON PARK TO PUSH VOTE PROBE

men and one woman. During the probe 108 persons were indicted.

Bench warrants for the 39 indicted yesterday were signed today by Judge E. M. Gibson, upon request of United States Attorney Louis E. Graham. The defendants probably will be allowed a day or two in which to post bond, but, failing then, will be brought in under the warrants.

Several posted bonds today, including John Fugassi, who merely transferred his first bond.

In the last returns the jury re-indicted, besides State Senator James J. Coyne, Dr. Joseph G. Steedle, member of the State Legislature and burgess of McKees Rocks, who was named in two indictments, one charging him with perjury before the grand jury and the other charging conspiracy.

OTHERS INDICTED

The latest list of indictments also named as defendants Attorney B. Robert Averbach, counsel to the Republican county organization and to the Sheriff of Allegheny County; Thomas Coyne, the Senator's brother, and Attorney John J. McGrath. Fifteen members of election boards were indicted.

The new indictment against Senator Coyne and the eight other political leaders supersedes the first and included in it were his brother, Harry Fink, private detective; Walter Butler, former Republican chairman of the Eleventh District of the Fourth Ward, Justice of the Peace James J. Westwood, of McKees Rocks, was named in another indictment.

First Assistant United States Attorney James I. Marsh announced that bonds for members of election boards would be $2,500 each and for the other defendants, $3,500 each.

Judge Nelson McVicar, in dismissing the jurors said, at the request of Attorney Marsh, they were subject to recall.

All the election board members indicted are in the Thirty-second Congressional District, but the other defendants are from various sections of the Thirtieth, Thirty-second and Thirty-fourth Congressional districts.

The election of Michael J. Muldowney to Congress in the Thirty-second District is being contested by Mrs. Anne E. Felix, Democrat.

Indicted with Dr. Steedle, Attorneys Averbach and McGrath and Justice of the Peace Westwood, were Burton J. McKee, Robert S. S. Haus, Thomas Saunders, chief of police of Stowe Township; Frank Miller, police captain of Stowe Township; William Schwartz and August Weisser, policemen of Stowe Township; Wallace Ray and Justice of the Peace Paul N. Franks.

The indictment charges them with conspiring to alter and falsify election records in various districts in the Thirty-fourth Congressional District.

In the indictment charging Dr. Steedle with perjury he is accused of giving false testimony before the grand jury when he denied knowing who paid the deposit required by law for impounding of certain ballot boxes for a recount by the returning board.

Thomas Coyne, Harry Fink and Walter Butler are also named defendants in a second indictment involving alleged election irregularities in the Eleventh District of the Fourth Ward, the home district of Senator Coyne.

ON ELECTION BOARDS

The election board members indicted were as follows:

Third Ward, Second District—Thomas O'Malley, brother of Patrick O'Malley and judge of elections; John Barosky and Earl Longo, inspectors; Floyd Kawka and Stanley Carlowski, clerks.

Fourth Ward, Twelfth District—John P. Walsh, judge of election; Al Sherun and Earl McDermott, inspectors; Ben C. Tatum and A. C. Calhoon, clerks.

Fifteenth Ward, Seventh District—Clement Wessell, judge of election; Mary Burns and John W. Stanton, inspectors; Martin L. McTighe and Mark Stanton, clerks.

During the probe members of 16 boards were indicted, all in the Second, Third, Fourth and Fifteenth wards, Thirty-second Congressional District. Before recessing the members of the grand jury passed a resolution commending United States Attorney Louis E. Graham, Special Prosecutor Earl F. Reed, Attorney Marsh, and other attaches of the District Attorney's office for the efficient manner in which they conducted the investigation.

URGE FURTHER PROBE

In the presentment to the court recommending a further investigation as to the Thirtieth Congressional District, the jurors said evidence produced showed frauds in that district, but they were unable to determine definitely the persons responsible.

They also recommended that immediate action be taken which will insure safeguarding of all ballot boxes for one year following each election, under supervision starting when the ballot box is properly sealed by election officers.

The investigation also disclosed large numbers of fictitious voters listed on the registration books, particularly in the Second, Third, and Fourth wards of this city, which matter, the statement said, was not one over which the Federal Courts have jurisdiction.

Those re-indicted with Senator Coyne were: Alderman John J. Verona, Third ward; Patrick O'Malley, chairman, Second ward; John Fugassi, board of mercantile appraisers; Louis J. Conley, deputy fire chief and chairman of Ninth ward; Patrick J. Maloney, Ninth ward; state representative George W. Savage, city assessor; Frank O'Halloran, clerk on board of mercantile appraisers, and Martin Mullen, chairman of Fourth District, Tenth ward.

FIGHTING FOR BOY'S DOG

MRS. IRENE CASTLE M'LAUGHLIN ARTHUR KOESTNER

Mrs. McLaughlin, society animal protectionist, pictured in a Chicago court as she carried on her battle to save Arthur's little dog, "Spotty," from vivisectionists. "Spotty" had no license, got arrested. This is an International News Photograph Service picture.

FIGHT OVER DOG STIRS CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Four universities, a hospital and the city of Chicago were deeply interested today in the fate of 12-year-old Arthur Koestner's dog, "Spotty."

Judge Robert E. Gentzel ruled yesterday that Spotty won't be killed. The dog was captured by the city dog catcher because it had no license. The judge issued a temporary injunction protecting it.

Because Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin entered the affair, it involves a city ordinance and the practice in Illinois of vivisection. She asked an injunction restraining city officials from turning unlicensed dogs over to medical institutions.

Attorney Angus Roy Shannon, representing the University of Chicago, the University of Illinois, Northwestern and Loyola Universities, as well as a hospital, was given leave to intervene. To stop vivisection, he declared, would hinder teaching of medicine.

Mrs. McLaughlin gave Arthur the dog and also money to buy a license, a muzzle and a collar.

3 MORE HOMES LOSE WARDS

Juvenile Court Judge Benjamin Lencher ordered three more foster homes closed to wards of Allegheny County yesterday after hearing testimony of children and investigators. The six wards told stories of abuse, neglect and overwork which checked with the investigator's reports.

Following Judge Lencher's policy of keeping families intact, a brother and sister were removed from homes and reunited in one approved by the social workers. The children had never seen each other as the boy had been a ward at the time his sister was born.

The hearings were to continue today with children from two homes appearing before the court to describe their living conditions.

Avalon Burgess Seeks Re-election

Burgess Grant Ritchie, of Avalon, announced today that he will be a candidate for re-election this fall.

Burgess Ritchie, who has served two terms as head of the borough government and prior to that was for 10 years a member of Council, said he stands for "A good old-fashioned town, to be run in the good old-fashioned way."

JUDGE TO FIND HOME FOR WAIF NEAR 'ANDY'

The force of one small will, in the person of 6-year-old Billy Mitchell, backed by the understanding heart of Judge Benjamin Lencher, will probably thwart efforts of Juvenile Court workers to separate the boy from "Andy," 50-year-old deaf mute son of Billy's deceased "mammy," Mrs. Elizabeth Myers.

Released at 2 p. m. yesterday from the Children's Hospital, where he has been recovering from a tonsillectomy, Billy was taken to the Juvenile Detention Home, where he will undergo physical and psychological tests to determine his health and intelligence.

EDUCATION PLANNED

Miss Grace Stoakes, Chief Probation Officer of the Juvenile Court, would like to place Billy in the Ward Home for Children, Bigelow boulevard, where, she said:

"He can catch up with children of his own age, who have had better advantages than "Mammy" and the deaf-mute Andy were able to give him in their back-woods shack. Of course, there is a deep attachment between Billy and Andy, but our chief responsibility is in Billy. It is out of the question to send him back to Andy."

JUDGE DISAGREES

But Judge Lencher, who sent Billy back to Mrs. Elizabeth Myers in the face of bitter criticism by county investigators and others interested in the case, because he believed that a "home" was something more than a place of physical comforts, believes differently.

Judge Lencher said:

"The situation is not much changed by the death of Mrs. Myers. Billy's heart is still deeply rooted to the environment in which he grew up. The ideal solution of the case, which I will endeavor to effect, would be to place Billy with neighbors somewhere near Peterman's Corners, where he can at least see Andy once in a while. Those woodland paths are dear to him."

BANDITS SLAY POLICEMAN IN HOLDUP

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—(AP.)—A policeman was shot to death today by three robbers who escaped with a $6,720 payroll from the office of the Allied Kid Company near Fifth and Huntingdon streets.

The policeman, Charles Stockburger, 50, was killed as he tried to stop the leader of the gang from entering an office where the payroll was being prepared.

Two employes of the firm who were counting the money fled into a closet as Stockburger fell. They emerged a minute later to find the money and the killers gone.

The robbers jumped into an automobile parked at the curb with a fourth man at the wheel. The car was reported to have been found abandoned shortly afterward half a mile away.

Stockburger, who was appointed to the police force 22 years ago, had been detailed to guard the Allied Kid Company payroll for some time.

Robber Returns, Beats Girl Clerk

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—(AP.)—Enraged for some reason unknown to his victim or police, a man who robbed a cleaning and dyeing store earlier this week returned yesterday and beat a girl clerk, Miss Helen Dombeck, 25.

After she was knocked unconscious, her assailant fled at the approach of two customers. On Monday the man escaped with about $25.

Store Bandits Flee As Clerk Opens Fire

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 14.—(INS.)—Three bandits were foiled in an attempt to rob the S. K. Minor & Son store here yesterday when Stanley Wilson, an employe, opened fire on them with a revolver.

Black Bass Leaps Into Face of Picnicker

BALTIMORE, July 14.—(AP.)—Here's a fish story which is verified by Dawson H. MacWilliams, game warden, who was present.

While attending a church picnic at Gwynn Oak Park late yesterday, 14-year-old Richard A. Freeman and a friend were rowing a boat when—as "Dick" told it:

"We had gone about 10 feet or five strokes when I saw a large fish leap out of the water beside the boat and come whirling through the air. The next thing it gave me a terrible smack in the face as it struck me."

The boy took the fish, a two and a half pound black bass, home to his mother.

INSULL AIDES LOSE IN PLEA

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today overruled demurrers to indictments against 19 officers and directors of the bankrupt Corporation Securities Company, Insull investment concern.

The court directed 17 defendants, who have been served with the indictment, to enter their pleas next Tuesday on the charges of use of the mails to defraud the investing public.

The government has been unable to serve warrants on Samuel Insull, Sr., or Martin Insull, heads of the one-time $150,000,000 corporation that fell like a stack of cards when the market props gave way. Neither could be extradited from their refuges in Greece and Canada on the mail fraud charge.

Rainbow Division Reunion in Chicago

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Members of the Rainbow (42nd) Division, famous shock troops of the A. E. F., gathered for their fifteenth annual reunion, held a business session today and heard various committees report.

Red-Haired Actress To Wed Rich Oil Man

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—(AP.)—Marjorie Beebe, titian-haired actress, who began her film career as a bathing beauty, and Onee Lewis, wealthy Dallas, Tex., oil man of Indian ancestry, had announced today they will be married next October.

Tom Mix on Tour With Own Circus

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 14.—(AP.)—Tom Mix, screen cowboy, has turned to the circus again.

This time he has organized a motor caravan show, which includes himself and "Tony," his horse; Mrs. Mix, the former Mabel Ward; her sister, Irma Ward, both of whom are circus aerialists, and seven cowboys.

WORLD PARLEY SETS RECESS FOR JULY 27

LONDON, July 14.—(AP)—The steering committee of the World Economic Conference decided today to recess the world-wide parley on July 27.

It is understood that great care will be taken to avoid a note of finality at the plenary session. There will be a clear indication that the conference is expected to resume at a future date.

This attitude would permit continuation of the tariff truce which was for the duration of the parley and which many nations desire not to terminate.

CONFIRMATION SEEN

The plenary session will have to confirm the steering committee's decision to close out the deliberations but leaders consider this a mere formality.

Meanwhile, the conference ends its fifth week today with the unofficial topic of price-raising overshadowing the rapidly narrowing field of official activity.

It was at Great Britain that the daily charge of obstructionism was leveled today in conference lobbies, which still echoed the blunt refusal of Walter Runciman, president of the British Board of Trade, to have anything to do with extensive public works programs either directly on Britain's part or indirectly by granting loans to other nations for such purposes.

PRESSURE EXERTED

Pressure was being exerted on Runciman's fellow cabinet members, however, to bring England around to a program of raising the price of the world's commodities as more important than keeping the pound pegged in the neighborhood of 86 French francs.

These suggestions have been put forward as possible solutions for economic ills.

Some disappointment was expressed in Dominion quarters that there has been no specific plan of action forthcoming from President Roosevelt, but there were conferences all day yesterday between Dominion leaders, J. M. Keynes, British economist, and others and it was understood that a British program for recovery is being evolved.

EUROPE BACKS MORGAN

LONDON, July 14.—(INS.)—Referring to the recent federal investigation into the affairs of the international banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., the London Times in an editorial today declared all of Europe believed in "the good faith of the House of Morgan."

Written as J. P. Morgan was sailing for England on vacation, the editorial deplored the fact the American government's inquiry was launched at a time when the American public "was ready . . . to believe the worst."

Stating Europe sees the situation unemotionally, the Times continued:

"Outside the United States, and particularly in the countries allied during the World War, there are a thousand reasons for the friendliest consideration of all that affects the great house whose services to the entente are so recent, so honorable, and so distinguished.

"It has been said, but too little remembered, that the victories of the war were gained as often in the counting house as on the field of battle."

'Pop' Soloist

MISS SUZANNE SEIGER

O'BRIEN TO LEAD ORCHESTRA

J. Vick O'Brien, head of the department of music and director of Carnegie Tech's student symphony, will be guest conductor at the concert on the lawn of the Hotel Schenley next Tuesday evening.

Mr. O'Brien

Soloists for the program will be two young musicians who were graduated from Tech in June, Bess Moredock, pianist, and Suzanne Seiger, soprano.

Nine Tech co-eds, members of Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary musical fraternity, will serve as aides. They are Margaret Blackburn, Hazel Campbell, Elizabeth Graf, Norva Heeter, Grace Metzgar, Dorothy Morse, Angela Stybr, Marion Swan and Helen Weber.

The series of musical concerts at the Schenley is under the direction of Victor Saudek, member of the Tech musical faculty.

FOUR RETIRED BY UTILITIES

Four employes of the Philadelphia Company subsidiaries, with a total of 99 years' service to their credit, have been placed on the retired list by the company.

They are James H. Wise, Duquesne Light Company inspector and lineman, 40 Van Braam street with 20 years' service; Michael P. Kiley, 14 Arbor street, 30 years a conductor with the Pittsburgh Railways Company; Edwin A. Jones, 2112 Beaver street; McKeesport, a motorman for 29 years, and Andrew Letavec, 2343 McCook street, a railways company watchman 20 years.

JUDGE'S RULING PERILS RENO DIVORCES

International News Service

RENO, Nev., July 14.—In a decision that may have a far-reaching affect on Reno divorce cases, Judge J. Emmet Walsh yesterday dismissed the cross-complaint of Helen Cirese Hunnewell to the divorce suit filed by her husband, Harry H. Hunnewell, on the grounds that Hunnewell was in Nevada for only six weeks and gave no indication of establishing residence here.

Judge Walsh urged that the case be taken to the Supreme Court for a ruling.

Under Nevada law, a person must be a resident of the state for six weeks before filing a divorce suit. Judge Walsh pointed out that Hunnewell barely remained in the state for the required period, and asserted that "the bona fide intention of remaining in Washoe County must be shown." Judge Walsh said:

"All that counsel has shown, is the physical presence of the plaintiff in Washoe County from January 18, 1932, up to and including March 1—just practically the statutory six week's time required.

"The bona fide intention of remaining in Washoe County for an indefinite period of time must be shown. The court does not at this time feel that bona fide residence has been established.

"In this case there is nothing to show that the plaintiff was here for any other purpose than to get a divorce."

Wife to Fight Ruling In Hunnewell Suit

RENO, Nev., July 14.—(INS.)—Mrs. Helen Cirese Hunnewell, of Chicago and Pasadena, Fla., today planned an appeal to the Supreme Court from the decision of District Judge J. Emmett Walsh, who denied her a divorce from Harry H. Hunnewell, member of a socially prominent family of Boston and Chicago.

Judge Walsh dismissed Mrs. Hunnewell's cross-complaint on the ground that Hunnewell, who filed suit, was in Nevada for only six weeks and had given no intention of establishing residence here.

Judge Walsh said:

"The Hunnewell case can have no possible bearing on the Roosevelt case."

He referred to the divorce suit Elliott Roosevelt, son of President Roosevelt, planned to file today at Minden, Nev., against Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt, who was expected to obtain a divorce on her cross-complaint.

NEW U. S. ENVOY IN BERLIN

BERLIN, July 14.—(Universal.)—Prof. William E. Dodd, of Chicago, promising an unbiased view in future German-American relations, arrived here yesterday with his wife and son to take up his post as United States ambassador to Hitler's "third reich."

Ambassador and Mrs. Dodd were welcomed by Count Bassewitz, chef de protocol, and Dr. Fuehr, head of the American department of the foreign office, in top hats and morning coats. The entire American embassy staff was present.

The Dodds came here from Hamburg, where they landed. Their son motored to Berlin alone.

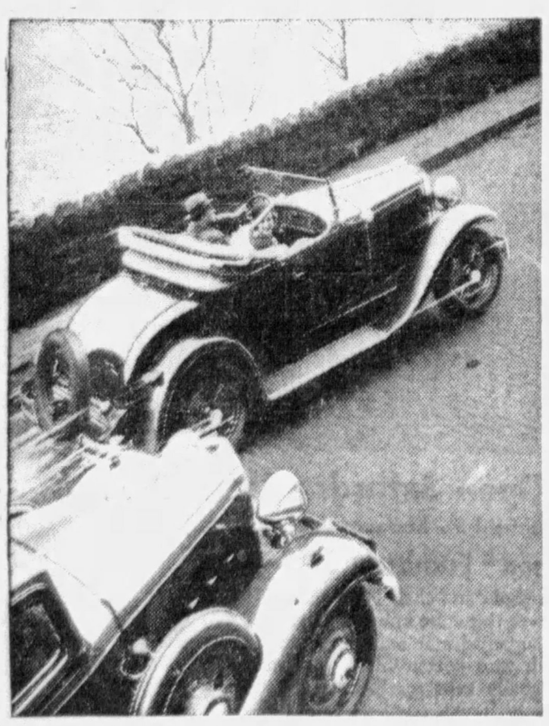
5 proofs...fresh Gulf gas gives a bigger money's worth!



FRESH GULF GAS gives more power. Contains more highly volatile "light ends,"... more power elements than stale gas.

AFTER months of experiments, a famous chemical laboratory finds FRESH Gulf gasoline is not only a better motor fuel than stale gas... but a less expensive fuel... gives you more for your money.

FRESH Gulf gas gives (1) Quicker get-away. (2) More power... (3) More mileage. It (4) Reduces knock... and it's (5) Clean burning, and doesn't foul your motor.

Gulf's high-speed delivery system rushes fresh Gulf gas to the pumps. And that gas stays fresh longer, due to Gulf's exclusive R-D-R process, a process that actually delays deterioration. No extra cost.

TRAFFIC SAFETY TO BE TAUGHT

The children who frequent the 56 city playgrounds will hear all about ways to guard against traffic accidents when Traffic Officer F. F. (Uncle Frank) Meyers makes a stumping tour of the playgrounds in behalf of greater safety.

Officer Meyers

Officer Meyers was assigned to give the lectures under the auspices of the Better Traffic Committee and the Bureau of Recreation. Five thousand armbands are being distributed by playground supervisors to aid formation of child safety committees.

Child traffic deaths for the first six months of this year are 25 per cent more than for the period in 1932.

Falls Three Stories, Only Slightly Hurt

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., July 14.—(INS.)—Kenneth Gadd, 20, and a freshman at Glenville State Teachers' College, is a hard man to hurt.

While sitting on a window ledge of the men's dormitory yesterday, Gadd lost his balance, fell three stories to a concrete driveway below, and suffered only minor injuries.

BORDEN TO WED THIRD TIME

MUSKEGON, Mich., July 14.—(AP.)—Divorced two weeks ago from the socially-prominent Mrs. Courtney Letts Stilwell Borden, of Chicago, John Borden, wealthy explorer and oil operator, is planning to marry for the third time.

He has applied for a license here to wed Miss Frances Yeaton, 21-year-old Chicagoan, daughter of Albert Yeaton. They met last year at a Muskegon summer resort, and the marriage was anticipated by friends since Borden's former wife obtained a Reno divorce July 1. Five days must elapse before the marriage can take place, in accordance with Michigan law.

First married to Ellen Waller, of Chicago, Borden was divorced in 1924 when she charged cruelty. In 1925 Borden and Mrs. Stilwell, the latter previously twice married, were wed in Washington. Mrs. Stillwell bore the reputation of "one of the most beautiful society women in the country."

TROPHY LOST BY NAVY ACE

Capt. Al J. Williams, Jr., famous Navy flier and former pitcher for the New York Giants, wants his wrist watch back.

He wants it back badly, because to him it's more than just a wrist watch—it's a trophy for outstanding research in the field of aviation, awarded by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

He missed it Tuesday evening. Somewhere, perhaps between the Gulf Building and the home of the Taylor Allderdices, with whom he is staying. It dropped from his wrist. He's offering a reward for it's return. But he isn't certain just when or in what district he lost it. He said:

"It means a lot to me. It was one of 12 given out, Jimmy Doolittle and some others getting them. I haven't any children yet but I want it to show my grandchildren."

The watch he described as silver, with this inscription on the back:

"Lt. Alford J. Williams, presented by American Society of Mechanical Engineers—research in practical flight—one of 12 airmen in U. S."

BARR 'VILLAIN OF PIECE', SAYS M'GOVERN

Wherever County Commissioner C. M. Barr may be on his vacation his ears must be burning. During his absence Commissioner C. C. McGovern has been a bit inconsiderate of Barr's supporters, and yesterday referred to his Independent running mate as "the villain in the piece."

McGovern and Commissioner W. D. Mansfield were holding a meeting yesterday when Howard Miller, of the Clever road, Robinson Township, appeared and demanded to know why he had lost his job in North Park.

He said Barr appointed him some weeks ago as a painter, but on Monday he was notified of his dismissal. The letter ousting him, he said, told him that as he was not a resident of the county he could not work in the parks.

UP TO BARR

McGovern replied:

"You were appointed by Mr. Barr and I understand he has filled your place. We can't do anything about it because Barr's the 'villain in the piece' and he is not here."

Chief Investigator Leo Riordan said he had investigated Miller's case for Barr and had learned Miller spent most of his time in Beaver County, where he owns a barbecue and gasoline station.

Miller produced a register assessor's book for his township showing he was properly registered at his parent's home. Riordan asked by what authority he had a register assessor's book in his possession. The discussion was interrupted by McGovern, who told Miller to see Barr.

BALKS JOB PLAN

McGovern next upset the plans of Barr to retain George W. Owens, Jr., an engineer, on the payroll until December 31 at $200 a month. Owens is checking the weight of utility lines on bridges.

Barr recently sang Owens' praises to McGovern, asserting he would save the county many times his salary. Yesterday, however, McGovern refused to approve the position for the remainder of the year, permitting it to last only 30 days, remarking:

"These fellows who save the county money usually want about 75 per cent of the savings for themselves."

NIGHT RIDING IN COUNTY'S CARS BANNED

Declaring he had received reports that county automobiles were being used at night for private purposes, County Commissioner C. C. McGovern today ordered that four cars which employes had been taking home at night, be left in the court yard.

The cars are those of C. K. Harvey, head of the bridge maintenance department; A. D. Brandon, Louis Bilotti and P. C. Fletcher, of the Highway Department.

McGovern said:

"I have heard that some of these cars have been seen on the streets at night. Only last night I got word that one was seen on the North Side streets.

"I want these cars left in the court yard. If these men need these cars at night they should have at least enough sense to keep them off the street. After this if they are in a hurry at night let them get a taxicab."

New Castle to Get Public Works' Aides

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 14.—President L. G. Genkinger, of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, has been authorized to appoint a committee of five from the organization to work with the county and municipal authorities on the development of public works projects.

Vanished Girls Believed in Party Of 'Corpse'

SOMERSET, Pa., July 14.—(AP.)—State police were asked today to search for two missing girls, suspected of having joined the entourage of a "human corpse."

The girls, Virginia Porter, 15, and Caroline Jogolosky, 18, of Acosta, disappeared Tuesday. Their parents said they had spent much time at the "grave" of the "human corpse," who billed himself as Harold Gilfred.

The performer lived in a box, buried seven feet under ground and furnished with air by a shaft. He claimed the world's record for living underground in a coffin.

SHRINERS END REUNION

ATLANTIC CITY, July 14.—(AP.)—John N. Sebrell, attorney of Norfolk, Va., today is the imperial potentate of Imperial Council of Shriners.

He was installed yesterday as the Shrine closed its fifty-ninth annual reunion, succeeding Earl C. Mills, Des Moines. Dana S. Williams, Lewiston, Me., was created deputy imperial potentate and will succeed to the chair at next year's convention in Minneapolis.

Vanished Man, 85, Returns With Bride

DENVER, July 14.—(AP.)—Sought by police since his daughter reported him missing, Frank M. Taylor, 85, and his bride, the former Mrs. Minnie C. Flagg, 51, were found at the bride's house here today.

The giggling newlyweds told Mrs. Rosa Miller, daughter of the bridegroom, that they had eloped because they were afraid some of their children and 42 grandchildren might try to prevent their marriage.

'LIFE FOR PINT' CONVICT FREE

LANSING, Mich., July 14.—(Universal.)—Fred Palm, Michigan's famous "life for a pint" prisoner, was granted a parole yesterday by Gov. W. A. Comstock.

Palm's case, taken up by liberals in this and other states, attracted national attention because of the severity of the punishment under Michigan's habitual criminal law.

A fourth offender, Palm was sentenced to spend the remainder of his life in prison because a pint of gin was found in his possession. Opponents of the drastic law took the case up to the State Supreme Court, but were defeated.

So much feeling was aroused against the effect of the law upon minor offenders that the Legislature later modified it to exclude liquor law violators from its provisions.

BOAT ON VOLGA UPSETS, 70 DIE

VAROSLAVL, July 14.—(AP.)—Seventy persons drowned when an overcrowded river launch, taking locomotive shop workers and their families on an excursion up the Volga River on July 9, capsized three miles from here, it was disclosed today.

The little craft had a capacity of 125 passengers, but twice that number were jammed into it. The others were saved.

The public prosecutor is taking steps to punish those responsible for the overcrowding.

Varoslavl, a city on the Volga, is 173 miles northeast of Moscow.

MDIVANI BOYS U. S. BOUND

PARIS, July 14.—(AP.)—Prince Serge Mdivani and his brother, Prince David, unexpectedly left today for Cherbourg and the United States, catching a boat train from Paris at the last minute.

Prince Serge said yesterday that neither he nor Prince David intends to contest separation suits brought by their wives, Mary McCormic, opera singer, and Mae Murray, film actress.

The brothers, who are members of Georgian nobility, had planned to leave tomorrow on the steamship Europa for New York, saying they were going to resume their oil business. Apparently they suddenly changed their plans and decided to take the Hamburg today.

Leetsdale Girl, 6, Hit by Automobile

Margaret Molchen, 6, of 189 Beaver street, Leetsdale, was in the Valley Hospital at Sewickley today with a brain concussion suffered when she was struck by an automobile while playing near her home late yesterday, according to a hospital report.

RESERVE GROUP PLANS OUTING

Plans for an outing in South Park July 22 for Allegheny County reserve and regular officers of all the armed services were approved at yesterday's meeting of the executive committee of the Pittsburgh Chapter, Reserve Officers' Association, in the Keystone Club. Lieut. Ronald L. Thompson, of the Cavalry Reserves, is chairman of the entertainment committee.

It also was decided to present a flag to the company of the Civilian Conservation Corps now encamped at North Park.

STENCH 'BOMB' ROUTS LODGERS

A crash of glass awakened occupants of a lodging house at 16 West Stockton avenue early today. A broken bottle and a foul odor on the front porch quickly became apparent.

The nature of the odor caused Matthew Carnes, the proprietor, to call police. He believed the bottle might have contained an explosive or other dangerous substance. The police said it was nitro benzine, harmless, but ill-smelling. Carnes could not guess who had thrown the bottle.

WINS FREEDOM IN POLLS CLASH

William Richardson, former judge of elections in the First district of the First Ward, will not serve time on his conviction by a Criminal Court jury, April 6, of violating the election laws. Judge W. Heber Dithrich late yesterday granted an arrest of judgment.

Richardson was found guilty of intimidating a watcher, Mrs. Kate E. Newingham, who, it was charged, he shoved out of the polls at the last general election, November 8. He filed a motion asking a new trial or arrest of judgment.

Judge Dithrich's opinion said Mrs. Newingham was appointed a watcher under the primary act, and was not officially a watcher at the general election.

2,000 Weapons Dumped Into Bay

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

Portrait of a Man Doing a Column

Aileen Pringle's figure is too nice for one woman . . . I like knowing that the euphonious phrase, "swingy-thingy," has already inspired a song hit in Helen Kane's new show . . . Add minor thrills that come once in a series of incessant losses—betting $5 on the point 8 at dice coming up the "hard-way" and seeing it come up—and collecting nine times your bet! . . . The next Mae West moving picture will reveal a columnist again, bearing our name—but the role will be handled by a Bernie named Skolsky . . . Maybe they're purposely aiming to libel me, huh? . . . My idea of an item is this sort: Joan Gale of the 4 Gale sisters (who clicked for George White's shows) was approached by a big movie producer at a party last night, who, impressed with her charms, said: "Why don't you come and let me have a test made of you for my picture?" . . . And she replied: "Please speak to my agent about it" . . . You can't get rich quick that way.

The little feuds in the movie colony retard so many capable people . . . Take the quarrel between William Gargan and Miss Crawford, frinstance . . . They worked together in "Rain" and Gargan confessed that he bonered it by being too blunt with interviewers . . . When one of them asked Gargan what he thought of Joan Crawford's acting—he said it was lousy . . . So little wonder when he is suggested as her lead—she threatens to walk out if he is picked . . . In "Dancing Lady" Gargan was considered again—but Joan, it appears, prefers retarding any progress on that movie until they find someone else . . . And that's the major trouble—they can't . . . Gable doesn't want to play opposite Crawford for similar reasons, and Franchot Tone, her constant companion, was given a different assignment in the same picture . . . Being blunt is only good for newspaper columnists—who can always reserve the last word . . . When you are a newcomer, such as Grogan is—it is more profitable to stifle your opinions . . Until, of course, you are as powerful as the person you are using for a target . . . One good performance in a good picture might do the trick, too . . . Gargan is capable, so I weep for him a little.

Hollywood movie circles are wondering, too. Just what is going to happen when Irving Thalberg returns from his long absence? . . . David O. Selznick, another capable, is in chrge of the MGM studios while Thalberg tours . . . Thalberg's contract gives him carte blanche on that lot. He gets $8,000 a week . . . Louis B. Mayer, the big boss, who gets $16,000 a week, pays his son-in-law, Selznick, $4,000 a week to govern—and he is doing well enough, they all figure . . . If Selznick wins this approaching fight, and it will be a fight, it will make him the biggest man on the biggest lot—and the plot of this story thickens with this explanation—four years ago Thalberg upheld Selznick's dimissal when Selznick, now fighting 4Gs—got $150 per!

Jean Harlow's newest favorite person, Hal Rosson, the cameraman, reminds you of her late groom, Paul Bern . . . Ruth Judd, now in the crazy house in Arizona, was saved from the gallows by the Ku Klux Klan, it appears. Seven of whom were on the last jury . . . The denial of a movie star recently—that his domestic life is honky-dooly—is amusing to locals—who tell you that the inside is that he swapped wives with another well-known! . . . A thankless job—being pilot of a passenger plane . . . You might as well die when there is a crash—for you agree when you accept the job—to take the rap—and you are marked "poison," anyway . . . I like that song: "She Never Kissed a Man Before" (before she knew his name!).

They tell you that if you saw "Gold Diggers" you missed the outstanding treat that was in it—before it was released to the screens . . . That Ginger Rogers had several moments in it with a song delivery that was so fine—if it had been shown, she would have been acclaimed . . . But Mervyn Leroy, the director, who had once been her Romeo—had jerked it—or perhaps it was omitted by others, and Ginger's big moment was stifled . . . Then, after the movie was released—the producers discovered that her omitted routine was so excellent—it would make a corking movie short . . . They offered her $5,000 for permission to show it as a short . . . But Ginger snapped a boisterous "No" and it is gathering dust on their shelves . . . It is her form of vengeance for a heartache—and besides, she says she doesn't need $5,000.

Bing Crosby in "College Humor," the movie, seems to play the piano fine, only the keys don't go down when he hits them. . . . Talk about short stories, this one is true. A New York reporter, shuffled out of his job when the staff was sliced, concocted an idea for a new magazine. . . After months of work he interested a publisher, who finally agreed to promote it for six months. . . But when the time came to proceed with the work, the lad discovered a flaw in the editorial reasoning. He couldn't see success beyond the first two issues. . . . He explained the situation to the publisher and let the publisher out of his agreement, thereby saving the latter several thousands of dollars—and depriving himself of a good income for six months, at least. . . Shortly after, a similar magazine came out—and, to the boy's amazement, it is making coin. . . . But the publisher, figuring that the reporter had two-timed him (and tied up with the opposition), went into a rage. . . He still believes that the lad, who did an honest and sincere thing, is in league with the successful magazine, and the ugly result is that the kid can't get a job in town—. . . And, of course, the most devastating of the short stories—is the definition of influence—particularly in New York and Hollywood, to wit: Influence is what you think you have—until you try to use it. . . . Flash!—The Countess di Frasso will finally tell it to a Reno judge and marry Gary Cooper, so that they can forget each other.

Siren of Nile To Relive In Film

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, July 14.—All smiles around the Cecil B. DeMille offices. In his next picture but one, the director is going back to his old field of spectacle. He'll make an elaborate talkie based on the life of Cleopatra.

Miss Colbert

For Egypt's most famous siren, DeMille turns to Claudette Colbert, who played the Empress Poppaea for him in "The Sign of the Cross" and who will be in his current picture, "Four Frightened People." Not since the old days has the director evinced such a consistent interest in the work of any actress.

The 1933 version of "Cleopatra" (remember Theda Bara's famous characterization back in 1918?) will be written by Bartlett Cormack, author of "The Racket," and Jeannie MacPherson, who has been associated with DeMille for many years.

It will be an original story in the sense that it will not duplicate any previous dramatization of the theme. The writers naturally will borrow certain material. Both Plutarch and Shakespeare are in public domain. Only Shaw's play is forbidden.

"Cleopatra" will replace "The End of the World" on DeMille's program. The latter story has been tabled.

The Frances Dee-Joel McCrea romance is on the level. She even goes with him to motorcycle races. An announcement ought to be forthcoming here any time now.

Miss Dee

None of the Hollywood swains have topped the wooing of Merian C. Cooper, whose marriage to Dorothy Jordan has just been revealed. Cooper, a quiet, smallish chap, had an orchid corsage delivered every morning for months to the lady of his heart. Once, when she flew East, he had flowers delivered every time the airplane stopped. This went on all through the night. At Omaha, there was a box of flowers and three Pekingese puppies.

Al Jolson never goes on the set where Ruby Keeler is working. The exception was when the company worked late one night and Al decided they'd kept Ruby long enough . . . . That modernized version of "The Barker," in which Clara Bow will appear, is to have a World's Fair background . . . They're still talking at the Assistance League about Will Rogers bringing 40 members of his company for lunch.

A friend of Chico Marx recently was thrown out by his wife because of his inveterate card-playing. He went to talk it over with Chico, who strongly advised against a divorce.

"Not in this state anyway," pointed out Chico, "because she gets half the community property."

"Oh, that's okay," said the friend, "I'll just give her 26 cards."

Dorothea Wieck is yielding to the house-in-Beverly Hills craze. But it's a very modest one. . . . And Joan Crawford is collecting again. First it was dolls, then phonograph records. Now it's miniature Scotties. Wager Joan will receive dozens from fans after this gets printed around the country.

JEAN PARKER, NEW M-G-M PLAYER, CREATES DANCE

PLAYS AND PLAYERS By William J. Lewis

Mary Rogers, 18, blonde and athletic, daughter of Will Rogers, noted cowboy actor-humorist, is Mary Howard, now, having been re-christened for movie purposes by the studio that has given her a job, unaware, acording to report, of her real identity when she applied for a screen test. If she follows in the line of some other daughters of well-known players, she has every chance of success. Consider Constance, daughter of Richard Bennett. And Helene and Dolores Costello, daughters of Maurice. Ann Dvorak is the daughter of Ann Lehr, former leading woman of silent pictures, now retired. Patricia Ziegfeld, daughter of the late Florenz Ziegfeld and Billie Burke, is considering a screen offer she has received.

* * *

It seems that Katharine Cornell and her husband, Guthrie McClintic, can't get to Europe together. While she is having her vacation abroad, Mr. McClintic will be getting the jump on the coming season. In August he will begin rehearsals of "Jezebel," which he will produce with Tallulah Bankhead in the stellar role. With that staged he will look to the production necessities of Miss Cornell's repertoire for next season, "Candida," "Romeo and Juliet" and "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

* * *

The screen version of the musical comedy, "Take a Chance," will be filmed on Long Island with June Knight in her original stage role, the cast to include Lillian Bond, Lillian Roth, James Dunn and Cliff Edwards . . . The cast of "The Late Christopher Bean," which will co-star Marie Dressler and Lionel Barrymore, also will have Jean Hersholt . . . Lee Sims and Ilomay Bailey, stars of the air, begin their first appearance on any New York stage today . . . Glenda Farrell invited friends to a dinner party, without telling them the occasion was her birthday, and we say if you can't get any presents what's the use of giving a party? . . . Robert Benchley, humorist and critic, who went to Hollywood to both write and act, will be seen in support of Irene Dunne in "Ann Vickers" . . . Two Powells, Dick and William, are among the players listed as "stars" in the latest studio directory of Warner Brothers.

New Movies On Screen

Kay Francis, Nils Asther, Walter Huston and Philip Holmes are the principals in "Storm at Daybreak," photoplay in the Penn. The story concerns a young woman who falls in love with a young Hungarian officer after he rescues her husband from an angry mob.

* * *

Constance Bennett has the feminine lead in "Bed of Roses," opening today in the Stanley. Miss Bennett plays the part of a hard-boiled girl who wants to get even with society for trying to reform her. Joel McCrea and John Halliday are in the cast.

* * *

"Best of Enemies," with Buddy Rogers and Marian Nixon in the leading roles, is the new feature in the Warner today. It's a comedy romance involving a couple of bickering fathers.

* * *

"Forgotten Men," another memory of the World War, will be shown in the Davis and Sheridan Square for a week, beginning today.

Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler have the leading parts in "Gold Diggers of 1933," musical comedy opening tomorrow in the Enright.

Indian Actress Gets Divorce From Chief

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—(AP.)—The marriage of 28-year-old Rose Marie Redwing, attractive Osage Indian actress and singer, and Robert Redwing, Indian chief, ended in Superior Court yesterday when she was awarded a decree of divorce.

She said she separated from Redwing the first day after their marriage because he told her he preferred "modern girls."

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

High Hat

THE OTHER afternoon an old friend of mine called me on the phone. I like to hear from old friends, and particularly on the telephone. That means that, even if it is a touch, I can have the chance to duck. A married man can't be too careful with his dough these days.

"Mark," said my friend, "how about doing a little radio work? Nothing like it these days, and you've been fighting the thing off for a long time. I've got a swell thing for you to step into. Some of the biggest names in the business, and a program that's sure to be a riot. What do you say, kid? How about it?"

I wasn't particularly enthused.

"Tell you the truth, George," I returned, "I have one or two radio propositions that I'm fooling around with now, and I wouldn't want to jeopardize their chances. Then, too, I'm busy on—"

"Oh," he interrupted, "you wouldn't be jeopardizing any other radio dates. This is just a single program, and it's really a honey. What do you say?"

I hesitated.

"How much?" I inquired.

It was my friend's turn to hesitate.

"Well, Mark," he replied, "to be honest with you, nobody's getting paid on this particular program. The names are so big that——"

I nodded into the phone.

"I get it," I stated. "Count me out, George. I'm not interested. Thanks very much for calling, kid. I appreciate the great honor, but big names don't help me buy any steaks."

He fairly growled his next statement.

"Oh, so that's it. That's what a little success has done to you. You've gone high hat, have you?"

I hung up without replying.

Funny about that expression. High hat. I wonder what it means, exactly? I think it was Winchell who first popularized the phrase as a slang slogan, and I mustn't forget to ask him about it when he returns from the Coast. Maybe he'll put me wise.

Just when does a person go high hat, and who is qualified to judge? On Broadway, I hear the phrase at every turn. As soon as a man writes a successful play, you'll hear a thousand mugs crying that he has high-hatted them after all they had done for him. It never fails.

Let a man rise above his fellows in any line of endeavor, and the wail is always the same.

"There goes Smith," they cry. "Passed me by just now with nothing but a cool hello. He's gone so high hat that nobody can touch him. And why? Just because he made a million on the street. Who does he think he is anyhow?"

What they really mean to say, it seems to me, is this:

"I wish Smith would be more of a friend to me. I'd be proud to have him with me so that I could show him off to my friends. He made a million in the street, and I envy him terribly. Why should he get a break like that when I can't?"

I'd like to go high hat. I really would. To go completely high hat, you have to believe that you're just about the best there is—and that you can afford to let the rest of the world go hang. There must be a definite security in such a belief.

I'm afraid that I'll never be able to achieve that belief. Although I certainly have the opportunity, I've never been able to use my own column to tell the world what a great little feller I am. I don't think I'm a great little feller—and if I don't believe it myself, who else is going to?

I enjoy being natural, which seems to be a tough assignment for most people. I can get more of a kick out of a human interest conversation with a bus boy than I can out of a long-winded discussion with a phony patron of the arts. An ex-convict can always interest me more than a society moron, and a shady lady always gives me a bigger kick than a dizzy debutante.

I guess I'm just funny that way. Nobody's kidding me about anything. It took a lucky break to give me my first column, and it has taken plenty of lucky breaks to keep me writing them. The same goes for every columnist in the business, although very few of them seem to realize it.

I'm not writing for posterity; I'm writing for steaks and coffee and the chance to spend a buck where it might bring a little happiness. I don't expect anybody to remember me five minutes after I've kicked the bucket.

And you want to know something strange? After I've been packed away, I don't think I'm going to worry a lot about it. . .

No, much as I'd like to hit the high hat road, I'm afraid I'll never be able to make the grade. One good thing about this business of mine, however, is the fact that you can get a reputation in any direction without striving for it. No matter what you do, you're wrong.

If you accept a radio date for nothing, you're a sucker. If you don't, you're high hat. If you praise a friend's show, you're on the payroll. If you don't, you're a louse. Write about life as it isn't, and they tell you to stick to true stories. Write about life as it is, and they tell you you're morbid.

So, knowing all these things, I'm content to travel along and treat the whole thing as pretty much of a gag, I imagine. I strike out on plenty of occasions. But if I can connect every now and then in the pinches, it's okay with me.

I try to explain some of these things to the other boys, but they don't seem to understand. They honestly believe that they are big shots, and that the whole town hangs on their every word. It's pitiful, but it's true.

Only last week, I sat in a night club with two of the newer Broadway columnists. I listened in amazement as they boasted of their position in the world and the huge scoops they had scored. I left the table with a bowed head. I felt old and weary. To what low estate had I fallen when I wasn't even able to boast that I had been the first to announce the engagement of Tommy Manville and Baby Rose Marie?

The whole situation reminds me of the two bums who were sitting in Central Park on a sunny afternoon. They didn't have a dime between them, but one produced a greasy pack of cards and suggested an open poker game. The other agreed.

They played an hour or so, and the first bum was ahead $17,000. He suggested that they play for $34,000 or nothing. The second bum agreed. The first bum dealt the hand—and won.

"Ah!" he cried. "That puts me $34,000 ahead. Now I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll play you once—$68,000 or nothing!"

The second derelict waved a hand.

"Nothing doing," he replied haughtily. "That's as far as I care to go!" . . .

MASSACRE HUNT ON IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, O., July 14.—(INS.)—Search for two members of the gang wanted for the massacre of four peace officers and an exconvict in the Kansas City Union Station June 17 turned to Ohio today after their automobile was reported seen on the National Highway west of Springfield.

Police believe the pair went either to Columbus or Toledo. Policemen throughout the state have been warned to investigate all cars with out-of-state licenses.

The men are Verne C. Miller, 38, and William Weissman, 40, who, with several others, started the shooting in an attempt to free Frank Nash, Oklahoma desperado. Nash and the four officers, who were returning him to Leavenworth Prison from where he escaped in 1930, were killed.

WINS $75,000 FOR LOST EYE

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Allan Linn, 23, of Ishpeming, Mich., won a $75,000 judgment against the Century of Progress Exposition today for the loss of his left eye and impairment of his right in an accident a year ago.

Linn was injured when a tear gas gun owned by the Exposition exploded in his face.

Linn, a student at Northwestern University, was assigned with another youth, Harold Lewis, to meet a fire truck at the Administration Building and ride to the Twenty-third street fair entrance. Out of curiosity, he grasped a cylindrical object in a kit above the windshield, and the tear gas shot from the cylinder into his face.

WIDOW OF SLAIN MAN GETS LIFE

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., July 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. Ida May Shaw and Harley Lemon, an ex-convict, pleaded guilty today to slaying the woman's husband, Arthur A. Shaw, railroad machinist, and were each sentenced to life imprisonment.

Eddie Crouch, now serving a term for armed robbery, pleaded guilty to accessory to manslaughter in the case and was sentenced to five years, the term to run concurrently with the five years sentence he is now serving.

No disposition was made of the case of Mrs. Myrtle Delaney, who was also indicted as accessory in the slaying of Shaw, who was shot to death at the door of his garage on June 20 as he returned from a theater with his wife.

Entering of the pleas ended Mrs. Shaw's trial which had been in progress all week.

Noted Yale Curator Vanishes From Home

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 14.—(INS.)—A wide search was under way today for Prof. Raymond P. Dougherty, internationally famous curator of Sterling Memorial Library, at Yale University.

Prof. Dougherty, 55, disappeared yesterday afternoon after leaving his home for a walk.

Job Hunter Trails U. S. Senator to Dentist Chair

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP.)—Not even a dentist's office offers a refuge from political job-seekers, Senator Neely (Dem.), of West Virginia, has learned.

Senator Neely said he was sitting in a dentist's chair in Fairmont when a job-hunter broke in and outlined his high qualifications for a federal post while the Senator was having his tooth extracted.

PRIEST KILLED, W. VA. MAN HELD

ROME, July 14.—(AP.)—John Fiorini, 66, until three years ago a resident of Fairmont, W. Va., is awaiting trial here charged with the murder of Luigi Cerroni, a priest, and uncle of Fiorini's wife.

Police said Fiorini shot the priest as the result of an altercation May 8. Cerroni died June 1. Fiorini, who was married last November in Rome, spent 36 years in the United States.

NAZIS TO SEIZE FOES' RICHES

BERLIN, July 14.—(AP.)—The private fortunes and even the citizenship rights of "enemies of the state and the people" were ordered seized in a new cabinet order passed today.

This decree, which legalizes confiscation of fortunes, is probably the strongest weapon yet placed at the disposal of Nazi officials and is likely to have far-reaching effects.

The cabinet also legalized gambling at Baden-Baden only, and this on condition that the profits be used for the general welfare of the city.

The Nazi newspaper, Angriff, said that the government was likely to pass a law forbidding future attempts to organize political parties in Germany, stamping such efforts as high treason and providing stiff sentences.

Wife Names Dummy In Divorce Suit

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. Sally Levy, blues singer, named a dummy as correspondent in her divorce suit, against Herbert Levy, a ventriloquist.

She told the court Herbert ignored her, but delighted in spending evenings with the dummy on his knee, making conversation the while.

State's Gas Tax Receipts Fall Off

HARRISBURG, July 14.—(AP.)—Pennsylvania's collections on its three-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax dropped $2,065,586 during the past fiscal year and netted $30,789,964, the Department of Revenue reported today.

The total includes the half-cent-a-gallon returnable to counties and compares with $32,855,550 in the 1931-32 fiscal year.

Cat Pilfers Cash To Buy Breakfast

KANSAS CITY, July 14.—(AP.)—Kitty Michelle, a maltese cat owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Case, showed photographers today how she takes coins from a cash register to pay the butcher for her breakfast. The meat shop is in the grocery operated by the Case family, so there were no complaints about the money pilfering.

League Proposes Peace on Gran Chaco

GENEVA, July 14.—(AP.)—The League of Nations committee on the Gran Chaco dispute exhorted both Paraguay and Bolivia today to help the cause of peace by having their armies adopt a purely defensive attitude.

The league's commission for the Chaco will be named early next week and is expected to proceed to the scene of the dispute during August.

East Liverpool Man, Party Leader, Dies

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., July 14.—Thomas Doherty, 60, former city service director and later associated with the National Drawn Steel Company, died in the City Hospital today after an operation. He was active in Democratic politics in Columbiana County. He leaves a widow and two sons.

FARLEY FLIES SOUTH URGING REPEAL

International News Service

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Postmaster General Farley, accompanied by Second Assistant Postmaster General W. W. Howes, Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Silliman Evans, Chief Postal Inspector K. T. Aldrich, and Prohibition Director Dalrymple, left by airplane at noon today for Memphis, Tenn.

Farley is scheduled to make a speech in Memphis tomorrow night advocating repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Dalrymple is making an inspection trip of a new prohibition area and planned to visit Atlanta, Montgomery, Fort Worth and Houston.

REPEAL IN TEXAS SEEN

A declaration that Texas would join the list of states voting to expel prohibition from the Constitution was made to President Roosevelt yesterday by former Gov. "Jim" Ferguson.

Almost simultaneously Gov. Dave Sholtz, of Florida, was arranging for a special election to be held in his state on repeal on October 10.

This brought to 35 states—one less than the total necessary to complete ratification of a constitutional amendment—the number in which ballots already have been assured for this year. Gov. "Ma" Ferguson's husband said:

"The President is hopeful we'll put repeal over and we told him we will."

EXPECTS FIGHT

Sixteen states already have voted to ratify the repeal amendment. In addition to Florida, at least one of five other states—Colorado, Montana, Oklahoma, Utah and Virginia—was considered by anti-prohibitionists certain to fix a date to vote on the question this year. Postmaster General Farley has predicted that the necessary three-fourths of the states would ratify repeal before the end of the year.

Before Texas votes, voters in six other states will decided whether they will join the 16 that have favored repeal.

Alabama and Arkansas vote July 18, Tennessee, July 20, and Oregon July 21—all in one week. Then Missouri ballots on August 19.

SIX VOTE IN SEPTEMBER

After Texas, comes Washington on August 29. Six vote during September—Vermont on the fifth, Maine on the eleventh, Maryland and Minnesota on the twelfth, and Idaho and New Mexico on the nineteenth.

Florida will vote in October, as will Arizona, and on November 7, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania and South Carolina mark their ballots.

In Montana and Utah the governors may call a special election either this year or next. Colorado's Legislature is expected to gather in special session during August and Virginia's meets August 17. Oklahoma's House of Delegates is on record for an election.

Nebraska and South Dakota have fixed their prohibition ballots for November 6, 1934. The legislatures of Kentucky, Louisiana and Mississippi do not meet regularly this year, but in the case of Kentucky Gov. Ruby Laffoon is considering a special call and has been urged by Postmaster General Farley to include prohibition in such a call.

In three states—Georgia, Kansas and North Dakota—repeal bills failed during recent sessions of the Legislature.

AUTOS INJURE BOY, WOMAN

A 6-year-old boy and a 73-year-old woman were seriously injured in two automobile accidents on the North Side this afternoon.

The boy, Vincent Donnelly, of 1309 Federal street, was reported dying in Presbyterian Hospital. He was struck by a truck in front of his home. The driver, Fred C. Wallace, 25, of Langley street, was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

Mrs. Margaret Oettmeier, of 54 Solar street, was stuck by an auto in East street. Also in Presbyterian Hospital, her condition was reported as serious. The driver, Edward C. Cronenweth, 45, of Spring Garden avenue, was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

KANSAS BEER RULING HAILED

TOPEKA, Kan., July 14.—(AP.)—Beer talk foamed high in traditionally dry Kansas today over a Supreme Court decision holding it was up to trial court judges and juries to decide whether 3.2 per cent brew was intoxicating in fact. Attorney General Roland Boynton said:

"This decision will make it very difficult to get a conviction in beer cases."

Some wets heralded the ruling as an entering wedge in their campaign in one of the nation's bone dry states.

"It makes Kansas as wide open for beer as any state in the Union," said J. H. Brady, Kansas City attorney, who made an unsuccessful bid for the Republican nomination for Governor last fall as a wet.

Suiting action to the thought, merchants in some cities were reported to have placed the beer on sale.

High School Class For Boys, Girls At Morganza

CANONSBURG, Pa., July 14.—(INS.)—A New Deal for boys and girls at Pennsylvania's detention school at Morganza will begin next fall, Superintendent W. Frank Penn announced today.

A regular high school program is to be added to the present educational facilities, making it possible for youths committed to the institution to finish interrupted studies, or do high school work until they are sent home.

Credits earned at Morganza, according to Superintendent Penn, will be accepted by home town high schools.

PRESIDENT MAY BE VETS' GUEST

WASHINGTON, July 14—(AP.)—Louis A. Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, said today that President Roosevelt had expressed to him the hope of attending the American Legion convention in Chicago October 2.

The invitation was extended to the President last fall and Johnson said the President declared this invitation would take precedence over other invitations from Chicago, where the Century of Progress Exposition is now on.

Johnson also said the President expressed the view that if he goes to Chicago at all it will be when the American Legion convention is meeting.

The national commander today discussed with Mr. Roosevelt the program to appoint boards of review to study the veterans' cases.

Pfitzner Repudiates Austrian Contract

MUNICH, Germany, July 14.—(AP.)—Prof. Hans Pfitzner, German composer, wrote to the management of the Salzburg (Austria) musical festival today, repudiating his contract to conduct there.

The famous composer declared this was because of "Chancellor Dollfuss' opposition to the awakened Germany, with which I am completely and fully in sympathy."

Forester Drowned At Illinois Camp

DU QUOIN, Ill., July 14.—(AP.)—John Stella, 23, Middleton, Conn., a member of the Civilian Conservation Corps camp here, was drowned last night in North Strip Pond, near here.

Members of the camp have been using the pond to swim in. The youth, unable to swim, stepped off into 25 feet of water and before three members of the camp could reach him, he disappeared.

Swarm of Bees Dies In Attack on Auto

AMITY, Ore., July 14.—(AP.)—John Bockes, of Amity, drove his automobile into a swarm of bees—and the bees got stung. The insects pelted against the radiator, packing in so solidly that circulation was shut off and the water boiled. The bees died and Bockes didn't get a sting.

FLOOD CONTROL FUND GRANTED BY COUNTY

To aid the Pittsbugh Flood Commission in its campaign to have the federal government institute a $60,000,000 Monongahela-Allegheny River improvement project, the County Commissioners have made an appropriation to the commission of $3,500. A like amount was appropriated to the commission a few weeks ago by the city.

Due to economic conditions during the last two years, the commissioners had dropped the usual appropriation of $3,500 from their budget.

During the last few weeks, however, the commission has made considerable progress toward approval of its program by river interests and communities. This is believed to have prompted the Commissioners to reconsider.

Commissioner C. C. McGovern offered a motion yesterday to grant the fund and was upheld by Commissioner W. D. Mansfield. The money, as specified to the Commissioners, will be used for expenses necessary to carry on the campaign now being waged with the federal government for flood control in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County.

FAIR BOOSTING RAIL TRAFFIC

Receiving its greatest impetus in recent years—the drawing power of the Chicago World's Fair—railroad passenger traffic is growing by leaps and bounds, according to officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

All lines serving Chicago are reporting heavy increases, officials say, running from 100 to 150 per cent above 1932. With a steadily mounting volume of reservations recorded, it has been necessary to call every available car into service, it was stated.

BOMB DESTROYS SHARON HOUSE

SHARON, Pa., July 14.—When a vacant house, owned by Carmel Mitchell, was blown to pieces by two bombs, the families of Lynn Rushmore and Calvin Porterfield, neighbors, were blown from their beds.

Sharon and Farrell firemen saved the two homes, although the Rushmore house was badly damaged.

Police are questioning Mitchell.

Trooper's Auto Hits Wall; Girl, Man Hurt

MERCER, Pa., July 14.—Earl Donaldson and Miss Tillie Callahan are in Cottage Hospital with injuries sustained when a car driven by State Trooper Edward Foley struck the wall of a tunnel on the Mercer-Franklin highway. Miss Callahan, the more seriously injured, has a fractured collar bone. Foley and a girl companion were uninjured.

Store Employes Go on Boat Ride

An outing and dance on the Steamer Washington was held by the Employes Welfare Association of Oppenheim, Collins & Co. Wednesday. Miss Catherine Wall, chairman of the arrangements committee, planned the entertainment. William E. Weber is president of the association.

Cafe Men to Visit New Castle Plant

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 14.—Members of the Pittsburgh Restaurant Men's Association will be the guests of the Shenango Pottery Tuesday, July 18. They will inspect the plant and see how the china they use is made.

Blueberry Crop Assures Big Pie Supply

BELLEFONTE, Pa., July 14.—Lovers of the luscious blueberry pie are having no trouble getting their fill of the dish this year, as huckleberries are more plentiful than they have been for some years.

The champion picker so far recorded is Mrs. Edward Lyons, of Lyontown. She has picked six bushels of choice fruit on the mountains adjacent to her home and expects to pick that many more before the season is over.

'CYCLE MISHAP INJURES TWO

Mary Marshall, 11, of 402 Sparta street, suffered a scalp laceration when struck by a motorcycle operated by Frank Cunningham, 26, of 2321 Saranac street, in Nobles-town road, yesterday, according to police report.

Edward Cunningham, 20, Frank's brother, riding on the gasoline tank of the motorcycle, was jarred off the machine and suffered bruises in his fall. Frank was arrested on a charge of violating the motor vehicle laws by carrying a passenger on the tank. The victims were treated at South Side Hospital.

SLEUTH HUNTS HOME BURNERS

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—(AP.)—In a borrowed suit of clothing, Detective Thomas Haines of the suburban Upper Darby police, is hunting for the men he believes responsible for a fire which destroyed his home today and all his effects.

Haines expressed the belief that a gang of radio thieves he broke up a short time ago may have had something to do with the fire.

The blaze started while Haines was on duty, and his family visiting in Pittsburgh.

Police Association Formed in Mercer

SHARON, Pa., July 14.—Peace officers of Mercer County have organized the Mercer County Police Association for the purpose of close co-operation and mutual welfare. S. R. Leyshock, County detective, is president. Other officers are Charles Ray, Grove City; Jack Sposito, Farrell; Charles B. Steger, Sharon; Paul Shaffer, Sharon; Sam Fleischer, Farrell; Harry Barber, Greenville; Albert Green, Sharpsville, and James Reed, Grove City.

Roxy Tames Lion, Lamb And Tiger

By S. L. (Roxy) ROTHAFEL

The lion and the lamb weren't supposed to lie down together until some far-distant millenium, but, in one instance at least, they are already cuddled up together, and, which is more surprising, a great big tiger is resting peacefully beside them.

The parable in this case though, is anything but biblical, as its presence in this column would seem to imply. It concerns itself with the world of entertainment.

Also Tigers

Yes, it is true, there are lions and lambs in the realm of amusement, and there are tigers, too.

The movies, the radio and the living stage have been at one another's throats for several years, but which is the lion, which the lamb and which the tiger depends upon the point of view.

Some would have us believe that the living stage is the gentle lamb being served up at the feast, and that as soon as he is consumed the movie lion and the radio tiger will be at each other's throats for ultimate supremacy.

In Same Cage

Such being the case, one can doubtless understand something of my problem at Radio City, where I have all three in the same cage. It is my task, somehow, to convey to these three creatures the idea that it is to their very best interests to forget the snarling and exhibit their excellent individual talents.

Of course, the task was somewhat simplified by the fact that I am an old friend of all three.

And now that I am a veteran at the presentation of all three branches, I often wonder what all the growling is about. I do not see for the life of me why the movies, the stage and the radio should be enemies. Of course, I am convinced that the bitterness arose from a misunderstanding of the true value of the three media.

Voice of Movies

It is easy to see, though, how the stage became an easy prey to the movies, for it had lost touch with its audiences. It was complacent, static and detached. It held the movies in contempt, and when the battle started all it did was snarl instead of analyzing itself for new values.

The time came, then, when the movies found themselves in a similar position, for the radio came in and threatened their existence. But instead of snarling ineffectively they reached out and found a voice. They showed more spunk than the stage had.

'Mystery of Mirror' On Five Stations

Five radio stations in the Pittsburgh area broadcast the American Weekly drama, "Mystery of the Mirror" today. They are: WSAZ, Huntington, W. Va., 1:30; WHBC, Canton, O., 2; WKBN, Youngstown, O., 4; WALR, Zanesville, O., 5, and WJAC, Johnstown, 5:15.

The story is a feature of the American Weekly, big feature magazine distributed each Sunday with the Sun-Telegraph.

Globe-Trotting

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

Passing motorists and pedestrians were aghast at the sight of a butcher tearing about Lincoln avenue brandishing a cleaver.

According to Anthony De Cesso, who reports the story, it was no case of running amuck. A crate of chickens was deposited somewhat forcefully on the sidewalk, breaking the crate and freeing the chickens. The butcher, in his haste to recapture the fowls, forgot to put down the cleaver.

U. S. PROPOSES RADIO CHANGES

MEXICO, D. F., July 14.—(AP.)—Sub-committees were busy exploring the whole radio field here today as the first week of the North and Central American Radio Conference drew to a close with United States delegates expressing themselves as well pleased with the preliminary negotiations.

The sub-committees named by President Cornado were instructed to bring in reports Monday when another full session of the conference will be held. Although all sessions are executive and little information has leaked out, it is understood the United States delegation has presented a lengthy list of proposals which form the basis of study of sub-committees.

While the man stood before the mirror, he saw his sweetheart's reflection as she aimed a gun at him

The Recent Killing of One of France's Highest Government Officials Has Revealed the Astounding Experiences of an Extraordinary Adventuress

CITIZENS of the French Republic have been stirred by a shooting that took place recently in the luxurious flat of a notorious courtesan in Paris.

According to the cunning wanton's story, a brief scene of jealousy led to the shooting.

The man she killed was one of the best known officials in France. He was a married man, living in Marseilles but whenever he visited Paris he called on his callous sweetheart who, since the tragedy, is called the "femme de Chambre" because of her many sweethearts in the Chamber of Deputies.

The French now know more sensational facts about the adventuress, as revealed in next Sunday's American Weekly.

Though you'll find that only one out of 25 of the smart set will be faring forth from home this summer, we find ourselves talking most of the time about the travelers.

Among the few departing is Lucretia Billings, daughter of Mrs. Frederic T. Billings, who is leaving today for a week in Baltimore.

She'll be the guest of her fiance's parents, the Jannon Fishers of Eccleston, Md. Lucretia's betrothal to Dr. A. Murray Fisher, of Baltimore, was made known early in June. As yet, her mother tells me, Lucretia has not set a date for the wedding.

* * *

Visiting At Lake

* * *

Among our few European travelers are Mrs. James G. Frazer and her daughter, Katharine, who won't be back until fall.

* * *

Popular Beaumaris, Canada, will attract Mrs. George R. B. Berger and her young daughters, Margaret and Ann. They'll spend August at their Beaumaris home.

* * *

Mrs. Taylor Allderdice is spending the greater part of the summer at Pike Run Country Club.

* * *

The Benjamin Rush Bradford Townsends entertained in their Sewickley Heights place, Fairway, last night with an informal buffet supper. The guests of honor were their house guest, Mrs. J. W. Coulston, of Philadelphia; and Mrs. Edmund Johnson, of Snow Hill, Md., house guest of her sister, Mrs. Henry H. Robinson.

Visitors Honored

Jane Louise and Laura Virginia Noaker, two members of Sewickley's sub-deb set, will give a tea this afternoon in the home of their aunt, Miss Anna Evans, of Sewickley, for Kate Bingham, of Philadelphia, the guest of Betty Dunsford.

Elizabeth Girl, McKeesport Man Wed

Miss Harriet Goldstrohn, daughter of C. W. Goldstrohn, of Elizabeth, Pa., became the bride of James Willard Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Hartman of McKeesport, on Wednesday morning in the First Presbyterian Church of Greensburg, Pa. Officiating was the Rev. Henry B. Strock. The church was decorated with ferns and calla lilies.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, George C. Goldstrohn, wore a gown of white Duchess lace and carried white roses and blue delphinium. The bridegroom's mother wore blue lace.

Miss Margaret Barclay, as bridesmaid, wore pink organza and carried pink roses and orchid delphinium, and the maid of honor, Miss Agnes Lytle, wore yellow chiffon and carried yellow roses and orange delphinium. Conrad J. Goldstrohn was the best man, and ushers included Raymond Jacobs, Raymond McDonald, William Goldstrohn, and Dr. A. L. Cort, of Clairton, Pa.

The bride is former supervisor of the Clairton public schools and is a graduate of California State Teachers' College and of the Ganerian College, Columbus, O.

Miss Mary Jean Boyd Marries in Alexandria

Announcement is made here of the marriage on Wednesday, in Alexandria, Egypt, of Miss Mary Jean Boyd, daughter of Mrs. Mary Herriott Boyd, and of the late Dr. James Howard Boyd, of New Wilmington, Pa., to Edward Eric Harris, of England. Mr. and Mrs. Harris are to make their home in Tanta, Egypt. The bride is a niece of Mrs. Henry J. McCorkle, of Pittsburgh. The bride's father was a missionary in Egypt from 1902 until his death.

Carrick Girls to Give Garden Party Tuesday

A garden card party at the home of Mrs. Alex Huttenhauer, Wynoka street, Carrick, will be held Tuesday evening by the Girls' Auxiliary to the Mothers' Club of Carrick.

Miss Betty Pullen, chairman of the program committee, is in charge.

Betty Jones Married To William Braun, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch N. Jones, of Dunlap avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Betty Jones, to William Braun, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Braun, of Garvin street, which took place April 7, 1932.

Lucy D. McClelland To Marry Tomorrow

Tomorrow Miss Lucy Donnan McClelland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. McClelland, of Waynesburg, becomes the bride of William Beeson, of Charleston, W. Va., in Waynesburg.

The bride is a graduate of Washington Seminary.

Greene County Country Club Tourney Wednesday

The second annual women's invitation golf tournament at the Greene County Country Club, near Waynesburg, is scheduled for Wednesday. Mrs. George Jenkins is general chairman.

Many Features Arranged For 'Woods Party' of League for Peace

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

All sorts of unusual features will add interest to the woods party which the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will have tomorrow evening at "Hildesheim," Mrs. Max Henrici's home at McAllister's Crossroads. In case of rain, the affair will be postponed until the same hours (from 6 until 9 o'clock) on Sunday evening.

Families and friends of the league are invited to join the party and are instructed to "follow the red bird" to the grounds where men in Mexican costume will meet the cars and arrange for parking. Guests are to have the choice of picnicking in the woods or at tables on a nearby bluff or under the trees at "Hildesheim." The hostess will appear in an historic Finnish costume and other members are planning to appear in foreign costume also.

Three exhibits, one of "Old Hildesheim," another Scandinavian in character and the third of Latin America, have been arranged. The ways and means committee of the league has planned this affair as the first in a chain of informal affairs, benefits for the league's educational programs in the interest of world peace.

Knoxville Auxiliary To Give Benefit Tea

For the benefit of its work in the children's wards in St. Joseph's and the South Side hospitals the Girls' Auxiliary to the Knoxville Library Club will give a musicale tea at the Carrick Mothers' Club on Saturday afternoon, July 22. Mrs. Wilbur Davis is chairman for the event.

Mt. Lebanon Republican Women to Give Bridge

A bridge tea will be given on Tuesday, August 8, at the home of Mrs. Archibald Weaver Powell, Hoodridge drive, by the Mt. Lebanon Women's Republican Club. Mrs. A. R. Hampsey, program chairman of this new unit, is chairman for the affair.

Education Urged At Meeting of B. P. W. Clubs

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Adult education to occupy increased leisure resulting from a shorter week and shorter working hours is necessary, said Dr. Arthur E. Bestor, New York lecturer, to save our complicated industrial civilization from collapse.

Dr. Bestor, who is president of Chautauqua Institute, was the second of only two men selected to appear on the programs with more than a hundred women speakers.

Knowledge was formerly the possession of the prosperous and successful, Dr. Bestor said, but now it has become necessary for the mass of mankind.

If women wanted to foster world peace, they should quit passing resolutions and do something, Lena Madesin Phillips of New York, told delegates at luncheon. She said:

"Support good women for public office whether they are Republicans or Democrats."

The State Federation of North Carolina, which last year captured the lion's share of publicity trophies, held first place this year.

The Kentucky state organization placed second.

The Mitchell, S. D., club submitted the best edition of a club newspaper.

A wage earning survey by the Hampton, Va., Club was adjudged the best project attempted by a local organization.

Mrs. Margaret Culkin Banning, author, announced:

"This is a woman's world, and women might just as well walk in and take possession of it."

* * *

CHICAGO, July 14.—(INS.)—Mrs. Geline MacDonald Bowman, of Richmond, Va., was practically assured of re-election as president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women at the annual election today. No other candidate has been nominated to oppose her.

Other national officers whose nomination is considered equivalent to election are: Miss Charl Williams, Washington, legislative secretary of the National Education Association, first vice president; Dr. Florence May Morse, Los Angeles, professor of merchandising at the University of Southern California, second vice president; Judge Florence E. Allen, Ohio, third vice president; Miss Earline White Jackson, Miss., first woman postmaster in the Capitol Building at Washington, recording secretary; Miss Marjorie Shuler, New York, journalist, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. Pearl Warwick, Chicago, business executive, treasurer.

Unitarian Woman's Alliance To Hold Porch Party Series

The Woman's Alliance of the First Unitarian Church is continuing its custom of many years and will hold a series of porch parties this summer. At these informal affairs the members bring contributions for the buffet luncheon which is always one of the delightful features of the day. There's never lack of conversation with these Alliance members and there's always bridge to round out the afternoon.

Miss Charlotte and Miss Helen Steinert, of Wightman street, will have the second in the series, Mrs. Roswell Johnson having inaugurated it this week at her summer home, "Sky High," near Bardona. The Steinerts' date is July 26.

Mrs. K. F. Hessenmueller, of Collins avenue, is hostess for August 9 and on the twenty-third Mrs. H. B. Wilson, of "Fern Hill," Babcock boulevard, will entertain. The two September dates are the sixth and the twentieth with Miss Gertrude McCargo, of Westminster place, North Side, and Mrs. Norman W. Storer, Reynolds street, East End, as hostesses.

Club Congress to Give Chain of Porch Parties

A chain of porch parties is the newest activity of the Congress of Clubs. Each board member will entertain eight guests, each of these eight will entertain four, the four will each entertain three and, in the final link, each of the three will be hostess to one. The hostess chooses her own form of entertainment, Mrs. Walter Nuttal having decided on dessert bridge for the first affair on Wednesday.

Columbus Girl, Beaver Man to Wed July 29

On July 29 the marriage of Miss Adelaide Earhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wayland Earhart, of Thirteenth avenue, Columbus, O., to Paul Frederick Strother, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick O. Strother, of Beaver, Pa., will take place in Columbus.

Miss Earhart is a graduate of Ohio State University and has been teaching in Centralia High School in Chillicothe, O. She was a member of Mortar Board and Alpha Xi, and served as grand president of the National Intercollegiate Pan-Hellenic Association of Urban Universities.

Her fiance was a member of the Ohio State University world championship sprint medley relay team, which set a world record at the Penn relays in 1931, and he is a member of Sphinx and Phi Kappa Psi. He is at present auditor of fraternities at Ohio State University.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Strother and their daughters, Caroline and Dorothy, and son, Russell, will go to Columbus to attend the wedding.

Mrs. Radcliff Hostess For Amaranth Party

Mrs. W. F. Radcliff, of Wynoka street, Carrick, will be hostess Wednesday at a card party for South Gate Court, No. 122, Order of the Amaranth.

THE SMART WOMEN DRESS WITH INDIVIDUALITY IN EVENING

A HOTEL ranking high among the swank places in New York always draws chic women like a magnet, and in turn, fashion reporters like ourselves, who follow society to "spot" high fashions for you.

* * *

ON ONE particular evening we were enchanted by the soignee air of the evening clothes worn. So many gowns were at opposite poles from each other—some worldly and sophisticated, others frightfully jeune fille, with a modern sort of allure. Tailored linens contrasted sharply against diaphanous chiffons and nets flat crepes with baby's-party-dresses of pure white organdy. Some were deliberately victorian, others sleek and clinging. Individuality was evident. It was satisfying to observe that more and more smart women dress to suit their own personalities. Fashion definitely recommends this edict for fall.

* * *

YARDS AND yards of crepe made into fine little ruffles were applied to the back of the waistline of one notable white dance dress. A half dozen or so swept majestically to the floor, giving the effect of a quaint elongated bustle. One tiny ruffle followed the entire hemline. In front, this provided the only decoration! (Right sketch.)

* * *

* * *

LAUNCHING black net for formal and informal evening wear was one of the most attractive fashion developments this summer. In net, most women look divinely thin a trifle "Merry Widow." The lady dancing on the left chose a very simple dress with huge ruffled shoulder puffs to supply the only highlight.

* * *

OF THE summer furs, silver fox continues in high favor. See how ingeniously two enormous skins were crossed to make the X-cape seen in the picture. Whether a dress needed glamour or not, such a luxurious accessory would add much for one!

New Future Home Report Shows 1,273 Meals Given

The report for the month made yesterday by the board of directors of the New Future Home, showed that 1,273 meals had been served; 326 lodgings furnished, and 323 days' care given. Twenty-nine women and three children were received at the home, and clothing was furnished to 10 of the guests during the month. The women of the home have pieced four quilt tops.

Porter Widow Left Estate of $32,000

The late Charles Porter, of 1101 Piermont avenue, Dormont, left his entire estate, valued at $32,000, to his widow, Mrs. Maude Herron Porter, his will filed for probate showed today. Mrs. Porter was named executrix.

Pastor Leaves $500 To Ministerial Fund

MERCER, Pa., July 14.—The will of the Rev. John F. Cowling, whose death occurred at the Haywood Home for Presbyterian Ministers, Sharon, leaves $500 to the Presbyterian ministerial fund.

The first step to Romance

—that schoolgirl complexion

WHAT charm, what allure lies in a lovely skin, young, fresh, radiant! Such a skin is, indeed, the first thrilling step to romance—the kind of romance every woman seeks! And such a skin comes with the daily use of Palmolive Soap—blended of olive and palm oils—the surest protection lovely skin can find. The precious oils of which it is made cleanse safely, thoroughly, gently.

Palmolive lather penetrates the pores, freeing them of accumulations easily . . . leaving skin soft, smooth, gloriously clear and fresh.

Get three cakes today. Begin the beauty treatment recommended by 20,000 beauty experts. Prove to yourself that Palmolive Soap, blended of olive and palm oils, will keep your skin soft, smooth, youthful.

The vial at the right shows the exact amount of olive oil we put into each cake

Do this, morning and evening:

Work a creamy lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water into the skin of face, throat and shoulders. Rinse with warm water, then with cold. Watch the effect upon your skin of this gentle daily care.

FENG'S TROOPS MOVE ON JAPS

TOKIO, July 14.—(AP.)—A direct clash between followers of Gen. Fen Yu Hsiang and forces of Gen. Nobuyoshi Muto, commander-in-chief of the Japanese Army in Manchuria, on the Jehol-Chahar frontier seemed most likely today as a result of the former's recapture of Tolunnoerh, a town in Chahar Province just across the border from Jehol Province.

Gen. Feng is engaged in a campaign to regain Jehol and China's "lost provinces" from Japan and Manchukuo. The Chinese Nationalist government at Nanking has indicated no force will be used against him, although his drive is opposed as conflicting with peace negotiations with Japan.

Statements to the Tokio War Office from Gen. Muto's headquarters in Changchun, capital of the Japanese-advised state of Manchukuo, indicated that the most serious view is being taken of the frontier station, which allegedly menaces the peace and safety of Jehol lately conquered by the Japanese.

Heart Break Kills River Victim's Mother

OIL CITY, Pa., July 14.—Heart broken by loss of her 9-year-old son, Adren Golden, drowned in Allegheny River last January when he slipped to his death through ice, Mrs. Carl W. Golden, 42, died today. Arden's body was never recovered. Nine children survive.

PICNIC TICKETS OFFERED

Plenty of exciting entertainment will mark the annual picnic of the Business Men's Association, of the East North Side, at West View Park next Wednesday. Luke Barnett, Pittsburgh's famous "razzer" will be on the job, there's going to be a public wedding, athletic games, gate prizes and a parade.

Through the co-operation of the Sun-Telegraph, 5,000 strips of free tickets for the rides and attractions will be given away. These are to be distributed at exchange stations, the locations of which will be announced later, upon the presentation of special ticket coupons to be clipped from this newspaper. Coupon No. 1 will appear in tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph.

HOMES SOURCE OF CHILD CRIME

"Broken homes" are responsible for most of Pittsburgh's delinquency, according to Daniel N. Maxwell, graduate student of sociology at the University of Pittsburgh.

In a recent survey, he said, it was revealed that 18 per cent of homes where parents are separated or living in open disagreement, were the homes of 50 per cent of children arrested for theft, property destruction, immorality and other juvenile cases.

More than 50 per cent of the offenders had one foreign-born parent, and 46.6 per cent came from homes in which both parents were foreign.

Falls Down Stairs To Prevent Robbery

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Peter Stamison finds a good way to prevent being held up is to fall backwards down a flight of stairs.

Three robbers were so frightened when Stamison tumbled that they fled, scared by the noise of his fall.

Police Dog 'Killer' Raiding Flocks Shot

FLORENCE, Pa., July 14.—(AP.)—A marauder of the fields estimated to have killed and devoured 40 lambs on five or six farms between Florence and Frankfort Springs will annoy farmers no longer.

Jesse V. Mounts, dog law and sportsman's officer of the State Department of Animal Industry shot and killed the animal.

It was a 100-pound police dog turned "killer."

Monkeys Share Liner With Four Sailors

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—The Leviathan, once queen of the seas, today is inhabited by four sailors and four monkeys. The sailors are paid for staying aboard the decommissioned liner—if they weren't they'd leave the ship entirely to the monkeys, which are not paid. The monkeys escaped from a freighter and arrived via mooring lines.

Sleuths Find 'Zoo' In Suspect's Home

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Detectives Paul Mazeika and Thomas Barrowman went to the home of Charles Curtis, a Negro, looking for guns, but the weapons weren't half of what they found. They reported they had discovered in Curtis' place:

One bear, chained to a wall.

One box, filled with 20 snakes, all alive.

Cambridge Tin Mill To Give Jobs to 800

CAMBRIDGE, O., July 14.—The Guernsey works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, employing 800 men, will resume Monday after being idle since July 1, 1932. It is expected employes who have been given employment in other plants of the United States Steel Corporation, among them Martins Ferry, will be recalled. The Guernsey works manufactures sheet steel.

Freight Movement On B. & O. Increases

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 14.—Freight business on the Baltimore and Ohio at New Castle Junction has been on the boom here in the past two days. The number of cars weighed and recorded in the 24-hour period previous to 11 a. m. Thursday was so great that the entire freight department force had to work the greater part of the 24-hour period to take care of the business.

HUNDREDS VIE FOR RIPLEY FAIR TRIPS

Several hundred readers of the Sun-Telegraph are potentially on their way to Chicago's Century of Progress World's Fair. Out of these several hundred 20 are sure of getting the trip and all of their expenses will be paid for five days.

These will be the prize winners in the "Ripley's Puzzlers" now in full swing in the Sun-Telegraph. There isn't going to be any skimping in the expense on these 20 trips. They will include Pullman berths, first-class hotel accommodations in Chicago, tickets for the fair grounds every day and added tickets for the best attractions, sight-seeing tours in and around Chicago—in fact everything that could be desired for five days of real enjoyment among the wonders and the thrills of the greatest of all World Fairs.

Contest Picture No. 4 appears on another page of today's Sun-Telegraph and under that picture, in big special type, it tells you how you can still get into the contest and still have an opportunity to win one of these 20 marvelous, all expenses paid trips to the magnificent Century of Progress Exposition.

Test May Speed Elevator Service

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—Samuel Levy, Borough President of Manhattan, went straight up in the air at the rate of 1,400 feet a minute yesterday. He was inspecting an elevator in Rockefeller Center to determine whether the present city speed limit of 1,200 feet a minute might be increased.

Man's Arm Slashed By Falling Casket

SPOKANE, Wash., July 14.—(AP.)—Charles O. McCartney, a casket company employe, narrowly escaped serious injury—under a coffin.

Working in a warehouse, he attempted to move a 400-pound upright steel coffin. It fell and he leaped, but his right arm was cut.

Traffic Violators Given Street Lecture

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—Thirty violators of minor traffic rules escaped fines in Traffic Court by standing in the hot sun on a street corner and listening to a lecture by Traffic Policeman John Shanley. They were sent there by Magistrate Greenspan, who says his court is to improve traffic conditions, not to collect fines.

AMBULANCE CHASING LINKED WITH COMPENSATION CASES

30-CENT PARK TRIPS BEGIN TOMORROW

Combined Trolley-Bus Service Offered Daily, Sunday

Roundtrip trolley and bus service to the county parks will be inaugurated at noon tomorrow for the man and his family who are without an automobile.

Tickets for the 30-cent roundtrip will be on sale tomorrow at the city office of county parks in the new County Building, the downtown office of the Sun-Telegraph, Fifth avenue and Market street, the downtown office of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, at all car barns and the concession stands at the parks.

The service will be from the downtown district to North and South Parks. Half hour bus service will be available from the ends of the Carrick and Millvale car lines Saturday afternoons and Sunday.

LAST BUS AT 9 P. M.

Persons bound for North Park will ride the Millvale car to the end of the line and those to South Park to the end of the Carrick line. Buses will carry them from those points to any place in the parks.

Sunday service will begin at 9 a. m. The last buses will leave the parks at night at 9 o'clock.

Other than on Saturdays and Sundays, buses will leave the ends of the car lines at 1 p. m., 2:30 p. m., 4 p. m., 6:30 p. m., 7 p. m. and 8:30 p. m.

TRIAL SERVICE

The operations will continue over a trial period. The Pittsburgh Railways Company, Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company and Brentwood Motor Coach Company are co-operating in the service.

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern said the county will not abandon its efforts to obtain a certificate to operate its own service to the parks. He said he thought it desirable to have such a certificate in the event the new service is abandoned.

BOAT ARRIVES FOR CEREMONY

The Inland Waterways Corporation's new Diesel towboat, the Franklin D. Roosevelt, has arrived at the foot of Wood street, to be christened tomorow.

Ceremonies have been arranged for 11 a. m. with Secretary of War George H. Dern and Mrs. Dern and Maj. Gen. T. Q. Ashburn and Mrs. Ashburn as guests of honor.

The christening will be done by Mrs. Dern. After the program prominent Pittsburghers will be given a ride on the new craft.

The boat, constructed by the Midland Barge Company at Midland, will be used in the barge line trade on the upper Mississippi and Illinois rivers. It is a steel craft 160 feet long, 40 feet wide and eight feet deep with a draft of four feet. It has twin screws powered by Diesel engines delivering 1,000 horsepower.

Brothers Killed As Auto Overturns

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 14.—(INS.) — Louis Paulin, 28, of Philadelphia, and his brother, Frank Paulin, 30, of Struthers, O., were killed in an automobile crash here today.

Their car left the pavement in the northeastern section of the city, traveled 250 feet into a field and then overturned. Louis was spending his vacation with his brother.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 14.—This fellow Roosevelt can close the banks, he can tell industry how much to pay, and how many hours to work. He can hold back the sun, he can evaporate the water, but when he demands that a postmaster has to be able to read, that's carrying dictatorship too far.

Will Rogers

When he takes the postmasters out of politics, he is monkeying with the very fundamentals of American political parties. How is the army going to fight if they dont get any of the loot. I tell you this suggestion of his is bordering on treason.

The idea of a postmaster being able to read, it looks like an undemocratic move to favor the college man. I tell you he will ruin the Democratic party. We mustn't let him get away with it.

Yours, WILL.

GRUNDY CHARGE BRANDED 'LIE' BY PROBERS

Sweatshop Committee Denies Anonymous Testimony Heard

Denial of charges made by former Senator Joseph R. Grundy against the committee investigating sweatshop conditions in Pennsylvania was made today by Stephen Raushenbush, investigator for the Pennsylvania Department of Labor. In reply to Grundy's charge that anonymous testimony was accepted by investigators, he said:

"Hundreds of letters have been written in to members of the committee and the state government making wage complaints, but giving no name or address. None of these letters has even been called to the attention of the committee. No statements were taken from anyone except directly, and those statements were dictated by the workers to the official taking them, and were signed by the worker."

He branded as "ridiculous" the suggestion that the employes could have freely presented their case without fear of reprisal. In denying that the committee was attempting to advertise any particular plant, he said:

"At several hearings I suggested to the committee that a public statement be made at each hearing that many employers would be called to give wage information, without any implication that they were sweating the employes. This was done farily uniformly. That seems to have been understood by the several other plants called, not only those which had high political affiliations, but those which did not."

All other charges implied in Grundy's letter to the committee were denied my Raushenbush.

NEW ELECTION ZONES FOUGHT

Seeking to prevent unnecessary changes in election districts, the County Commissioners have appealed to the judges of Quarter Sessions Court.

Each additional district created costs the county $800 to $1,000, Director W. T. Rees, of the Department of Elections, said.

Commissioners W. D. Mansfield and C. C. McGovern conferred with Judge Harry H. Rowand, secretary of the board of judges, yesterday. They asked that when a change is requested the judge hearing the petition permit the county officials to offer an alternate plan. The jurist pledged his co-operation.

The Elections Bureau and Commissioners yesterday opposed two changes, presenting temporarily a new district in the Second Ward.

Man Train Killed Declared Suicide

A verdict of suicide was returned by a Coroner's jury today in the death of Michael Jackson, 70, of 545 Fifth avenue, McKeesport, after witnesses testified he had leaped into the path of a P. & L. E. passenger train at the Windsor street crossing, June 28.

Miss Winona Coyne testified she saw the incident from the porch of her home at 408 Windsor street.

AIR LINE CUTS TIME TO WEST

The air travel time between Pittsburgh and Chicago and the West Coast will be cut with the inauguration of a new service Sunday by Pennsylvania Airlines, H. S. Martin, president, announced today.

Forty-five minutes will be lopped from the previous fastest time to Chicago and three hours from the time to the coast. Twelve-passenger trimotor planes will be used.

Two extra flights will be added to the line's present schedule. One will be to Washington and the other to Cleveland. The present schedule is four trips a day in each direction. The flying time to Washington has been cut on all schedules to an hour and 15 minutes.

Travelers may leave Pittsburgh at 5:25 p. m. and be on the West Coast before noon the following day. They may leave here at 10 a. m. and be in Chicago for lunch.

16 ARRESTED IN STRIKE FREED

Fourteen striking employes of the National Carloading Corporation, 1013 Penn avenue, and two other men, arrested yesterday afternoon on charges of loitering in front of the place, were discharged by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Night Court.

The men were arrested about an hour after 21 employes, members of Local 249, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, walked out when executives of the corporation announced the union would not be recognized, union officials said.

A New Defense; Banker Didn't Know Livestock

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

We've heard many queer legal defenses. But here's one that spoons up all the gravy.

Lawyer for harassed financier says his client doesn't know the difference between a cow and a pony.

Well, there ain't much difference in a Paris butcher shop. They sell you one for the other.

But what has that got to do with the banking business? Did the man store hay in his vaults?

Let us have some big minds that know the difference between their money and ours. Don't turn the high courts into a barnyard with the jury neighing and the judge mooing.

When Darrow sees this he will realize he missed a bet at the Scopes trial. He forgot to climb into the courtroom through the second story window.

JUDGE NAMES VOTE BOARDS

An election board for the new Twenty-first district, Nineteenth Ward, was appointed and vacancies on other boards were filled today by Judge Samuel H. Gardner.

The new board is composed of G. E. Burns, judge; C. R. Allers, majority inspector, and Kate V. Lamb, minority inspector. Judge Gardner ruled that in the Ninth district, Ninth Ward, Robert Welsh is ineligible to serve as judge because he had moved from the district and sustained the appointment of C. D. McCarthy.

Vacancies filled are: First district, Eleventh Ward, William S. Tweedle, judge, and Jennie M. Freeman, majority inspector; First district, First Ward, Paul Anuszkiewicz, judge, and Mary Lacey, minority inspector; Third district, First Ward, Margaret Laughrey, minority inspector; First district, Second Ward, Homer Heverly, judge.

FEW OFFENSES HERE, INQUIRY DISCLOSES

Single Firm Found to Have Handled Most Claims

Efforts to uncover ambulance chasing in connection with handling of workmen compensation cases brought the name of only one law firm here before the Governor's Commission of Compensation and Insurance during its two-day hearings here.

This angle of questioning was directed by the committee chairman, Dr. C. A. Kulp, and Attorney Shippen Lewis, both of Philadelphia. Each of the more than 30 individual witnesses filing complaints and who revealed having been represented by an attorney was asked how the selection of the lawyer occurred. While few had engaged counsel, it developed that among those who had attorneys recommended by strangers the same law firm was involved in many instances.

MANY ANGLES STUDIED

This phase of questioning was only one of several directed by Kulp, who declared at the close of yesterday's hearing that abuse of existing provisions by the employers has been proven. Questioned as to the ambulance-chasing queries, Kulp said:

"That is only one of the several principal evils we are seeking to uncover. We did not find much evidence of ambulance-chasing here, though it is true the name of one firm was repeatedly mentioned by the individual claimants."

Citing the other principal abuses under existing laws, Kulp pointed out that specific questioning developed:

"There must be a remedy for hospitalization payments. Under the self-insurer's operations, settlement is being left to the hospital itself.

PAYMENTS SUSPENDED

Another evil is the lack of provisions to assure payments if an insurance company fails. At present, there is no means to force continuance of compensation.

"The act's provision that permits the employer to suspend all payments until after a termination of payment petition has been acted upon by a referee is a serious abuse. The decision can be delayed for a year or two, during which time the injured workman receives no financial aid. If the decision is finally handed down in his favor, back payments are paid."

'ALKY' CLAIMS SEVENTH LIFE

An unidentified man, about 50, died last night in Allegheny General Hospital, the seventh victim of alcoholism reported to the Coroner's office within 24 hours.

Five other victims died Wednesday night from drinking denatured alcohol near Tarentum, according to the Coroner's report. County detectives and deputy coroners are seeking the source of the alcohol, the kind used for automobile radiators, to determine if it had been sold as a beverage.

Another was found dead in a shack near Elizabeth.

The man who died in the hospital was found early yesterday at Fourth avenue and Ross street. He died without regaining consciousness. There were no marks of identification among his effects.

Lumber Plant Burns At Hollidaysburg

ALTOONA, Pa., July 14.—Fire this morning destroyed the lumber plant of M. S. Hunter & Sons, Hollidaysburg. Four large sheds, brick garage and much lumber were burned. Altoona firemen assisted fighting the flames. The origin of the fire is undetermined.

Toes Pull Trigger Of Suicide's Gun

ALTOONA, Pa., July 14.—Herman Wright, 40, Woodbury, this morning went to the chicken coop at his home, with a gun, removed his shoe, pulled the trigger with his toes, killing himself. He is survived by his widow and eight children. He was unemployed.

DR. KING MADE MILK CZAR

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP.)—The Agriculure Department has placed Dr. Clyde L. King, former chairman of the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission, in charge of all milk marketing agreements.

Dr. King started work on bringing farmers and milk marketing agencies together into agreements soon after Gov. Pinchot failed to rename him to the Pennsylvania commission.

During his early work with the department, King had a suit pending in the Pennsylvania Supreme Court to compel the Governor to retain him as chairman of the commission. Since the court ruled against him, King has kept up his work on milk.

King, a former economics professor at the University of Pennsylvania, has served as arbiter in milk disputes between farmers and distributors in both Chicago and Philadelphia.

Stratosphere Gondola Shipped to Chicago

AKRON, O., July 14.—(AP.)—The black and white metal gondola in which Lieut. Com. T. G. W. Settle, of the United States Navy, and Dr. Jean Piccard, are scheduled to ride into the stratosphere Monday, was sent to Chicago today by truck.

Settle, who found the balloon itself satisfactory on inspection yesterday, left last night by train. The bag will be shipped to Chicago by truck tomorrow.

Women Waging Drive For Repeal Signers

Efforts are being made by the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform to obtain as many signatures as possible to petitions indorsing 15 repeal delegates for the state convention to be held in Harrisburg December 5. The election of the candidates will be November 7.

The organization, working in co-operation with the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, is circulating petitions through Pennsylvania. The Pittsburgh branch urges all petitions be signed before August 15 in order to allow time for a check-up before September 8, the legal closing date for signers.

KLONDIKE KATE TO WED AFTER 33 YEARS

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 14.—(AP.)—A secret romance born on Christmas eve in 1900, in the gold rush days at Dawson—with long years of absence from each other since—brings marriage to Klondike Kate, the belle of the dance halls, and John Matson, an Alaskan miner.

The silver-haired Matson, who remained in the northland working his claims but all the time recalling the vision of Kate, was at the boat dock this morning to meet her on her arrival from Seattle. They will be wed "within a day or so."

He said:

"We've corresponded the past four years and two weeks ago she came to Vancouver to meet me."

In the long years of separation Klondike Kate came south with Alexander Pantages, the theater man, and won renown throughout the West as the girl who gave him his start in the theatrical world. She married and in 1914 "homesteaded" in the high desert country of Central Oregon.

Four years ago Matson read she had attended the Seattle stampede of the sourdoughs, and later that she was the "mystery witness" summoned from Bend, Ore., to aid in the defense of Pantages in his California trial, although she was not called to testify.

He started a correspondence with her and she welcomed his attentions.

Fall Impales Man On Pitchfork Prongs

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 14.—(INS.)—W. G. Beatty, Westmoreland County farmer, today was recovering from a wound received when he fell from a hay mow and was impaled on the prongs of a pitchfork.

Beatty was directing farm hands in the storing of hay, stepped too near the edge of the mow, and fell.

Blast Burns Woman Lighting Gas Stove

Burned about the face, chest and arms when gas in her kitchen stove exploded, Mrs. Catherine Kerzan, 51, of 5220 Carnegie avenue was taken to St. Francis Hospital yesterday. The explosion occurred when she attempted to light the stove, according to a police report.

Horsefly Brings Death to Slapper

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., July 14. (AP.)—Frank Lynn slapped a horsefly. The fly was resting on a horse, which then kicked him. He died from the injuries.

SHARK INVADES HUDSON RIVER

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—Marine police and Coast Guardsmen today sought an eight or 10-foot shark reported to have entered the Hudson River.

Capt. Von Wagner, of the fishing boat Celtine, which plies to Sandy Hook and Sea Bright, said he observed the shark off Forty-second street Wednesday and again yesterday off One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street.

A warning to bathers was dispatched over the police teletype system to river-bank towns as far north as Poughkeepsie.

Dead Bear's Mate On Hunger Strike

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—Nellie, the mate of Jake, the prize polar bear in the Lincoln Park Zoo, is now on her third week of a hunger strike which began after Jake died of a mysterious slow poison.

Auxiliary of Home To Hold Benefit

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Bishop Boyle Home for the Aged will hold a benefit card party July 29 at the Home Makers' Guild, 915 Penn avenue. The playing will begin at 1 p. m., after which luncheon will be served. Mrs. Elinor I. McCabe is general chairman.

Victim of Cat Bite Treated at Hospitals

Edward M. Luther, 28, of 1814 Antietam street, was bitten on the finger by a stray cat that leaped from a fence in McCandless avenue yesterday, police reported. The wound was cauterized in St. Margaret's Hospital. Later Luther was given Pasteur treatment in West Penn Hospital.

Old-Time Dance Brings Out 1,500

KANSAS CITY, July 14.—(AP.)—An old-fashioned square dance, sponsored by the Kansas City Recreational Council, attracted 1,500 persons. They were directed by the caller, to "catch you a pardner if it ain't too late."

NEW FORD BANK FOR DETROIT

DETROIT, July 14.—(AP.)—Formation of a second large bank in Detroit controlled by Edsel Ford and associates, and another distribution to 800,000 depositors in the city's two closed national banks seemed assured today with the announcement that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is willing to lend $75,000,000 more to receivers of the closed banks.

The announcement of the R. F. C.'s willingness to supplement the funds already loaned the two banks was made in Washington by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the R. F. C. board.

Jones estimated that from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 would be advanced to the Guardian National Bank of Commerce and $50,000,000 to the First National Bank—Detroit.

Capital of $5,250,000 already has been subscribed by Edsel Ford and associates to open the new bank, Jones said.

'JUNGLE' RAIDER FLEES SHOTS

CHARLEROI, Pa., July 14.—John Gault, Mingo farmer, today reported he had shot at the mysterious beast that has played havoc in barnyards of the districts for two weeks. He described the animal as resembling a timber wolf.

This is the first time the beast which has killed 400 chickens, as well as pigs and sheep has been fired on. Gault is uncertain whether his shots took effect.

Thomas Ercoline, farmer, of Courtney, reported one sheep devoured and another injured by the four-legged raider. He thus described the animal:

"Worst looking thing I ever saw. Bigger than a dog. Howls like a wolf. Looks like a hyena."

Farmers plan a second drive on the animal. Some believe it is a hyena escaped from an animal pen at Elizabeth.

REVELRY MARKS BASTILLE DAY

PARIS, July 14.—(AP.)—A hundred bombing and pursuit planes, dipping low over Paris in a huge parade of military and air strength, officially opened today the great national fete of Bastile Day. President Lebrun reviewed the army in front of the Invalides soldiers' home.

Frenchmen danced in the streets, drank beer and shot off fireworks in the traditional revelry marking the holiday, which corresponds to the American Independence Day, and which will last until Monday morning.

Flags of the allied countries were unfurled on public buildings and the various national monuments, music was to be heard everywhere and in all the squares street dancing lasting all day and night, was the principal manifestation of joy.

Today was the one hundred forty-fourth anniversary of the taking of the former prison on July 14, 1789, as a climax to events that led up to the French Revolution.

Spain Refuses Bail To 5 U. S. Citizens

MADRID, July 14.—(INS.)—Premier Azana today notified Ambassador Claude Bowers the Spanish government will refuse bail to the five Americans jailed at Palma, Mallorca since June 4 on charges of beating up a civil guard.

Premier Azana pointed out the Spanish law does not permit bail in a case of this kind, so Bowers is making efforts to have the trial as soon as possible.

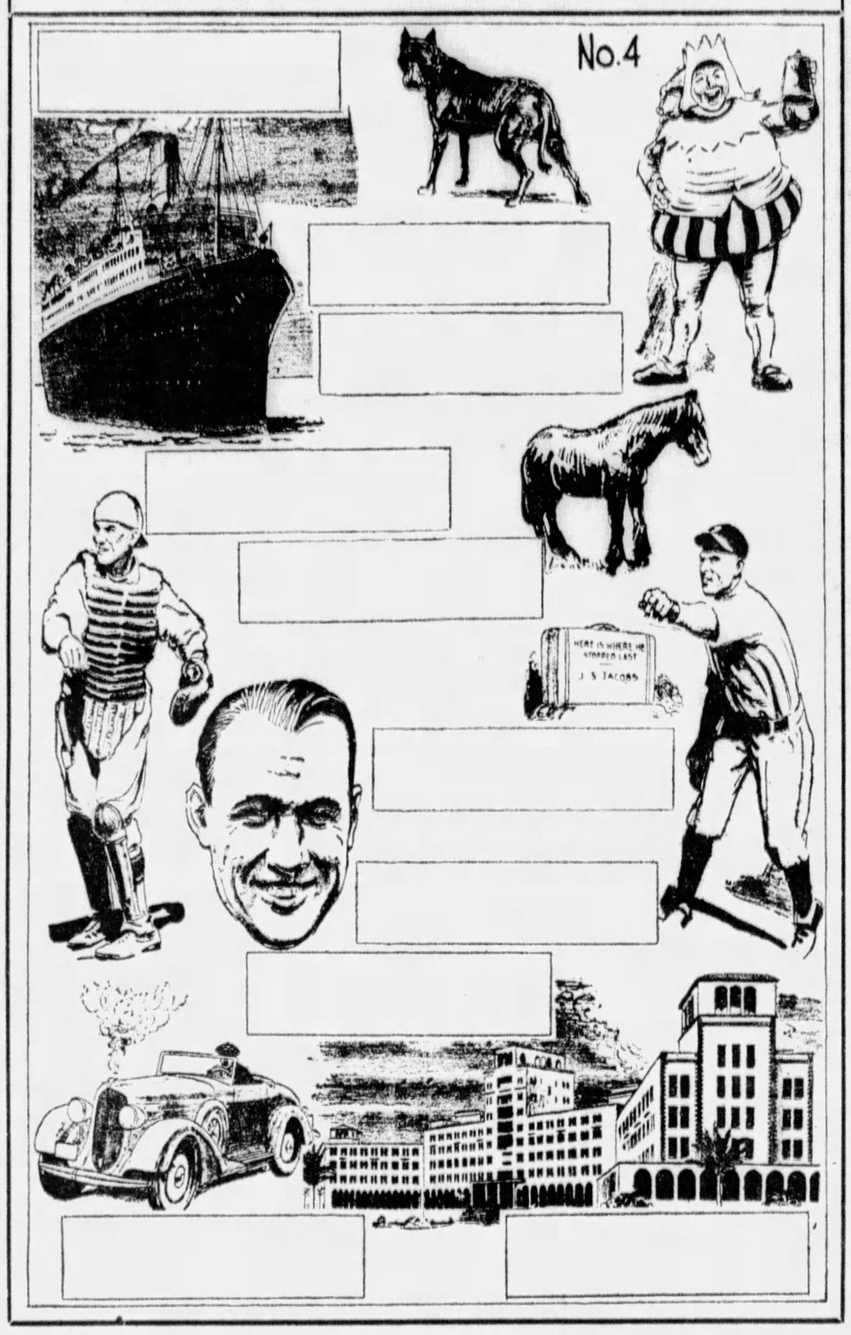
RIPLEY'S PUZZLERS



You'll Find the Correct Answers Hidden in Today's Sun-Telegraph Want Ads

HERE ARE THE RULES . . . CAREFULLY READ THEM!

1—Everyone is eligible to participate in the "Ripley Puzzlers," except employees of the Sun-Telegraph and their families.

2—Every day from July 11th to August 9th, inclusive, 10 Ripley "Believe It or Not" pictures (without descriptions) will be published in addition to the regular Ripley Sport page feature. The description to each picture will be published in the Classified Ad columns.

3—The new "Ripley's Puzzlers" contest consists in finding the descriptions in the Classified Ads, clipping them out, and placing each under the picture to which it refers. The words making up each description will appear as a single unit in one place.

4—Hold all of the pictures until you have 30 complete sets of 10 each—300 pictures in all. Then send them to the "Ripley's Puzzlers" Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Telegraph Square, Pittsburgh, Pa.

5—All entries must be postmarked not later than Saturday, August 12th, at midnight. No entries will be returned to the sender.

6—Twenty all expenses paid 5-day trips to the Chicago World's Fair will be awarded as the prizes. The 20 entrants sending in the most nearly correct and the most neatly prepared complete set of pictures at the close of the contest will be awarded these trips.

7—A committee of judges will be appointed by the Sun-Telegraph to determine the successful contestants. All entrants agree to accept the decision of these judges as final. In case of ties, a duplicate award will be given to each tying contestant.

8—It is not necessary to purchase the Sun-Telegraph to compete. This newspaper may be examined at the office or at the public libraries free of charge, and if you wish you may copy or trace the pictures from the Sun-Telegraph and then assemble the sets from the copies you have made.

It Isn't Too Late to Start

For readers who failed to get Contest Pictures Nos. 1, 2 and 3, which appeared in Wednesday's and Thursday's Sun-Telegraph, back copies of these editions are available in the Circulation Department of the Sun-Telegraph. These editions, containing the first three "Puzzlers," will be mailed to you upon receipt of six cents. Address Circulation Department "B," Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. This will start you in the contest on the same basis with all others.

GUARD GUNNERS SCORE HITS ON OLD BARN

MT. GRETNA, Pa., July 14.—(AP.)—Artillerymen of the Pennsylvania National Guard shot the door off an abandoned barn, sent shells through its windows, and blew holes in its roof as they engaged in practice firing on natural targets yesterday.

Both the 109th and 176th Field Artillery used one-pounders instead of their 75 and 155-millimeter guns as they fired on ranges of between 2,000 and 3,000 yards.

Today they were to do their first service firing with their regular equipment instead of the sub-caliber weapons, the 109th firing shells weighing about 30 pounds, while the 176th sends 100-pound missiles into the hills of the Indiantown Gap reservation.

The 1st Battalion, 109th Infantry, returned to Mt. Gretna from Indiantown Gap late yesterday, having been delayed by the outward movement of the 1st Battalion of the 110th, under Maj. James McGee, of Washington, Pa.

Word was received yesterday of the promotion of Capt. Ray Uhlinger, of Pittsburgh, to major in the 176th Field Artillery. Maj. Uhlinger continues in his present command, the 2nd Battalion.

ARMY FLIER DIES IN BLAZING SHIP

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., July 14.—(AP.)—Flaming death cut short the career of Second Lieut. Robert M. Arrington, of Baltimore, killed here in the crash of an army airplane in an apple orchard half a mile from here.

Arrington, on his way back to Selfridge field, Mt. Clemens, Mich., after a training flight to Mitchell Field, New York, stopped at the Middletown air intermediate depot yesterday to refuel.

Taking off, he apparently tried to climb too fast and his engine stalled about 1,000 feet up. Witnesses said the plane rebounded about 25 feet into a tree, fell back and burst into flames.

Arrington was trapped in the craft and rescuers were powerless to aid him.

Leaking Gas Fumes Bring Police, Firemen

Seepage of gas fumes from a tank in the basement of the Suburban General Hospital, Bellevue, resulted in a call to police and firemen late yesterday. Fire Chief J. E. Wills and Police Chief Dan Rosemeier donned gas masks and closed valves of the offending tank, pending repairs.

HORSESHOE ACE IN EXHIBITION

Blair Nunamaker, world champion horseshoe pitcher, thrilled more than 300 people at an exhibition at the Homewood-Brushton Y. M. C. A. last night.

He is on his way to the Chicago World's Fair, where he will defend his title to all challengers at Soldiers Field between July 27 to 31. Nunamaker, last March, defended his title successfully in Florida by defeating the Canadian champion in six straight games. In one of these games he pitched 96 ringers.

Once he pitched 140 horseshoes in 10 minutes, out of which he made 110 ringers.

The champion, who lives in Cleveland, has been pitching horseshoes for 10 years.

M. E. Church Adopts $4,500,000 Budget

CHICAGO, July 14.—(AP.)—A budget of $4,500,000 for the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church was decided on yesterday by the World Service Commission.

Orrin W. Auman, treasurer of the commission, said that a new rule was adopted restricting the right of churches, groups within churches and individuals to designate the use of money contributed.

WOMAN HERE GAUGES STARS

What is believed to be a record was established yesterday when Mrs. Bertha G. Crissman measured the distance from the earth to her two hundred and seventieth star.

She has been measuring stellar distances at the Allegheny Observatory for about 12 years.

Mrs. Crissman has been working under the direction of Zaccheus Daniel, assistant astronomer in charge of the paralax study for the observatory.

Upon the completion of the survey it is expected that the data compiled will be a valuable contribution to the studies on the size of the universe.

POSTMAN FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., July 14.—(AP.)—The body of Nelson Voss 25-year-old Edwardsville mail carrier, was found yesterday near a highway seven miles east of Edwardsville, pierced both by a shotgun charge and a rifle bullet.

Officers theorized that the killer halted Voss a quarter of a mile from where his body was found, forced him to abandon his motor car, and marched him to the scene of his death.

An opened pocket knife, which officers thought the mailman drew in a last attempt to save his life, was found on the ground near the body.

BLAST TRAPS 2 IN FIRE PLOT

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 14.—(AP.)—Two men were burned, one seriously, early today in an explosion and fire which police describe as an incendiary attempt to destroy an unoccupied house.

Officers say Ben Legnosky, 30, and Joe Valosky, 30, both of Grant Town, told them they were hired to burn the dwelling, owned by Martin Warhol, also of Grant Town.

The gasoline they were using exploded, burning Legnosky critically, police say the men told them. Valosky was burned and then cut in a leap from a second story window.

Despite burns over half his body, Legnosky drove four miles in an automobile before collapsing. Valosky, found at the scene of the fire, at first said he had been slugged and placed in the burning house, but later, officers asserted, admitted an arson plot to get insurance.

shall be and the same is supplemented and amended to read as follows:

SECTION 2. For each plan for new building shall be five dollars ($5.00), the same shall be paid. Provided, however, where two or more buildings are being built by one owner at the same time, on the same street, and between two intersecting streets, a single plan shall be sufficient, but the fee for each separate building shall be five dollars ($5.00), the payment of which shall be noted upon the plan, and in addition thereto the following fees for fixtures shall be paid:

For the first 100 fixtures	50c each.
For the second 100 fixtures	40c each.
For the third 100 fixtures	30c each.
For the fourth 100 fixtures	20c each.
All over 400 fixtures	10c each.

There shall be no fees for repairs or replacements of pipes, plumbing in old buildings, or for the remodeling of plumbing in old buildings where no additional fixtures are to be installed.

When $5.00 is paid for inspectional services for roughing-in for future fixtures no additional fees shall be paid when fixtures are set other than the 50 cent charge for each fixture.

Fee on shower head over bath tub to be eliminated.

SECTION 3. That any ordinance or part of ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same effects this ordinance.

NO. 159

AN ORDINANCE Authorizing the release of five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars reserved for liquidated damages on the contract entered into between the City of Pittsburgh and John F. Kunz Company for "The improvement of Mt. Washington roadway, by constructing a viaduct extending from Arlington avenue to a point about 410 feet northeastwardly therefrom; and by constructing a bridge crossing over the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and a viaduct approach leading thereto, extending from a point about 136 feet west of South Eighth street to a point about 100 feet west thereof, Contract No. 2, Foundations," Mayor's Office Contract No. 9295, Box N. 446.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the City Controller be and he is hereby authorized to release five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars retained by the city under the provisions of Section 4 of the Supplementary Specifications of the contract between the City of Pittsburgh and the John F. Kunz Company for "The improvement of Mt. Washington roadway, by constructing a viaduct extending from Arlington avenue to a point about 410 feet northeastwardly therefrom, and by constructing a bridge crossing over the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and a viaduct approach leading thereto, extending from a point about 136 feet west of South Eighth street to a point about 100 feet west thereof, Contract No. 2, Foundations," as the steel work is erected on the foundations, and there exists no reason why the city should further retain this money, and as the U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Company have notified the city under date of June 14, 1933, that the release of these moneys will in no way impair the obligation of the bond on this contract.

SECTION 2. That the Mayor be and he is hereby authorized and directed to issue and the City Controller to countersign a warrant in the amount of five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars and to charge the same to the moneys set aside from Code Account No. 221-M, Mt. Washington roadway, for this contract.

SECTION 3. That any ordinance or part of ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this ordinance.

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

VEAL ROASTED GAME FASHION—1 slice veal, 2 small onions, 1 tablespoon butter, ¼ cup minced celery, 1 cup bread crumbs, ¼ pound fat salt pork, ½ bay leaf, ½ cup celery leaves, 1 cup boiling water, 1 bouillon cube.

Spread the veal and roll, with crumbs mixed with butter and enough salt and pepper to season veal. Roll loosely and fasten with skewer. Cover with thin slices of pork and onion. Put bay leaf and celery leaves in pan and add the hot water. Roast in hot oven 45 minutes, basting frequently. Add a little water to pan as needed. Add a bouillon cube to the pan gravy, thicken slightly with one tablespoon flour rubbed to a paste with a little cold water. Serve hot.

* * *

PECAN CHERRY ANGEL CAKE—1¾ cups egg whites, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons cream of tartar, 2 cups sifted granulated sugar, 1½ cups flour, 1½ teaspoons vanilla, ¾ cup chopped pecans, ¼ cup maraschino cherries.

Add salt to the egg whites and whip until foamy on a flat platter. Add cream of tartar and continue beating until eggs are stiff. Fold in sifted sugar with a knife or spatula, one tablespoonful at a time, then flour sifted four times. Add flavoring, floured nuts and cherries. Add one and one-half tablespoons water. Mix. Bake in ungreased angel food tin 60 to 80 minutes, increasing heat during the last 15 minutes.

* * *

SPICY BREAD PUDDING—1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 cup sour milk, 2 tablespoons molasses, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 1 cup brown sugar, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ¼ cup melted shortening, ½ cup flour, ¼ teaspoon cloves, ¾ cup raisins, ½ teaspoon salt.

Combine the crumbs and milk. Let stand five minutes. Cream shortening and sugar, add molasses. Sift flour with other dry ingredients. Add crumbs and milk, then raisins. Mix thoroughly. Pour into well-buttered baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, about 45 minutes.

* * *

GREEN THREE-LAYER CAKE—½ cup shortening, 1¼ cups sugar (sift before using), 2 eggs (beat until light), 2 cups cake flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 2-3 cup milk, vanilla (I use 2 or 3 teaspoons).

Cream shortening thoroughly, add sugar slowly, beating until very light and of creamy consistency. Add beaten eggs and part of flour which has been sifted with baking powder. Add milk, a small amount at a time and remainder of the flour. Add flavoring and mix well. Divide batter evenly, pour into four large greased and floured layer cake pans. Spread batter very thin, just to cover bottom of pans. Bake in moderate oven at 400 degrees for about 15 minutes. Cool and remove from pans and put together with the following filling and frosting.

* * *

COCOA ALMOND FILLING AND FROSTING—6 tablespoons butter, 3 cups confectioner's sugar, 8 tablespoons cocoa, ½ teaspoon almond extract, 1-3 cup cream.

Cream butter (do not melt), add sugar and cocoa a little at a time, beating until very light and of a creamy consistency. Add flavoring and cream, more, if necessary, to make the icing soft enough to spread. Spread thickly between layers and put a thin layer on top and sides of cake. With pastry tube (using the tip for a rose border) put icing up and down sides of cake to represent bark of a tree. Cover top with chopped pistachio nuts. If latter are not available use chopped browned almonds.

* * *

NOAH'S ARK—2 loaf cakes, about 9x4 inches, white frosting, colored frosting or chocolate, one package animal crackers.

Invert a large meat platter to serve as the base of the ark. On this place one of the loaf cakes, having a slice cut from the top to make it perfectly flat. Frost all over with white frosting. Now cut the other cake from corner to corner, making a triangle, which makes the roof for the ark. Place this on top of the first cake and frost it with colored frosting. Use a little of it to outline windows and a door. Place a graham cracker at the door, one end resting on table for gangplank. Now place animal crackers in pairs by sticking toothpick into side of each, thus making them stand. Arrange them around the ark with some going up the gangplank. This makes an attractive centerpiece for the table. Serve each child with a slice of cake and a pair of animals.

* * *

MY BEST COOKIE RECIPE—1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup white sugar, ½ cup melted butter or shortening, 3 eggs, well beaten, 1 teaspoon salt, 4½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon cloves, 1 cup chopped nuts (blanched almonds are best).

Combine ingredients, form in a roll and place in icebox. Slice and bake when desired.

* * *

MY OATMEAL BISCUITS—1¼ cups flour, ¼ cup lard, ¼ cup sugar, 1 cup oatmeal, 1 cup milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Put in melted shortening, oatmeal, sugar and milk. Mix well. Cut and bake.

* * *

HASENPFEFFER—1 wild or tame rabbit, jointed, 3 large onions, sliced, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 4 bay leaves, 8 whole cloves, 8 whole allspice, cider vinegar or red wine.

Place all in a jar or granite pan, weight down with plate and stone for four days, being sure that the meat is well covered with the vinegar. Drain off all liquid and onions, roll rabbit in flour and fry brown in half butter and lard. Add the onions and liquid with spices a little at a time until all has been added. Sprinkle 3 tablespoons of flour over all and cover pan, allowing to simmer over low flame until meat is very tender. Serve with steamed or mashed potatoes.

* * *

CHERRY SOUP—1 large can red cherries, 3 cinnamon sticks, sugar to taste, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, bread cubes fried in butter.

Boil cherries, cinnamon stick and sugar together. Melt butter in frying pan and stir in flour until smooth. Add to this some of the cherry juice, enough to make a thin smooth paste. Add this to the cherries and continue cooking for 10 minutes. Before serving add bread croutons. Very simple, but delicious. Fresh red cherries may be used when in season. May be served as a soup course or often cold as a dessert sauce or as a relish.

* * *

CHOCOLATE SPONGE CAKE—5 eggs, 1 cup sugar, ½ lemon (rind and juice), ¾ cup cake flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons cocoa.

Sift sugar, flour and cocoa before measuring. Measure flour, add salt and sift three times with cocoa. Separate eggs. Grate rind from one-half lemon without cutting the lemon and add to the egg yolks. Cut lemon and extract juice. There should be 1½ tablespoons. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry, and add half the sugar a little at a time, still using egg beater. Beat egg yolks thick, add lemon juice and beat very light. Add remainder of sugar, a little at a time, to egg yolks, beating all the time. Pour together. Sift flour and cocoa into egg mixture gradually cutting and folding.

Bake for one hour in ungreased angel cake pan, at 325 degrees. Invert pan and leave until cool. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

* * *

BEEF STEW—1½ pounds young beef, cubed, 2 tablespoons lard or bacon fat, 3 tablespoons flour, 4 large potatoes, cubed, 4 large carrots, diced (not too small), 1 can peas, 1 tablespoon sugar, salt and pepper to taste.

Brown meat in lard or bacon fat, add flour and stir until browned. Add 1 quart of water and cook 45 minutes, slowly adding more water as needed. Add potatoes and carrots, cook until tender. Add peas, sugar, salt and pepper and simmer 10 minutes. This recipe serves six.

* * *

BRAISED LAMB WITH SPAGHETTI— A LA CALIFORNIA—Start the sauce first—then the meat and lastly the spaghetti.

For the Sauce—About 2 quarts of canned or chopped fresh tomatoes—add about 1 pint of good soup stock, about 3 tablespoons chopped peppers, a piece of bayleaf and ¼ teaspoon soda. Put over low fire and cook until thickened to the consistency of cream soup. Now dice up:

2 green peppers, 1 medium onion, 4 or 5 stalks celery, about ½ clove garlic (minced).

Fry all these slowly in butter or suet until yellow. Add a little stock to moisten. Now pass the tomato base for the sauce through a strainer, using the back of a spoon to mash through all that will. Add the onion, pepper and celery mixture.

This mixture may be thickened by using tapioca, cornstarch or plain flour, instead of the slow cooking process. Season with salt, pepper, lemon juice, A-1 sauce, Worcestershire sauce, a very little dry mustard—to taste.

For the Meat—2 pounds loin or leg of lamb (cut into 1-inch squares).

Beef suet.

Fry the diced meat with the suet until a rich brown. Shake over it a little flour, moisten with some good stock. Cover tight and place in the oven to bake slowly, until tender.

For the Spaghetti—Use 2 packages of spaghetti, break in 4-inch lengths and throw into boiling, salted water, about 5 minutes. Blanch under cold water and cool.

Place half of the spaghetti in a well-buttered, good-sized, baking dish, then over this pour the meat mixture, then the balance of the spaghetti and over all pour the prepared sauce—enough to moisten well but not to quite cover.

Sprinkle over fresh crumbs and some butter. Put back into oven to bake until done. Before serving put under broiler flame to brown crumbs lightly.

Serve this dish accompanied by shoestring or French fried potatoes, baking powder biscuit and lettuce and cabbage salad. Garnish the baked dish with strips of pimento.

The sauce may be made the day before if desired.

Some of the sauce may be reserved, add to it some whipped cream and serve along with the dish.

* * *

POTATO FLOUR MUFFINS—4 eggs, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ cup potato flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 2 teaspoons ice water, 1 tablespoon sugar.

Beat whites of eggs very stiff and dry. Add salt and sugar to beaten yolks and fold in the egg whites. Sift flour and baking powder twice and thoroughly beat into egg mixture. Add ice water last. Bake in a moderate oven 15 to 20 minutes.

* * *

CHICKEN BOUDONS—1 four-pound chicken, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 cup cream, 1 cup canned mushrooms, ½ cup butter, ¼ cup onions (chopped fine), ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon mace, 3 eggs (well beaten), ½ pound lean pork.

Boil the chicken until tender and cut into small pieces.

Heat butter, cook onions in butter 5 minutes, do not brown, add bread crumbs, cream, mushrooms and seasonings. When heated through take from the fire and add the eggs, chicken, ground pork. Mix all well and put into molds that have been buttered and steam 3 hours.

* * *

ENGLISH STEAK AND KIDNEY PUDDING—1 pound round steak (cut into inch cubes), 1 large onion, 3 lamb kidneys (cut up). Make a stew, frying the onions first, browning the meat and kidneys, adding a little water, and stewing for half an hour. Pepper and salt to taste. Make a dough of the following: 1 cup flour, ½ pound suet chopped fine, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon baking powder, water to make soft dough, pat out—do not roll.

Place stew in a deep pan, the gravy, too, and put dough on top of stew, pressing it tightly at sides of pan. Take a cloth about the size of a napkin and cover over pan, securing with a string around the rim of pan. Place pan in pan of boiling water and let boil (steam) for about 3 hours. Do not let the water in the steamer come up high enough to run into stew.

This dish is famous in England. The Cheshire Cheese (an old restaurant) near Fleet street, features it every Thursday. Lord Byron, Charles Dickens, Sir Walter Scott and many others partook of it in the Cheshire Cheese.

* * *

FRUIT FILLED MAPLE CAKE—¾ cup shortening, 2 cups brown sugar, 2 egg yolks, 3 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup milk and ½ teaspoon salt.

Blend the shortening with the sugar and eggs. And sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk and bake in two 9-inch layer cake pans in oven 350 degrees, for 30 minutes.

Fruit Filling—Put ¾ cup evaporated milk, ¼ cup water, ¾ cups sugar in top of double boiler. Stir until sugar dissolves. Add ¼ cup chopped dates, ½ cup chopped figs and ¼ cup seeded raisins, ½ cup chopped walnuts (black). Cook until thick. Cool. Add walnuts after mixture has cooled.

Boiled Maple Frosting—1 cup brown sugar, ½ cup water, one-sixteenth teaspoon cream of tartar, whites of 2 eggs.

Dissolve sugar and cream of tartar in water and cook until threads of two inches form when dropped from spoon. (Syrup should not be stirred during process of cooking). When boiled to right temperature pour gradually into stiffly beaten egg whites, beating continually until the right consistency to spread on cake.

* * *

WALNUT DEVIL'S FOOD—Part 1—½ cake chocolate, 1 cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons sugar. Part 2—2 cups sugar, ½ cup butter (scant), 2 eggs, 1 cup black walnut meats, ½ cup buttermilk or thick clabber, 2½ cups pastry flour, 1 teaspoon soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cook Part 1 until thick, let cool. Cream butter and sugar, add 1 unbeaten egg and beat, then the second egg and beat. Add the cooled Part 1 and 1 cup of flour at a time into which the salt has been added. Beat this mixture vigorously (this is the secret). Add nut meats slightly floured. Then lastly add the ½ cup of sour milk into which the soda has been dissolved. Then beat again. Bake in a slow oven.

Icing—2½ cups sugar, 3 squares chocolate, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup boiling water, ½ cup black walnut meats, vanilla.

Mix first four ingredients and boil until very soft ball forms in cold water. Set aside until cool. Beat until creamy, then add nuts and a little hot water at a time for the right consistency to spread. Add vanilla.

* * *

MOSS ROSE CAKE—2 cups cake flour (sifted before measuring), 2 teaspoons baking powder, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 2 cups sugar, 4 eggs, 1 cup fresh milk, ½ teaspoon almond or ½ teaspoon rose extract.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together twice. Sift sugar and add beaten eggs, beat 12 minutes, using rotary beater. Heat milk to boiling point, remove from fire and add flavoring, then set aside. Add flour to egg mixture little at a time, beating well after each. Then add hot milk all at once. Beat three minutes. Bake in three-layer tins greased and lined on bottom with waxed paper, at 350 degrees about 40 minutes. Frost with following icing:

THE COOK'S TOUR — Honey Drop Cakes

Heat slowly ¾ of a cup of honey with ¼ of a cup of butter. When mixture is warm, beat well together and add ½ teaspoon of cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon of cloves.

Sift flour, then measure 2 cups. Reserve ½ cup and resift balance with ½ teaspoon of soda; add part to honey butter mixture when cooled.

Add 1 beaten egg and 1 tablespoon of water and more flour, also 1 cup of raisins which have been cut into small pieces.

Add enough flour to make a dough that will hold its shape. Drop by spoonfuls on greased tin and bake in 375 degrees Fahrenheit oven for 10 minutes.

Certain Wild Plants Add Variety to the Diet

Pokeweed, Sorrel, Corn Salad and Other Greens Can Be Prepared in Tasty and Nutritious Dishes.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator From New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Many persons are afraid to try new foods. Each day finds them eating the same familiar articles. They talk of the monotony of their diet, yet make no effort to change it. They want "something different to eat," but appear not to find it. If only they would look carefully they would find at the vegetable market a plentiful supply and a great variety of foods that would solve their problem.

Pokeweed shoots are widely prized and popular in the South. The shoots are thick, looking not unlike asparagus stems. The plant pushes out of the ground in early spring. The shoots should be cut when only about four inches tall and should be used before the leaves curl. They are prepared like asparagus and served with drawn butter. They are often cut and tied in bundles similar to the method used in preparing asparagus. The young shoots are equal in flavor and tenderness to asparagus and can readily be substituted for this vegetable.

The plant is native to North America. It is tall and bushy and possesses a heavy odor.

The various varieties of dock or sorrel are green vegetables obtained from the wild or cultivated plants. When young, the large, fleshy, tender root-leaves make excellent salads or greens. The Dutch and Germans use sorrel for soups. When so combined it gives a pleasing, sour taste. Creamed soups flavored with sorrel are delicious and will be welcomed by all members of the family.

There are many varieties of sorrel. Though the plant grows abundantly in certain sections of the country, it is little known and too infrequently used.

"Corn salad," also called "field salad," "marsh salad," or "lamb's quarter," is commonly found in the cornfields and wheatfields. There are many varieties. The young plant has a pale, bluish-green color and is easily recognized by its spoon-shaped leaves. The leaves form attractive shapes and designs. The rosette-type of corn salad is the most common variety used for food purposes.

It makes an excellent salad when combined with spinach, lettuce, celery or beets. When served as a cooked green it has a slightly "buttery" taste.

These valuable vegetables are best served as greens or salads. They should be used as soon as possible as they quickly wither and lose their flavor. They can be eaten raw, as greens, or in combination with other vegetables.

Bear in mind that these foods are "protective foods." In addition to furnishing variety to the menu, they supply important minerals and valuable vitamins. They lend a delicate flavor and taste to the meal and help improve appetite and digestion.

EVANS OPENS HEADQUARTERS

Campaign headquarters for Attorney Raymond D. Evans, candidate for nomination for a Common Pleas Court judgeship, were opened today in 314-319 Bakewell Building, Grant and Diamond streets. In addition to regular nominating petitions, a special petition in Evans' behalf is being circulated among lawyers.

Mrs. Loios D. McBride, in a statement saying many friends have asked her to run for Juvenile Court judge, today said she intended to delay final decision. She said:

"Judge Benjamin Lencher has demonstrated his admirable fitness for that post. He has not definitely declined to seek the nomination, and until he does so I will not announce my candidacy."

Judge Lencher is a county court judge, and will be a candidate for that place if he does not run for Juvenile Court.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

cups sugar, ½ cup water, 2 egg whites, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup cocoanut, 1 orange, juice and rind.

Boil sugar and water without stirring until it threads. Pour slowly into egg whites beaten stiff. Continue beating thick enough to spread. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Mix the 2 tablespoons sugar with cocoanut and orange juice and rind. Spread the icing between the layers, and then sprinkle with the cocoanut mixture. Cover the top and sides with the icing and then sprinkle the rest of the cocoanut mixture over the top of the cake.

* * *

FILLED DUMPLINGS — One pint milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 egg white, 1 tablespoon butter, 4 egg yolks, fruit (peaches or plums.)

Scald 1 pint milk, add enough flour to make stiff and cook until smooth; take from fire, add one tablespoon butter and one teaspoon salt, set aside to cool, then add three yolks and one whole egg beaten and enough flour to make a stiff dough. Place on floured board, roll out about ¾-inch thick, cut in squares about 4 inches large, place a peach or blue plum in center of each square. Pinch edges together so that the fruit is covered and drop into boiling water. Cover and boil 20 minutes. Take dumplings from water, place on large platter, cut open. Sprinkle each with sugar and butter slightly browned. Then some crushed vanilla wafers.

* * *

BRAN BUTTERSCOTCH REFRIGERATOR COOKIES—1 cup butter or butter substitute, 2 cups brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup all-bran, 3 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder.

Cream butter and add sugar; add eggs and bran. Mix well. Sift flour with baking powder and add to first mixture. Shape into rolls about three inches in diameter, wrap in waxed paper and store in refrigerator. When thoroughly chilled and firm, slice and bake on cookie sheet in hot oven for about 12 to 15 minutes. This will make 60 cookies.

* * *

MEAT SALMAGUNDI—1 pound hamburger, 5 tablespoons bacon fat, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, ½ cup chopped celery, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 cup diced cooked carrots, ½ cup cooked peas, 2 cups water, 3 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour.

Heat bacon fat in frying pan, then add hamburger and onion. Cook until slightly brown, then add chopped celery and peppers and diced carrots. Last, add the cooked peas and water. Cover pan and cook slowly, 15 minutes. Stir frequently. Melt butter and add flour, add milk and cook until thick. Serve on toast garnished with finely chopped parsley. Two cups left-over gravy may be added to the cooked meat and vegetable mixture instead of making the creamy sauce with the milk. Serves six.

HUNTERS' DINNER

1 pound ham (or ham butt), 1 pound bacon.

Cut up ham and bacon into small pieces, fry in hot pan until well done, turning over and over, when done, turn all, including grease into a large kettle and add the following:

1 can tomatoes, ½ can corn, 1 can lima beans, 1 can mushrooms, 1 can spaghetti.

Pour a little water into the spider, boil up to rinse out and put this in also. Heat to boiling point, then add salt and pepper to taste and serve on toast.

* * *

COCOA SPONGE CAKE — 6 eggs, whipped very light, add very slowly, 2 cups white sugar and continue beating, then add 1½ tablespoons cocoa, ½ teaspoon vanilla, sift 2 cups flour (cake) and 2 teaspoons baking powder, together 5 times, and last add 12 tablespoons hot milk. Mix well. Bake in tube pan in slow oven 200 degrees, 15 minutes, then raise to 350. Bake one hour or until done. Invert pan until cake is cool, and cover with icing. Main point is continue beating cake while mixing.

Revengeful People Hamper Their Own Lives

Is a man "entitled to walk out of marriage," scotfree, when he wants to—

Or should he be made to pay, and pay, for having hurt the little woman's feelings when he fell out of love with her?

That's the question before the house today.

An ex-husband, whose one time wife had him thrown in jail and kept him there, when his business went flooey and he couldn't keep up his alimony, started it

And we said alimony was a racket and that no self-respecting woman would demand it unless she were old, or ill.

That was the signal for Rose to barge into this department with fire in her eye.

"He should be punished!" is her theme song, and she tells her own sad tale as Exhibit A to prove it. We don't doubt that plenty of femmes will receive her view with whoops of enthusiasm.

How about you?

Dear Miss Elsie Robinson:

I think you are being very unfair when you say that alimony is not fair to men. I will tell you why I think so.

I have been married for nearly five years and have a boy who is three. After being married for four years my husband decided that he married too young, and had missed "sowing his wild oats." He walked out and began to sow them. Is that being fair to me? Shouldn't he be made to pay for it?

FAVORS ALIMONY

Every married couple has its ins and outs. Our marriage was no different except that he didn't want any of the responsibilities connected with a married man's life. He wanted to "be free to come and go as he pleased." Those are his own words.

I've been lucky enough to get a job, but I can hardly make enough to keep myself decently alive. Do you think it is unfair to ask such a man to pay alimony? He doesn't make very much, now; he is in a growing business. But he has a car for his pleasure, and he likes a good time—and is pretty fond of women.

I still care very much for him. I have tried to make up with him often, but he seems to enjoy this irresponsible life. The untold heartaches and unhappiness I've suffered could hardly be compensated for by money, of course, but it hurts when you think a man is entitled to walk out of a marriage scot free, if it so suits his fancy. ROSE.

Should he walk out, scot free?

Well, why not, sister, if you can't get along?

HURTING OWN LIFE

No; I don't mean that I'm upholding your husband for being irresponsible. But I am saying that it isn't up to you to punish him for being that way. And when you come right down to it, the chances are that the way he has acted may be just as much your fault as his.

If he wanted to "come and go as he pleased," it might be because you had been a domestic tyrant and insisted that he come and go to suit you. The things wives sometimes do may not be excuses for what husbands do but they're often reasons.

But be that as it may, why not call quits if you can't get along, and each of you go your way decently, and without malice? When you insist on feeling sorry for yourself, and wanting to punish him—you're strangling and hampering your own life. You would better get over it, my dear, while you still have time to build yourself a happier future.

This man should, of course, be made to support his baby. But as for his paying for your hurt feelings—there is nothing fair about that, and you admit yourself that money couldn't pay for them.

Then why hang on to the idea? Revenge may cramp his style for a little while, but it will do you real and lasting harm.

A Sequel to Heart of a Wife

Dicky Told of Telephone Message From "Floss"

From the dancing light in Lillian's eyes I knew that she, too, had noted the contemptuous note in Dicky's voice as he spoke of Hugh Grantland, and that she was perfectly willing, nay anxious, to give him whatever chagrin lay in his realizing that the mysterious "Floss" had left a message for him with me.

I settled back among the pillows on my couch with a mean little thrill of anticipatory malice. Gone, effectually exorcised, were the jealous pangs which the voice and manner of "Floss" had given me. It was as if Dicky's gibe at Hugh, only one of hundreds which he has uttered in our lives together, had been like the releasing of a spring, shutting off one emotion and setting another in action.

My heart was suddenly hard against my husband. He knew as well as I that Hugh Grantland was going back to the ends of the earth when he had counted upon living in his own country for the rest of the life that had been keyed to such high and dangerous adventure, was giving up the long deferred but now suddenly realized hope of years, because he feared that Dicky's jealousy of him would make my life unhappy.

Dicky had sneered at this resolution. I remembered his gibe at the "Sydney Carton stuff" upon the night of Marion's rescue. But in the terrible stress of that night, with the shadow of death, and worse, lifted from me, and in my hysterical, joyous relief at Dicky's return from the auto-gyro flight, I had had no thought save for my husband.

DICKY SURPRISED

I had forgiven that gibe and others against the truest, most self-sacrificing friend, save Lillian, I ever had known, because of Dicky's jealousy of the army officer. I suppose, as in the case of many another wife, my ego had been subtly flattered by that jealousy. I had reasoned that it must have its roots in my husband's great love for me.

And all the time, for I told myself that the acquaintance of "Floss" with Dicky must be of longer duration than a couple of weeks, he had been on such terms with a cheap, vulgar type of femininity that she resented his keeping her in ignorance of his marriage.

I set my teeth upon the hope that Lillian would impale him skillfully, and I was not disappointed. She laughed mockingly as he told her to "come clean" with "whatever was eating" her.

"It's you that should come clean, Sweetie Pie," she gibed. "Madge and I haven't the slightest concern in the matter. It's only that a rather emphatic telephone message was left for you a few moments ago by a young woman who seemed ready to tear huge chunks out of the ambient atmosphere when she learned by rather blunt questioning that Madge was your wife instead of your mother."

Dicky does not possess a poker face, and although he made a patent effort to control his amazement and uneasiness, both emotions showed in his eyes and in the brick red flush that, beginning at the back of his neck, crept up over his face.

CAT-AND-MOUSE TACTICS

I sensed that it was a trying moment for him and felt a desire to get the thing over with. But memory of that gibe against Hugh quickly banished that thought. Suddenly Dicky turned to Lillian.

"If this is your idea of a joke, Lil," he growled, "I'll tell the world your sense of humor was amputated in infancy. What's this all about, Madge, or are you trying to pull my leg, too?"

"Oh, Madge, listen to the Britisher!" Lillian jibed. "But tell him all about it, dearie, in words of one syllable. Perhaps after an hour or two, the coffee will begin percolating."

"Will you shut up, Lil?" Dicky snapped. "Shoot, Madge! I want to get at the bottom of this nonsense."

But I, who know every line of his face, every inflection of his voice, every shade of expression in his eyes, was aware that he was distinctly uneasy, and that he was warily watching me. With two memories prodding me, those of his gibe against Hugh and of the insolence of "Floss," I was suddenly feline, willing to prolong the cat-and-mouse tactics which I knew would most irritate him.

"It really isn't anything much," I said airily. "I was foolish enough to be a bit chagrined when the young lady insisted that I must be your mother."

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

The spiked heel with a base scarcely larger than a quarter does not permit a solid foothold. The result is that the foot turns toward the outer side, ankles are weakened. On smart shoes this season toes are wider, heels lower and larger. Which means that women will develop better carriage, won't be disfigured by the protruding abdomen which is often a direct result of high heels that throw the spinal column out of alignment.

The weather beaten neck is a common sight; necks are dreadfully neglected. Use a massage cream every other night; on alternate nights apply a bleach made of equals parts of lemon juice and peroxide, one teaspoon of each will be more than sufficient for a single treatment. Avoid coat collars of rough fabrics, scarves that haven't a soft satiny finish. Friction is hard on necks; it discolors and roughens them.

There's nothing like five minutes of deep breathing exercises as a pick up measure at the end of the rush day and the beginning of the jolly evening. Stand before an open window, heels together, hips back, hands on hips, chest lifted. Inhale slowly through the nostrils until the diaphragm flattens, almost caves in, then exhale through the lips with a slow blowing out of the air. After two or three deep breaths, rest, repeat.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Cards of Exit

Cards of exit are just as important as cards that will take tricks, except in those rare instances when a player finds that the cards in his hands are sufficient to account for all the tricks or as many as he needs, either to fulfill his contract as Declarer or to defeat an opposing contract as one of the defending side. The value of cards of exit is not well enough appreciated by most Bridge players. They take their tricks where they find them, and usually take them just as rapidly as they can. As a matter of fact, perfect technique in play is never reached except by those who know how to time their trick-taking and how to decide what worthless cards to retain so as to provide exits from the hand—for often the card of exit means the certain defeat of a contract whereas without such a card the contract would be made.

Take as an example the hand below, which was played in Gothenburg, Sweden, recently, the holder of the South hand being Mr. Nils Hoglund.

South, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ Q J 10 8 7 3 ♡ A J 8 7 5 ◇ 6 5 ♣ —
♠ A K ♡ 9 2 ◇ 10 7 2 ♣ J 9 8 6 4 2	North West East South	♠ 6 5 4 2 ♡ Q 10 6 4 ◇ J 9 3 ♣ 7 3
	♠ 4 ♡ K 3 ◇ A K Q 8 4 ♣ A K Q 10 5

The bidding

South	West	North	East
2 ♡	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
6 ♣	Double	6 ♡	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

Though it must be admitted that the practical solidity of the minor suits furnishes some justification for the Opening Forcing bid of two in a suit, this bid is, I think, a little too strong. The Opening bid, however, probably had little to do with the eventual contract, although it may have made difficult the exchange of information regarding the unbalanced and non-fitting character of the North and South hands. The contract of six diamonds was a fairly natural contract, apparently dependent for its fulfilment upon nothing more vital than the break in trumps and an opportunity to ruff one or possibly two clubs.

West's Opening lead was, in my judgment, a poor one—namely, the diamond Ten. However, it must be conceded that the number of good leads at his disposal was not large. South won with the Ace and immediately returned a club, which was ruffed with the remaining trump in Dummy. He now returned to his own hand by leading a small heart, which was won with the King and took two more rounds of diamonds. The Declarer was fortunate enough to find that each opponent held three. Next the King and Queen of clubs were cashed, the Ace-Ten being retained. South now followed with the diamond 8, and here West made the defensive play that permitted South to make his contract.

Reasoning that his heart 9 was useless, he discarded it, whereupon South led the spade 4. West won this trick, but found himself in difficulties. His hand was now void of all cards except the spade Ace and three clubs. He returned the spade Ace, realizing that the club lead would be up to a tenace in the Declarer's hand, but this was ruffed with the Declarer's last trump, and the contract fulfilled—a result which could not have occurred had West retained the apparently worthless nine of hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION

North-South are vulnerable. The bidding:

South	North
1 ♠	2 ♣

You, South, hold:

♠ A K 10 9 5 ♡ K Q 9 7 ◇ 4 4 ♣ Q 6

What do you bid?

Answer: Two hearts. Although the hand contains four honor-tricks, partner's response may be on as little as one honor-trick and therefore a Forcing Rebid should not be made. However, you should bid your second suit in preference to rebidding spades, as this bid is more likely to evoke a second response from your partner, if he has only very slight additional values. By bidding two hearts you are showing him the two-suited nature of your hand, and in so doing you are making a much stronger bid than a two-spade bid would be. The spades can be rebid later, if necessary.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

On a Party

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A boy and girl in their late teens were planning to go on a little picnic. Was it correct for the boy to offer her a dollar for the lunch she has to prepare at home?

S.

I am sure that the boy made the offer in the finest and most gracious of spirits, but it would have been better if he had allowed the girl to do this part of the party, and for himself planned to pay for some other part of the party.

The Shower

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My girl friend is going to become engaged very soon. She hasn't many girl friends or boy friends, and I would like to have a linen shower or a surprise party for her. I never attended a linen shower, and I don't know if boys and relatives are invited.

K.

Usually showers are given for only girl friends of the bride-to-be.

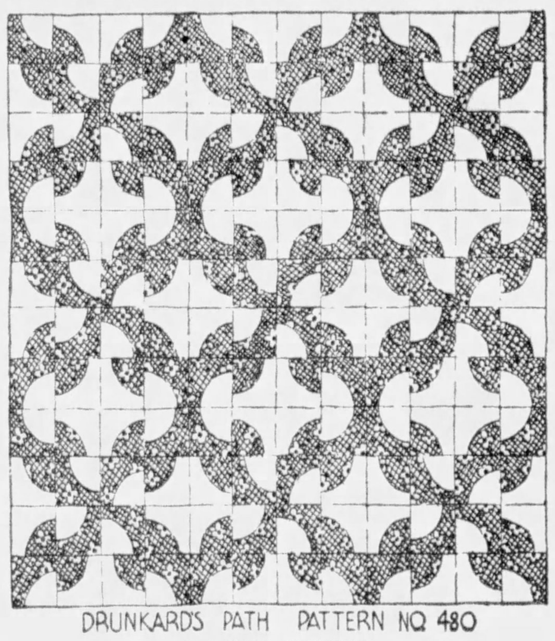
PATCHWORK QUILT PATTERN



DRUNKARD'S PATH PATTERN NO. 480

By LAURA WHEELER

The drunkard's path has always been pictured as most thorny and one to be avoided. It is rather astonishing then that the old-time quiltmaker chose to call something so choice as this lovely pattern the Drunkard's Path. It does indeed shift from side to side, but in doing this achieves a most decorative design. When done, the quilt, whether carried out entirely in patchwork blocks as shown, or in alternating patchwork and plain blocks, as is often the case, forms a lovely continuous pattern. Though it may look intricate, it is really formed by simple blocks made of but two pattern pieces that alternate in the two materials.

The pattern comes to you with complete simple instructions for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

Send 10c for this pattern to Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York City.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Know How to Treat a Burn

"He will not be scarred for life," was the verdict by the doctor to the anxious parents of a young child who had been scalded by hot water. Fortunately, the child had been rushed to a nearby hospital where immediate treatment was given. Since the World War great advancement has been made in the treatment of severe burns, and most unsightly and disabling scars are now prevented. Burns caused by sun, flame, hot liquids, hot metals or chemicals are usually more serious than they may seem at first. Too often the burn is neglected and medical attention is not sought until complications have appeared. The danger of disfiguring scars is always lessened by immediate and proper medical attention.

Dr. Copeland

Burns are divided into three classes, known as first, second and third degree burns. A first degree burn has redness without destruction of the underlying skin. A second degree burn has redness and also blister formation. The third degree burn is the most serious. It usually covers a broad area of the skin, with destruction of the underlying tissues.

A severe burn results in the development of toxins or poisons and these are absorbed, liberated in the blood stream and distributed throughout the body. These poisons may lead to many serious internal disturbances.

Everyone should know how to treat a simple burn. Moistened starch, flour or baking powder should be applied to the burned area. When the air is sealed from the damaged part the pain is decreased and the healing hastened.

In a severe burn never delay calling a doctor. The treatment requires expert supervision. The dead skin of the blisters must be cut away and the inflamed area cleansed. A freshly made 5 per cent solution of tannic acid in water is then painted over the burn. Only freshly made solution is used as a stale preparation is harmful rather than beneficial.

After this application the burned area should be covered with gauze that has been soaked in the tannic acid solution. This is held in place by bandages and not removed until the following day. The compress is applied daily and kept damp by occasional spraying.

Severe and serious burns often result from undue exposure to the hot sun during the summer months. Moderate exposure is the safest method of obtaining that desired coat of tan. Once you have a protective coat of tan, you need not fear sunburn.

Answers to Health Queries

J. H. Q.—My ankles swell and when I press upon the swollen part the flesh pits or dents. I am 56 years old. Have red spots or blotches on my legs at times. What would you advise?

A.—Have a careful urinalysis. This will determine the proper treatment. In the meantime watch your diet and keep your system clear. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

M. R. Q.—What causes my arms and hands to become numb?

A.—This is probably due to poor circulation. Build up the general health and your circulation will improve.

-:- Daughter a 'Stranger' -:-

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

Edna is proud of her first position as a typist. And the other night, having cashed her weekly check, she invited her mother to go to a movie with her. Next day, Edna said to me very gravely: "Do you know, I've never been so sorry for anything as I am that I took mother to see that picture last night. Honestly, it was awful. And you know mother! She's so sweet and unsophisticated—and all." I gasped but Edna didn't notice.

That gave me food for thought all day, amused thought and sober thought, one on the heels of the other. But when I got the mother's version of the evening, the whole thing was suddenly pathetic. The gap between mother and daughter is so wide and so unnecessary.

"Edna took me to a picture night before last,' she said, "and I nearly had a fit letting her watch two women fight over a man. But," she sighed placidly, "I don't think Edna realized what it was all about. I've brought her up to be a good girl and she's really awfully innocent for her age."

Imagine a mother and daughter living together, talking, sharing the same daily experience to a large extent, yet remaining so utterly blind to what really goes on in the mind of the other.

When did the first little crack in their mutual confidence begin the cutting of this deep chasm that now separates them? Was mother shocked at some childish confidence? Did mother read into innocent "crushes" some danger that lay only in her adult mind? Or has mother merely shut the girl out, by wearing her metallic armor of smug goodness as a sacred trapping that the intelligent girl of the new generation hates to crack?

Whatever it is that has made them such strangers, is a pity, and it may be that if the new young men and women would treat mother as another intelligent individual they'd be surprised.

Hints for the Household

A sliced banana added to apples when they are stewed improves the flavor.

If you have been using an enamel bowl for dyeing, it is often a problem how best to remove the stains. Mix together some coarse salt and paraffin and rub the bowl well with this. Wash well with warm, soapy water, then the stains will completely disappear.

For scorch marks on linen, mix one-half pint vinegar, two ounces fuller's-earth, one-half ounce shredded white soap, and the juice of two lemons. Boil until a thick paste is formed. Spread the paste over the marks, allow to dry, then wash out. Repeat the process if necessary.

To prevent milk from boiling over, rub the edge of the saucepan with a little butter.

To whiten discolored clothes, dissolve one teaspoon of cream of tartar in a quart of cold water. Put the clothes in and soak over night. When washed they will be as white as when new.

When kitchen towels are badly stained they should be dampened with cold water and rubbed well with yellow soap, or sprinkled with soap powder and quickly rolled up as tightly as possible. Leave for a few hours before putting into water. When washing and boiling the towels add to the water a little paraffin or turpentine, and resoap any obstinate stains, then rinse well and hang the towels in the open air to dry.

MENU WINNERS TO BE GIVEN SUNDAY

It was hoped to have announced the winner today in Contest No. 4 of the Sun-Telegraph Prudence Penny $100 weekly cash prize dinner test but, at the last minute, it was found impossible to assemble the three judges at any one hour yesterday.

They are all busy women with their social and club activities and their engagements for the day were such that they could not be brought together. They, however, are working on the entries today and the winners will be announced in the Sunday Sun-Telegraph.

Entries are beginning to roll in for Contest No. 5—that of the current week. The same amount in prizes is being awarded this week—$100. Entries do not have to be submitted before midnight Tuesday night and housewives may submit as many menus as they wish. There is an entry blank in today's Sun-Telegraph. If additional entry blanks are required just take a sheet of paper and copy the form on the printed blanks.

There is plenty of time to get in Contest No. 5 and win a share of the $100 in cash the Sun-Telegraph is again giving away this week. The first prize is $25, and that's something worth shooting at, isn't it?

Ben Franklin Route Gets U. S. Number

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 14.—This city will be the starting point of U. S. Highway 224, the new United States number of the Benjamin Franklin highway. The federal government has acquiesced in the request for a federal number for the highway between this city and Huntington, Ind. From New Castle east, motorists traveling over this highway will travel over 422 to Ebensburg, 22 to Reading, 422 to Philadelphia and 30 to the sea. West of Huntington, the route will bear No. 24 to Peoria, Ill., 34 to Omaha, Neb.; 30 to Salt Lake City, and 40 to the Pacific Coast.

Woman Wills $18,000 To Four Children

The four children of the late Elizabeth Zeiner, of 426 South Evaline street, were bequeathed her entire $18,000 estate in her will, filed for probate today. To Miss Bertha Zeiner goes $1,000 and to Bertha, Christian W., and Jacob W. Zeiner and Mrs. Helen L. Schade goes the balance of the estate. Christian and Jacob Zeiner are named executors.

Crack Locomotive En Route to Expo

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 14.—"The President Cleveland," crack passenger engine of the Baltimore and Ohio, which is in service between Washington, D. C., and New York, was undergoing special conditioning work here Thursday in preparation for the continuation of its journey to the Century of Progress at Chicago, where it is to go on exhibition.

GASOLINE STAND OPPOSED

Residents of the Perrysville avenue and Legion street neighborhood will be given a final opportunity to oppose the installation of a gasoline station on Monday in an injunction hearing.

The station would be placed on property belonging to Observatory Post No. 81, American Legion, which has been leased to the Vacuum Oil Company. The petition is being heard by Judge James H. Gray.

Joseph S. Corriols, Spanish vice consul, of 2620 Perrysville avenue, one of the principal objectors, testified yesterday:

"I object on account of the fumes and noise, and because our property will be depreciated about 50 per cent."

The two other plaintiffs are Joseph H. Duty and Nettie C. Gordon. The latter failed to appear, but will be called upon to testify if subpena servers can find her.

Man Dies of Poison Taken by Mistake

Isadore W. Jacobs, 51, of 5246 Forbes street, died yesterday in Montefiore Hospital from the effects of poison swallowed in mistake for medicine in his home July 6, according to the Coroner's report. Jacobs was engaged in the insurance business.

Thieves Loot Cafe In Shadow of Police Station

Within two blocks of the East Liberty Police Station, thieves early today broke into Frenchy's Restaurant, 5700 Penn avenue, and took enough food far a large picnic.

Included in the loot were six cases of 3.2 beer, six chickens, two legs of lamb, one ham, pork loins and a quantity of butter. The robbers forced a rear cellar window.

BLAST KILLS 7 AT REFINERY

EL DORADO, Ark., July 14.—(AP.)—Seven men were killed and three others injured in an explosion that spread a sheet of flame from a treating plant of the H. H. Cross oil refinery at Smackover yesterday.

The dead were O. L. Murphy, refinery superintendent; C. A. Soars, Kansas City consulting engineer; R. C. Burns, superintendent of the Simms oil refinery at Smackover, and Dudley Dutton, Monroe Winn, Jack Wagoner and H. T. Morgan, Cross refinery employes.

TOWNSHIP IN FIRST CLASS

Under an opinion today by Judge Samuel H. Gardner in Quarter Sessions Court, Jefferson Township will retain its first-class rating unless the residents vote otherwise.

Judge Patterson, in a ruling six months ago, reverted the township to the second class in accordance with the district's drop in population. The action was appealed on the strength of a measure passed by the last Legislature superseding the old township act.

Scheidemann's Kin Arrested by Hitler

BERLIN, July 14.—(INS.)—Secret state police today arrested and sent to concentration camps five relatives of the Socialist leader, Philip Scheidemann.

The action was understood to have been taken because of Scheidemann's recent articles attacking the Hitler government appearing in the Austrian press.

'Perfect Crabb' Sued for Divorce

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 14.—Is there anything in a name? Silas F. Crabb has sued Perfect Z. Crabb, of Butler, Pa., for divorce, alleging Perfect Crabb was cruel to him.

PIRATES CHEERED BY P. WANER'S RETURN TO FORM

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

Smith Proves His Value. | Cup Edge for France.
Makes Good as Starter. | McLarnin Still Firm.
Standard Ball Proposed. | Track Chief's Soft Job.

HAL'S RECORD BEST IN TWO MONTHS

MORE AND MORE, Hal Smith looks like the best new bet for the future among the Pirate pitchers. For a long time many local fans have been of the opinion that all Smith needed to become a winning hurler was a chance to work often enough to get control and confidence, and he has more than borne out that dope since Manager Gibson elevated him to a place among the regular starters. Yesterday's victory over the Braves was Hal's third straight win in three starts in 13 days.

Hal Smith

Up to today no other Pittsburgh pitcher has won three straight starts in the last two months, or since Heinie Meine took five decisions in a row from April 23 to May 15. Larry French today had three consecutive wins to his credit, but one of them was scored in a relief assignment. French won three successive starts in April, but at no time this season has Steve Swetonic, or Bill Swift or Waite Hoyt won more than two straight, and Leon Chagnon never got even that far. In winning his three games, Smith held the enemy to six runs all told and was scored on in only three of the 27 innings.

WHEN DURABLE CATCHERS are up for discussion, how about old Truck Hannah, formerly with the Tigers and Yankees and still doing duty behind the plate for Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League as well as serving in a coaching capacity? Few maskmen have stayed on the job longer than Hannah.

This is Truck's twenty-fourth season in professional ball. He has caught in more than 2,600 games, and as a pitcher throws on an average 100 balls a game, that means Hannah has received 260,000 deliveries in actual competition, which is handling a lot of leather. Los Angeles fans gave him a day recently, and he received enough presents to fill an automobile.

ONE OUTGROWTH OF the recent game between all-star National and American League clubs is a movement to standardize the baseballs used in the two major circuits. Whether it's a jackrabbit ball or one less lively, National Leaguers contend that the rival loops ought to employ the same kind of sphere.

A leader in the movement is Joseph A. Gilleaudeau, vice president of the Dodgers. Personally, he favors the lively ball, but he says that is not the point. The big thing, he believes, is that there should be no difference between the baseballs used.

"WHY SHOULD THE hitters in one league have an advantage over the hitters in the other, as the American Leaguers now have?" Gilleaudeau argues. "And why, as in the National League, should the pitchers have an advantage denied to the hurlers of the other circuit? The two major leagues get their ball players from the same prep school, that is the minor leagues, sandlots and colleges. Why should these players, after they reach the majors, have to work with entirely different baseballs? The National League might have won that game in Chicago had the lively ball remained in play for the full nine innings, for Chick Hafey's drive to Babe Ruth in the eighth would have carried into the stands to tie the score had it not been the so-called dead ball. I'm not chanting the wail of a loser, but mention this merely to show the unfairness of playing the same game with different types of equipment. It is ridiculous for the major leagues to use baseballs of different degrees of resiliency."

Rogers Hornsby

THE ASSERTION MADE by one of the Cardinals here early in the season that if St. Louis decided to drop Gabby Street the new manager would not be Rogers Hornsby, as generally surmised, is confirmed by Hornsby himself. Rogers declares he would not take the job even if it were offered to him.

The Rajah says he doesn't know where he'll be next season, but one thing he does know is that he won't manage the Cardinals. That's definitely out, he explains. "No official of the club has led me to believe that I have a chance to succeed Gabby Street," he said, "but even if the job of managing the club is offered to me I will not take it."

HORNSBY SAYS THE best two managerial jobs in the National League are in Chicago and Brooklyn. There is, of course, no chance of his going back to the Cubs, but while denying reports that he has discussed the Brooklyn post with Dodger officials he admits he would be interested in the berth if it were open.

Rogers wants it understood that he is not going after the Flatbush managership so long as Max Carey has it, but adds that if the club owners decide a change should be made he will be glad to be considered a candidate.

WITH THE EUROPEAN zone final between England and Australia nearing its conclusion and the United States team preparing to meet the winner in the inter-zone struggle starting next Friday, France awaits the outcome with the usual confidence of success for her own players in the challenge round for the Davis Cup and world tennis supremacy. Tennis men see a number of reasons why the French should feel so confident of another successful defense of the trophy, pointing out that the defending nation has several advantages. These include climate, courts, tennis balls (the type used in France being considerably different from our own), and the fact that the defending country does not have to play a preliminary match. A change in regulations is being urged to compel the cup defenders to compete in the preliminary rounds each year, just like the other countries, but under the existing rules France will appear only in the final.

IT IS CONTENDED that this condition has had much to do with the failure of the United States to lift the cup in spite of having at times a superior team. While the French have rested, the yearly campaign imposed on our Davis Cup players has been too long and too strenuous to render possible the best results.

When the first match was played in 1900 only two teams competed, the United States and the British Isles, but this year 34 countries were engaged. Cup competition extends from May through July, and with Wimbledon added the American players take part in from 25 to 30 matches. As a tennis match takes about as much out of an athlete as a football game or a 10-round boxing bout, they can hardly be 100 per cent fit when they reach the challenge round.

REPLYING TO THE offer made by Al Weill for a welterweight title match with Bep Van Klavern in New York, Jimmy McLarnin repeats his demand for a fat guarantee and will not listen to a percentage proposal. Weill is equally determined that no stipulated sum shall be put in the contract.

It probably means that McLarnin will not defend his crown in New York and will go ahead with his plans to fight Jack Hood in London. Weill comments that the refusal of fighters to gamble with promoters is one of the ills of the boxing game. He remarks that promoters are not in the business for their health and that if they can't keep going the fighters won't have any place to peddle their wares.

Glenn Cunningham

GEORGE BRESNAHAN, track coach at the University of Iowa, thinks he has the softest sports job in the world in handling that all-star team of American athletes on a European tour. "What can I teach a bunch like that?" asks Bresnahan. "All that I have to do is to keep 'em happy and my job is done." Certainly there would appear to be few worries for a coach in getting results out of a team made up of Glenn Cunningham, who ran a mile in 4:09.8; George Spitz, who has jumped higher than any other man ever did; Ralph Metcalfe, the present king of sprinters; Ivan Fuqua, 400-meter champion; Henry Laborde, the discus titleholder; Joe McCluskey, 3,000-meter steeplechase crown wearer; Johnny Morriss, 110-meter hurdle leader, and John Anderson, Olympic discus star.

BRITONS ANNEX DOUBLES, LEAD IN CUP PLAY

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 14.—(AP.)—Great Britain's doubles team of George Patrick Hughes and Fred Perry defeated the Australians, Adrian Quist and Don Turnbull, 7-5, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, today to give the mother country a lead of two matches to one in the European Zone Davis Cup final.

The victory gave Great Britain a commanding lead in the battle for the right to face the United States in the inter-zone final at Auteuil next week end.

The first pair of singles matches were divided yesterday as Jack Crawford, Australia's new Wimbledon singles king, defeated Henry W. (Bunny) Austin, and Fred Perry, England's top-ranked player, beat young Vivian McGrath.

With the final pair of singles scheduled for tomorrow, Crawford will have to beat Perry and McGrath must defeat Austin if Australia is to gain the inter-zone final.

The veteran British team that failed to get anywhere in the Wimbledon doubles while Quist and Turnbull eliminated the American champions, Ellsworth Vines and Kieth Gledhill, played splendidly paced tennis today.

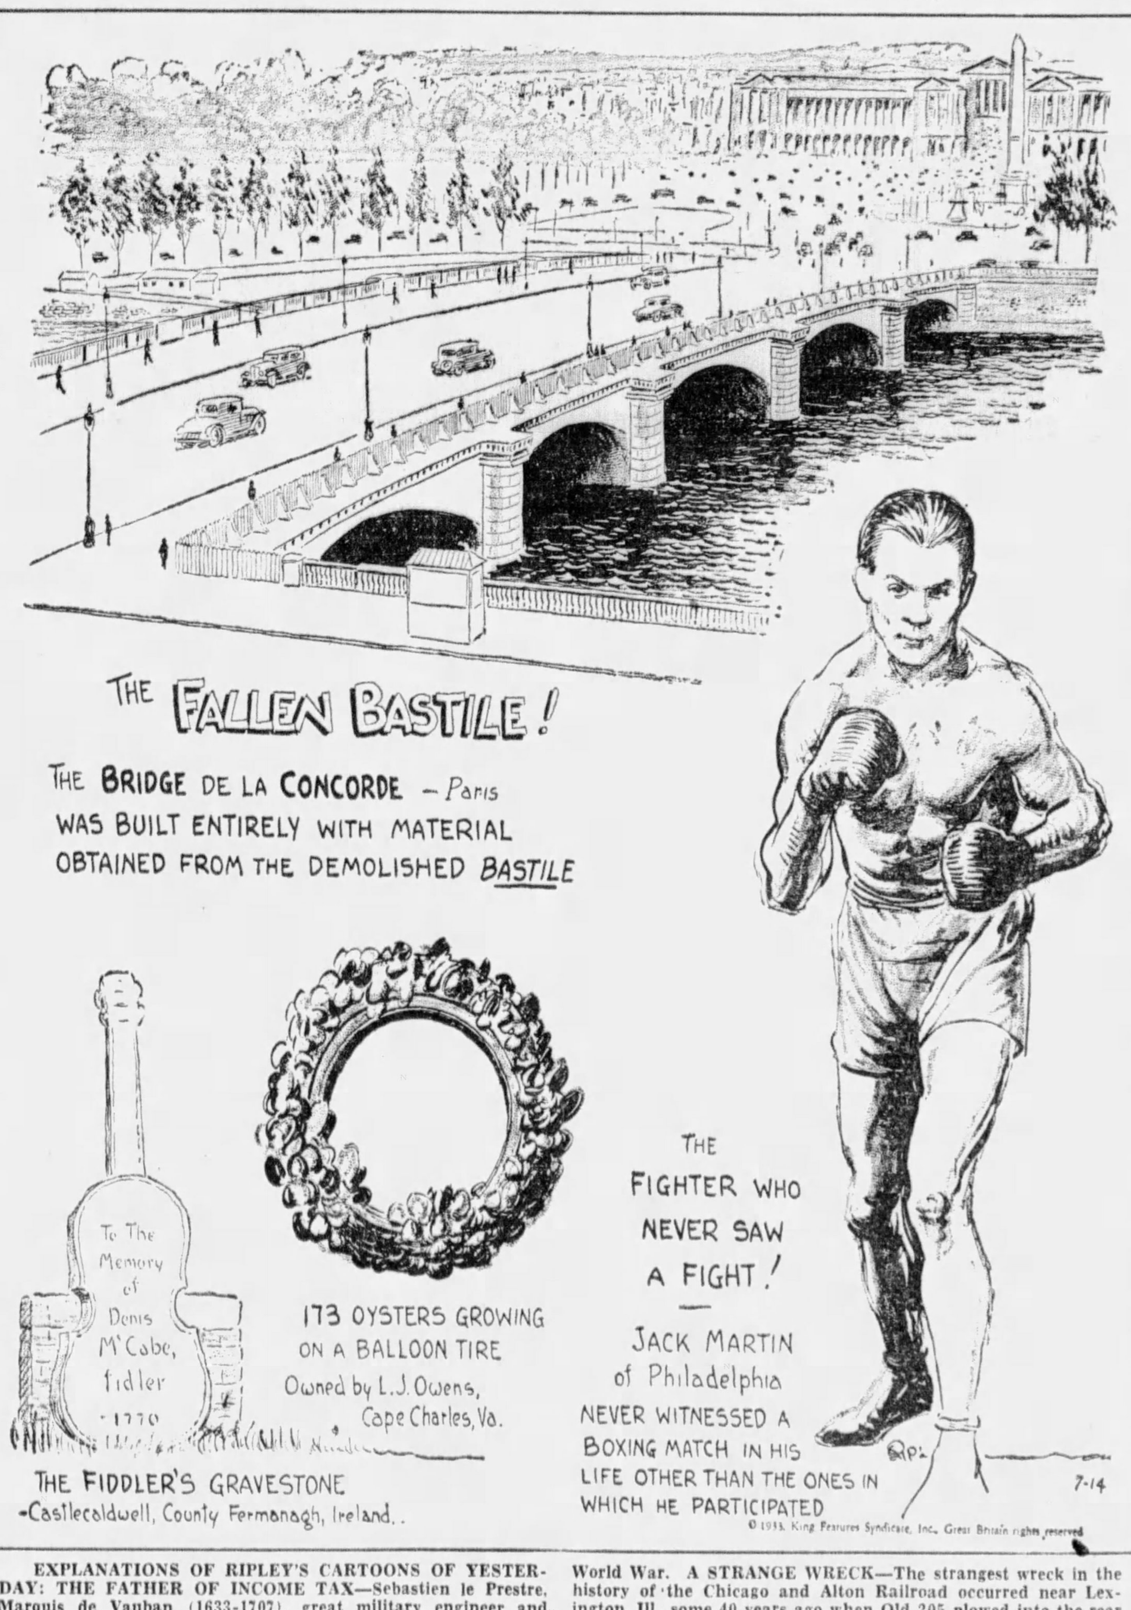
(On request, sent with stamped addressed envelope, Ripley will send proofs and details of anything depicted by him in these cartoons.)



EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE FATHER OF INCOME TAX—Sebastien le Prestre, Marquis de Vauban (1633-1707), great military engineer and marshal of France, is the inventor of the income tax. He suggested the "dime," a tax calculated on the basis of individual revenue, to King Louis XIV, of France, in 1707. The French government regarded Vauban's proposition with disfavor and ordered his book impounded. The French honored his memory on the tercentenary of his birth in May of this year, and recalled that, in addition to the income tax, Vauban is credited with the construction of 333 fortresses, some of which were active in the World War. A STRANGE WRECK—The strangest wreck in the history of the Chicago and Alton Railroad occurred near Lexington, Ill., some 40 years ago when Old 205 plowed into the rear end of a standing freight train and climbed on top of two loaded coal cars, berthing itself securely on the coal. No fire resulted, no injuries of any kind were suffered, and no wrecker was needed because the cars and engine were towed into the Bloomington shops just as they were. The photo from which I made my drawing was taken in Bloomington—16 miles from the scene of the accident.

SMITH SCORES VICTORY OVER BRAVES

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The admirable fight waged by Paul Waner toward the goal of the National League's best hitters has caught the fancy of Pirate fans who today were aware that Brother Paul is only a few steps from the charmed .300 circle.

Paul Waner

Paul's two hits of yesterday, while the Buccos were winning over the scrappy Braves, took him safely across the .290 hurdle, and he rammed out another drive that could have been called either way. This was a scorching grounder through Rabbit Maranville on which the Rabbit barely had time to drop his hands.

LINDY ADDS TO AVERAGE

Riding along with the Pirate right fielder in a common cause is Fred Lindstrom, who after the worst slump of his career, has been one of the league's most consistent batters in the past two weeks. Before Lindy started his present spurt he was groveling around with the .250 stickers, but Fred, with three more safeties yesterday, also is ready to knock at the door of the .300 society.

Adam Comorosky, who has been inserted into leftfield in place of the slumping L. Waner, is hitting out beyond the .300 mark, so it is not unreasonable to presume that ere another month has passed the Buccos ball hawks will show a collective average worthy of their names. P. Waner and Lindstrom have been hitting well over .300 since the club returned home.

BUCS WIN, 8 TO 3

The five safeties credited to P. Waner and Lindstrom yesterday, added to three more socks acquired by the sensational Arky Vaughan, helped the Pirates to achieve an 8-to-3 triumph over the Men of McKechnie. The Braves made no less than seven errors, Rabbit Maranville being charged with three of the misplays.

Hal Smith recorded his third straight triumph as he baffled the

Mrs. Hurd Winner In Griswold Final

EASTERN POINT, Conn., July 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of Philadelphia, today defeated Miss Jane Brooks, of Sparkill, N. Y., 4 and 3, to win the Griswold Cup golf tournament for the third time and gain permanent possession of the trophy.

The veteran Philadelphia links-woman came through with birdies at two important stages of the match, bagging one of them to go out in front at the eighth after a nip-and-tuck duel and another at the short fifteenth with a 25-foot putt for a two to end the match.

The ninth annual Washington-Greene County amateur golf championship will be staged at the Monongahela Valley Country Club on July 25, 26, 27 and 28.

YANKS WIN, SLICE NATS' LEAD TO ONE GAME

BUCS IN THIRD POSITION AS CARDS LOSE

Associated Press.

The Washington Senators, after a remarkable road trip, have found it increasingly difficult to shake off the New York Yankees since the clubs returned home.

The Yanks have been winning consistently since they got back to the Bronx, while the Senators have slipped and today only one game separated them in the race for the American League lead.

Running roughshod over the last-place St. Louis Browns, 12-0, the Yanks sliced the Senators' lead in half yesterday as the Chicago White Sox slammed out a 9-6 decision over the Senators.

YANKS TOP BROWNS

Vernon (Lefty) Gomez was the big factor in the Yankee victory, granting only five hits and not allowing a runner to reach third. Bump Hadley and Hank McDonald contributed nine walks, the Yanks bunched an equal number of hits with them and Bill Dickey came through with his ninth homer of the season at a timely moment.

The Senators kept pace with Chicago for seven innings, but the Hose kept their 20-hit attack going to give Washington its third defeat in four days. Luke Appling's single brought in the winning runs in the eighth.

The Cleveland Indians edged out the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 5, as O'Dell Hale hit a homer with one on in the eighth for the deciding tallies. Detroit turned back the Boston Red Sox, 3-2, as Fred Marberry outpitched Henry Johnson.

CARDS DROP IN RACE

The St. Louis Cardinals slipped into fourth place in the National League when Carl Hubbell's southpaw flinging and a ninth-inning homer by Johnny Vergez gave the New York Giants a 3-to-2 victory.

Pittsburgh's Pirates, meanwhile, downed the Boston Braves, 8-3, and moved into third place, putting together five hits with two of Boston's seven errors to score five runs in the eighth.

The Chicago Cubs held their place three games behind the Giants and one ahead of Pittsburgh by knocking off the Brooklyn Dodgers for the third time, 4 to 1. Good pitching by Lon Warneke in the tight places and snappy fielding gave the Cubs the victory, their eighth in a row. The Phillies and the Cincinnati Reds again exchanged places at the foot of the ladder, the Reds going into last place as Philadelphia pulled out a 4-to-3 decision.

Indian Coaches To Be Released

CLEVELAND, July 14.—(INS.)—Bib Falk and Art Wallgemuth, coaches of the Cleveland Indians, will be released after the Tribe's game this afternoon, General Manager Billy Evans announced today.

They will be replaced by Ed Gheraty, former assistant to Walter Johnson, when the latter was manager of the Washington Senators. Gheraty will report tomorrow.

No reason for the dismissal of the men was given.

Jack Quinn Dropped By Cincinnati Club

CINCINNATI, July 14.—Jack Quinn, the oldest player in the major leagues, was given his unconditional release by the Cincinnati Reds yesterday.

Quinn, who has been playing professional ball for 30 years, was let go by the Brooklyn Dodgers early this year and was grabbed by the Reds for relief roles.

Primo Carnera's Life Story

Schaaf Dies After Bout and Complications Arise. "Dreadnaught" Class Established—Carnera Goes Home, Then Returns for Second Sharkey Fight

(This autobiography is a translation from the Italian of Primo Carnera's remarkably clear memories of his career thus far. The new world heavyweight boxing champion can speak English sufficiently to be understood, but, in preparing his life story, he preferred to do so in his native tongue. So far as is possible, the translation preserves the ideas and spirit of the champion.)

CHAPTER NINE

THE SCHAAF TRAGEDY AND OFFICIAL MOVES TO MAINTAIN A "DREADNAUGHT" CLASS

By PRIMO CARNERA, Heavyweight Boxing Champion of the World.

(Copyright, 1933, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Though it was common experience for me to have a match severely criticized in advance, no boxing contest, perhaps in history, was so violently denounced as my bout with the late Ernie Schaaf—and it was a strictly honest fight. It was a case of jumping at conclusions—all of them wrong—from the start, and what followed was an awful answer to experts who made that mistake.

Primo Carnera

Weeks before that fatal February 10, 1933, wild rumor had it that the fight was "in the bag" for me because—so the "wise guys" said—Champion Sharkey knew well that the boxing authorities would not permit him to defend the title against his protege and stablemate, Schaaf. The most unfavorable sort of publicity was given the match, but the Garden was filled to the roof when Schaaf and I got into the ring.

Right before that I met Sharkey in my dressing room, where he represented Schaaf while I bandaged my own hands and put on the gloves. We joked a little in pleasant fashion, and I recalled that Schaaf had represented Jack when I was getting ready to go on with Sharkey in October, 1931. Now Jack was Ernie's chief second; he was going to pilot his pupil to victory over me, he expected.

As far as we knew, and that includes Sharkey, Schaaf was in good fighting condition when the bout started; otherwise the champion and John Buckley, his managers, would not have permitted him to tackle me. A short time before, Schaaf had a slight attack of influenza, but a few days of hospital care and he seemed as well as ever. Bill Duffy, my American manager, and others have assured me since that Ernie looked and acted as though ready for a hard fight when he prepared for action that night.

From the start, the contest was largely a long-range boxing duel, my many hard lefts taking heavy toll on Schaaf's head. He tried to weave in Sharkey style under my left leads, and often I hooked or clubbed him on the head. He reached me now and then with some stiff hooks to the body and a few right-handers to the jaw, but most of the time that long left kept him at bay. When we closed in, I got to him with hard right uppercuts. None of these landed flush, but they did tire him and—poor Ernie finally collapsed early in the thirteenth round.

CROWD JEERS KNOCKOUT

In the excitement of fighting one seldom notices shouts or boos, but even before Schaaf was knocked down I heard much whistling, hoots and other such noises.

When I stepped over to help pick up Schaaf, Sharkey waved me away, stooped down, lifted up his pal and dragged him as gently as possible to his corner. Even I was surprised by the terrific booing, louder than the applause as I scanned the ringside. Several experts were making faces . . . hoots followed me and the unconscious Ernie until—and after—we were back in our dressing rooms.

Of course, at the time, I did not imagine that Schaaf would never come to, and for some time I was happy, indeed, over the result . . . The report, "He's still out!" brought no grief for many minutes, but suddenly the sad rumor came that Ernie was gravely hurt and there was nothing false to the grief that began to fill me. However, I was told before retiring that Schaaf was responding to treatment, and, tired, I slept well into the next morning.

HELD BY POLICE

Soon after awakening, though, I learned that Ernie was still in a coma and then the ghastly thought began to creep in that he might die . . . I saw the morning newspapers. Mr. Soresi and others explained to me in much detail what the press reported, and that, too, was ghastly, for some of the experts denounced the fight as a most raw "fake" and repeated the false suspicions published before the bout.

Meanwhile, the police authorities began an inquiry. Friday, Saturday and Sunday I waited with worry and grief as reliable reports from the hospital told of the still unconscious Schaaf and plans for a life-or-death operation. That was one of the greatest nervous strains I ever hope to suffer. Police, a district attorney, and many reporters questioned me.

'DREADNAUGHT' CLASS BORN

Reports were heard and published that I would be indicted for manslaughter if Schaaf died, and rumor had it that my hands were "doctored" with illegal bandages, etc. Now the boxing commission's agent and Sharkey himself had examined the bandages and gloves I used before I put them on. And the then champion himself watched closely as I wound the usual gauze about my hands and applied the regulation allowance of light tape. I like to do that job myself so that the bandages fit my knuckles properly.

By the second day after the fight, the "fake" charges began to grow faint as Schaaf continued in a coma, and then another cry arose to have me barred from boxing comparatively small 190 to 210-pounders.

The late William Muldoon, of the New York Athletic Commission, who was stern, but absolutely fair, with me even when I was under a cloud, revived his idea of a so-called "super-heavyweight" or "dreadnaught" class. It was announced that, in the future, I would be permitted in New York to fight only men weighing more than 240 pounds. That would spoil my prospects—it would bar me from the heavyweight championship; it would limit my opponents to George Godfrey, Vittorio Campolo (both of whom I had defeated) and three or four other huge youngsters just starting their careers.

TALKS TO MOTHER

Such rumors and happenings filled the air over that painful week-end, and, when Schaaf died, early Tuesday morning, this whole unhappy affair reached its tragic climax. Meanwhile cables had carried the news to far-off Sequals, and my mother in great alarm used the trans-Atlantic telephone to talk to me, tell me to pray for Schaaf and (this may seem foolish in a fight history) to act toward Ernie's mother and father as I would like him to act toward mine if I were the victim of this awful accident. And I did so, sending a priest to the funeral and praying as earnestly as I can for the repose of his soul.

Meanwhile the doctors disagreed as to the cause of Ernie's death. Some claimed there was evidence that a clot on the brain caused the fatal paralysis, but, after an autopsy, the official medical examiner reported death due to "natural causes"—some hidden weakness in Schaaf's physique due to a recent attack of the "flu" or from injuries received in other fights. The report exonerated me, and no prosecution resulted.

REUNION AT HOME

Then I returned to Italy with the championship chance still in doubt because of that "dreadnaught" class ruling. Of course, a bout with Sharkey might be arranged for Chicago, Philadelphia or some other suitable city outside New York, but the champion was under contract with Madison Square Garden, which prefers to work in harmony with the New York boxing authorities.

So, truly sad over Schaaf's great misfortune and with my future dark indeed, I sailed with one pleasant prospect right at hand—I was to see the attractive house which I had bought for my parents in Sequals. There was a happy reunion there, but we did not forget Ernie, a solemn service being held for him in the local church.

News also came to Mr. Soresi that the New York State Athletic Commission had decided to suspend its "dreadnaught" ruling so far as championship matches are concern. That cleared the way for my title go with Sharkey.

EXAMINED BY DOCTORS

While I enjoyed weeks of rest in many interesting parts of my native land, was received with other pilgrims by the Pope at Easter time, met many distinguished Italians and had plenty of fun (not including one painful automobile accident), I kept in fairly good condition, exercising daily with those vigorous calesthenics that have been a part of my life even since I knew what the idea of world champion meant.

Before sailing for New York early in May, I was examined by a clinic of distinguished Italian and German doctors, chiefly interested in the glandular aspects of my abnormal size. Their report, later, held that I am not a freak. But more about that, perhaps, after I tell about the biggest moment of my career—now that my thoughts have been well collected after the Sharkey fight excitement.

LOCAL TENNIS STARS PLAY TODAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Semi-final frays in the second annual Fox Chapel Golf Club invitation turf court men's doubles net event grace the local racquet card at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. In the upper half of the draw, the crack P. A. A. pair, Dr. Dave and Dr. John O'Loughlin, West Penn and Allegheny County champions, engage Tom Robinson and Joe Dilworth, home club veterans, while in the lower bracket, Frank Broida and Irvin Goodman, youthful Harvard-Pitt combine that last year carried off Chapel honors, battle Charley Lockhart and McCook Reed, Pittsburgh Golf Club outfit. The tourney final will be played on Sunday.

Roger Deney and Cutely's clever duo of the College Avenue Seconds, edged out Schade and Moulds, Minnetonka combination, in marathon skirmish, 14-12, 7-5, in the playoff melee that started last Saturday, to give the Collegians a 5-4 decision over the Veronans and to clean up the last of the Division II P. T. A. Inter-Club League postponements. Several Division I sessions, rained out on Saturday, remain to be accounted for on July 25.

Jimmy MacKay, of Minnetonka, kicks in with interesting information to the effect that a seven-squad tennis league has been organized and already is under way among the canoe and camping clubs up the Verona-Oakmont way along the Allegheny River. The following contingents are entered in the loop: Sylvan Canoe Club, Duquesne Canoe Club, Crescent Canoe Club, Argonaut Canoe Club, Keystone Canoe Club, Algonquin Canoe Club and Minnetonka Canoe Club. Jousts are reeled off every other Sunday and to date the Sylvan delegation heads the parade with 10 wins against no setbacks, though Crescent is close behind with nine victories in 10 starts. The schedule:

July 16—Crescent vs. Argonaut.
July 23—Crescent vs. Keystone, Duquesne vs. Argonaut, Algonquin vs. Sylvan.
August 6—Minnetonka vs. Algonquin, Sylvan vs. Crescent, Keystone vs. Duquesne.
August 20—Keystone vs. Minnetonka, Argonaut vs. Sylvan, Duquesne vs. Crescent.
August 27—Argonaut vs. Algonquin, Sylvan vs. Keystone, Duquesne vs. Minnetonka.

P. WANER BACK IN OLD FORM

Braves, Ben Cantwell, opposing Smith, hit a triple in the fifth that opened the way to three runs and a deadlock, the Buccos having scored three times in the early frames.

Added to Maranville's misplay was a mental slip that may have been costly. The Rabbit walked off second, thinking he was called out by Umpire Rigler on a fielder's choice which would have filled the bases in the seventh. There was no scoring in the inning. Back in the game after a seige of sickness, Catcher Earl Grace started the victory drive of the eighth with a single. Smith also singled. Two errors by Moore and one by Urbanski contributed heavily to the five runs scored. Starr's wild pitch also helped.

Catcher Al Spohrer, of the Braves, is recovering at St. Johns Hospital, where he underwent a surgical operation.

JAMIESON LONE LOCAL WINNER IN STATE GOLF

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—(AP.)—Thomas S. Jamieson, Jr., young star from the Oakmont Country Club, Pittsburgh, and three Philadelphians today survived the quarter-final round for the Pennsylvania State amateur golf championship.

Jamieson entered the semi-final round by defeating Richard Allman, of Philmont, 4 up and 2 to play.

Will Gunn, JJr., of Spring Haven, triumphed handily over George H. Flinn, Jr., of Oakmont, runner-up for the championship last year and newly elected president of the Pennsylvania Golf Association. The score was 5 and 4.

Jack Benson, of the South Hills Club, Pittsburgh, fell before Harold J. Cross, Jr., Huntingdon Valley, 3 and 1. Cross yesterday dethroned Chris Brike, defending titlist.

The semi-final round matches this afternoon will be between Jamieson and Gunn and Cross and J. Wood Platt, Aronimink Club, who defeated James M. Robbins, Merion, 1 up.

George H. Flinn, Jr., of Pittsburgh, is the new president of the Pennsylvania Golf Association. A member of the Oakmont Country Club, he was elected here yesterday at the association's annual meeting.

Other officers elected were Earle E. Brauch, Merion, vice president, and Henry C. Fownes, Oakmont, secretary-treasurer.

Junior Baseball Tourney Arranged

A Western Pennsylvania tournament for junior baseball teams has just been announced by its sponsor, the Honus Wagner Company.

The tournament will include league and independant teams and will be divided into two divisions, Class A for teams up to 20 years old and Class B for teams 17 years old and under.

Entries close July 25 and play will get under way a week later. Entries should be sent to 813 Liberty avenue.

Sonnenberg Ill With Heart Attack

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—(INS.)—Gus Sonnenberg, one of the leading heavyweight wrestlers, was in a hospital today following a heart attack.

Physicians said Sonnenberg was not in danger, but would be kept under observation for at least two weeks.

WILSON HORSE WINS

SANDOWN, England, July 14.—(AP.)—Col. G. Wilson's Loaningdale, by Colorado, out of Perfection, today won the famous Eclipse Stakes, valued at £11,000, with the King and Queen watching the mile and a quarter race from the royal box. Aga Khan's Firdaussi was second, two length behind the winner, and Col. G. Loder's Foxbridge third.

COYNE A. C. CLUB IN SWIM

The Coyne A. C., of the Oliver Pool, will send a girls' relay team to the Detroit swimming meet next Tuesday evening, composed of Cathrine Gibbons, Viola Campbell, Emma Martin and Edith Rickets. Miss Gibbons also will swim in the 100-yard national junior backstroke championship.

BEP IN RETURN BOUT

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—While the arguments continue over the sudden ending of the Billy Petrolle-Bep Van Klaveren welterweight match, Tim Mara has virtually lined up the battlers for a return match at Yankee Stadium, August 13.

MAHONING VICTOR

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 14.—Mahoning won the first half championship of the Lawrence County Baseball League before 5,000 fans here yesterday by beating the West Side Tigers, 2 to 1.

SPORT VIGNETTES

The Cards and Yankees still are the favorites to meet in the world series this fall, despite the present condition of the pennant races, according to a poll of writers in the current Literary Digest . . . President Bill Benswanger, of the Pirates, is no mean mushball pitcher . . . He chucked three straight innings at the scribes' picnic t'other day without permitting a run . . . Where was he in that ninth inning nightmare of the Braves? . . . Don't be surprised if, some day when the Pirates' pitching staff wobbles, they send to the office to tear Bill away from writing checks, toss a uniform over him and send him out to the mound and he stops the enemy dead.

Fable: Once upon a time a fan went to Forbes Field and didn't see Larry French pitching at least part of the game . . . Larry, by the way, got a big kick out of the baseball writers' picnic . . . After he had knocked out fungoes for more than an hour and had played about 607 innings of mushball at first base, someone reminded him that he'd better quit because he was due to pitch the next day . . . "What for?" was his reply . . . "I never had so much fun in my life." . . . If they burned up all of the baseball diamonds, they might as well send this enthusiastic tosser to a barren island.

One of the smartest men in boxing is a gent who knows comparatively little about the inside workings of the sport . . . He is Jacob Baer, papa of Max Baer, who is telling his boy to cut out capering around the country in ill-paying exhibitions and go out and get three or four real fights under his belt to fit himself for that battle with Primo Carnera next summer . . . It was lots of real work that put both Carnera and Baer in shape for their big wins last month, and loafing around won't make them any better next year.

Ask Bill Tracey, of Braddock, how he felt after playing (at his age!) all of that mushball at the baseball writers' picnic . . . Even the young squirts of the sports departments were stiff and sore for several days afterward and had to be propped up in bed to write their deathless lines . . . Don't think for a moment that Vincent Eldred, the Highland Club pro, isn't all primed to defend his State Open golf title at Scranton next week . . . He's one of the brightest young players we've ever had in the district.

The favorite song of the golfing brigade, of course, is "Let's All Sing Like the 'Birdies' Sing.' . . . If they have many more conflagrations at Forbes Field like that Boston Braves' eight-run ninth-inning uprising of Wednesday, the club is going to install its own fire department . . . A fire department generally can put out the side when every other agency fails.

If you don't want to die in the poor house, don't bet on fights with Pie Traynor, cap'n of the Pirates . . He picked Max Baer to beat Max Schmeling, Barney Ross to take Tony Canzoneri, Primo Carnera to whip Jack Sharkey and Cain to beat Abel.

Ray Foutts, manager of Ted Yarosz, is inclined to think Vince Dundee pulled a runout on his fight with Yarosz here one week from next Monday night and that the injured ankle explanation is a gag. . . . He is having a friend in New York check up on the story. —HARRY KECK.

BASEBALL COMEDY

By NICK ALTROCK

WASHINGTON, July 14.—I'm surprised at all the extra-curriculum chinning that's come out of that American - National League game at Chicago last week. And even if I belong to the junior loop, I am not fat-skulled enough to think just one all-star game proves the American League overshadows the National like Ringling's main tent. It's just like arguing that roast pheasant is superior to terrapin—when both of them are very good, especially with a bottle of beer.

Nick Altrock

But what Uncle Nick, the Old Conciliator and left lobe of the Brain Trust, is trying to get at is this: Us American Leaguers are tickled to death we won that game. But, if we're supposed to be so darn better than the National League on that account, what's the use of holding the world series this fall? Well, go on and tell me.

U. S. LINKSMEN TRIUMPH

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 14.—(AP.)—Only once in 38 years has the Canadian amateur golf championship been won by a player from the United States, but today it seemed headed for another trip across the border.

As the four survivors entered the semi-finals, Ken Black, 20-year-old son of the Shaughnessy Heights Club professional, was the sole remaining Canadian hope.

Black's rival in the semi-finals was Harry Givan, of Seattle, while Frank Dolp, of Portland, and Albert (Scotty) Campbell, of Seattle, were paired in the other match. Dolp downed Jack Cameron, of Toronto, 5 and 4, yesterday.

Campbell, winner of the Pacific Northwest title, defeated Cecil Coville, of Vancouver, 3 and 2, while Givan won from Don Gowan, Vancouver veteran, 1 up. Black put out Dr. Cliff Baker, of Portland, 5 and 3. The only American ever to hold the title was Eddie Held, of New York, who won it in 1929.

Lazy Hour Team May Join League

The Lazy Hour Ranch team is expected to join the league of the Western Pennsylvania Polo Association at its meeting at South Park next Tuesday evening to play out the schedule of the 107th Field Artillery, now in camp.

Saturday and Sunday games in the Association this week-end are: South Park at Charleroi Veterans, Monongahela at Library and Fox Chapel at Old Furnace, Zelienople.

The Chartiers Heights team plays a new team, Rosslyn Farms, on the latter's field Sunday.

GREEN, NICKLIN FINALISTS IN JUNIOR PLAY

By TOM BIRKS

Staff Correspondent.

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 14.—Herman Green, of the New Castle Field Club, and W. B. Nicklin, of Stanton Heights, are battling in the 18-hole final of the Western Pennsylvania junior golf championship here this afternoon as a result of victories scored in the semi-finals this morning.

Green upset the "dark-horse" of the tournament when he scored a 5-and-4 victory over Paden Gamble, of the Youghiogheny Country Club. Gamble furnished the big surprise yesterday when he scored victories over Jim Marks, Jr., of Kiski, and Claude McKee, of the South Hills Country Club, two ranking favorites.

Nicklin advanced to the final round at the expense of I. C. Ball, of Churchill Valley, winning by a 3-and-2 tally. The cards of this morning's matches:

Green out	553	446	354—39
Gamble out	464	456	465—44
Green in	554	54
Gamble in	555	46
Nicklin out	454	435	345—37
Ball out	356	447	344—40
Nicklin in	544	455	34
Ball in	754	453	37

The summary of yesterday's matches follow:

Gamble defeated Claude McKees, 1 up (19 holes), and Jim Marks, Jr., 2 and 1; Ball defeated Jack Freund, 7 and 5, and Robert Parker, 1 up (19 holes); Marks defeated Foster Meyers, 5 and 4; Green defeated C. M. Jamison, 1 up, and Francis Gould, 5 and 3; Parker defeated Ted Martin, 4 and 3; Nicklin defeated R. A. McLaughlin, 1 up and Joe Totten, 1 up; Totten defeated W. B. Smith, 2 and 1.

BOXING CARDS HARD HIT

With the canceling of last night's show at the North Braddock Bowl and the Ted Yarosz-Vince Dundee affair at Forbes Field one week from next Monday, the local fistic schedule presents a skimpy aspect, for there is nothing left but the card of 10 four-round bouts at Hickey Park next Monday night.

No new date has been set for the Dundee show, indefinitely postponed because of an ankle injury suffered by Dundee which makes it impossible for him to train.

A letter from Max Waxman, manager of Dundee, arrived today. Inclosed in it was a statement from the chief medical examiner of the New Jersey Boxing Commission attesting to the seriousness of Dundee's injury. Waxman said he regretted the postponement and would advise Promoter John L. Hernon as soon as Dundee is able to resume work.

The bill is complete for the Hickey Park show with the exception of the naming of opponents for Harry Jacoby and Joey Zelano in two of the 10 four-round bouts. Ross Fields and Mose Butch box the windup. Other bouts are:

Nat Litfin vs. Harry Lennox, Andy Kosel vs. Johnny Woods, Sammy Paris vs. Kid Sterling, Patsy Hennigan vs. Steve Senich, Johnny Birek vs. Eddie Shenn, Al Gatchell vs. Jack Terrill and Mike Bazzone vs. Johnny Riske.

The Pittsburgh Lyceum will hold its next amateur boxing show next Tuesday night. Al Quail and Billy Miller are in the windup.

Panama Fred Jenkins, Negro welterweight, of Philadelphia, has been here a few days and is training at the Negro Y. M. C. A. He would like to box any of our 147-pounders.

Frank Klaus, former middleweight champion, has added A. Scalbano, of Syracuse, to his stable and is ready to send him against any of the 152-54-pounders. Scalbano's last start was on the Tony Canzoneri-Barney Ross card in the Chicago Stadium.

TIGERS BEAT NOLINKS

The Tigers rallied in the ninth inning to defeat Nolinks in a mushball game last evening, 5 to 4. For games call Hemlock 9065 between 6 and 6:30.

STOCK MARKET MOVEMENT IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP.)—The stock market cooled down a bit today, following its heated performance of yesterday, and irregular and somewhat nervous price movements gave the list a spotty appearance.

Traders were inclined to turn their attention to specialties, when most of the leaders failed to exhibit the expected enthusiasm, and some of these were run up around 7 points. Wheat, corn and rye were almost as indifferent as in yesterday's proceedings. Cotton, however, got back some of its previous day's losses. Bar silver sagged ⅝ of a cent an ounce to 39½ cents. The dollar rallied nearly 3 cents against sterling and improved substantially in terms of foreign gold exchanges. Bonds were steady to firm.

Stocks that rallied 7 or more points included Allied Chemical, International Silver and Industrial Rayon. Most of the distilling issues were rather quiet, although United States Industrial Alcohol and Commercial Solvents got up about 2 points each. Other gainers of 1 and 2 included Celanese, Cerro de Pasco, United States Smelting, American Tobacco B and Monsanto Chemical. American Telephone and American Can dropped a point or more, and a number of other pivotal shares followed a narrow range.

Week-end trade reviews were quite cheerful. These pointed out that the most important phase of the present business situation was the virtual absence of reactionary tendencies which might ordinarily be expected at this time. Apparent confirmation of the substantial upswing, it was stated, is seen in the fact that industry, as a whole, is now operating at the highest level in the past two years.

Renewed hope for decimation of unemployment was given by the announcement of Secretary of Interior Ickes that he had approved federal and municipal works plans involving expenditures of some $115,000,000. This, it was explained, was the first step in the program which is expected to put 1,000,000 men back to work by next October.

GRAIN VALUES TURN DOWN

CHICAGO, July 14.—All grain prices underwent setbacks early today, despite reports of continued deterioration of spring wheat both sides of the Canadian border. Sellers took advantage of indications that renewal of speculative buying awaited downturns of values. Opening ½ to 1 cent lower, wheat afterward sagged further. Corn started unchanged to ⅞ off and subsequently held near the initial limits.

A quick tumble of more than 3 cents a bushel in rye quotations here and in wheat quotations at Winnipeg had a general unsettling influence on values, together with irregularity shown early by securities and cotton. Rallies which took place in wheat and other grains failed to hold well and new downturns that ensued carried wheat and rye to lower levels than before.

Volume of trading in wheat and other grains much of the time today was not as large as recently. Corn and oats ruled relatively weaker than wheat, owing to big arrivals of corn here, 504 cars today compared with 284 a week ago and 57 at this time last year.

Provisions reflected downturns of hog values and of grains.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

MORE RESERVE CREDIT OUT

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP.)—The daily average volume of Federal Reserve Bank credit outstanding during the week ending July 12, as reported by the Federal Reserve banks, was $2,230,000,000, an increase of $5,000,000 compared with the preceding week and a decrease of $187,000,000 compared with the corresponding week in 1932.

On July 12 total Reserve Bank credit amounted to $2,201,000,000, a decrease of $5,000,000 for the week. This decrease corresponds with a decrease of $85,000,000 in money in circulation, offset in part by increases of $50,000,000 in member banks reserve balances and $6,000,000 in unexpended capital funds, non-member deposits, etc., and a decrease of $25,000,000 in treasury currency adjusted.

Bills discounted decreased $10,000,000 at the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco and $14,000,000 at all Federal Reserve Banks. The system's holdings of bills bought in open market declined $10,000,000, while holdings of treasury certificates and bills increased $12,000,000.

WIDE VARIANCE IN COMMODITY PRICE GAINS

By LEWIS HANEY

Professor of Economics, New York University.

NEW YORK, July 14.—It should be interesting again to examine the advances which have occurred in wholesale commodity prices since early April, just before the inflationary program begun.

As of July 8-10, I find that a list of representative "spot" prices show the following percentage rises:

Commodity.	Per ct. gain
Hides	117
Sheetings	114
Print cloth	88
Tin	87
Wheat	80
Copper	71
Cotton	50
Leather	48
Worsted yarns	47
Flour	46
Steel scrap	42
Linseed oil	40
Oak flooring	35
Turpentine	31
Southern pine (2x4)	29
Lime	21
Canned tomatoes	19
Canned salmon	17
Eggs	14
Hogs	13
Pig iron	12
Canned milk	10
Sulphite of ammonia	7
Beef, steers	5
Nitrate of soda	4

HAVE WIDE RANGE

The advances in this list range from 4 per cent to 117 per cent. The middle figure is between 35 and 40 per cent. (Of course, a rise of over 100 per cent means more than doubling).

These commodities have fairly free markets and are all important. They include farm prices, wheat, cotton, livestock, and eggs; also representative metals, textiles, foods, lumber and fertilizer materials.

Evidently farm prices have done well, although they have not made the biggest gains. Wheat was up 80 per cent. But cotton cloth was 88-114 per cent higher. Cotton was up 50 per cent, but worsteds, leather and copper were up 47-71 per cent.

Hogs and eggs were up about 14 per cent; but lime, pine, and linseed oil were from 21 to 40 per cent higher.

FARMER NOT GAINER

While hides showed the biggest rise, it is doubtful if any appreciable part of this got back to farmers, as beef rose only 5 per cent, and live cattle gained but 5 to 20 per cent.

The rise in prices has been general. But it has also been irregular, in amount. Since March, for example, such items as worsted yarn, wheat, oak flooring, cotton and canned salmon have taken much higher places compared with others in the list.

Compared with their averages in the years 1927-29, great irregularity is shown. Thus linseed oil was only about 2 per cent lower than in that period, and tin 10 per cent; while copper and cotton were 42-45 per cent lower.

CONFUSED MOVEMENT

Certainly one gets the impression of a confused and erratic movement, sharp runups being mixed with sluggish movements. This is partly owing to the mixture of inflation, crop failures, artificial control of prohibition speculation, etc.

The dollar is down about 30 per cent. In addition, a short wheat crop is in sight, and artificial restrictions on cotton and tin are proposed.

The following Liverpool cotton cable just received by Hopkins, Dwight & Co., well illustrates the confusion of forces:

"Sentiment confused by divergent Washington reports, some predicting complete success of acreage curtailment, others stating it most likely that maximum acreage adjustment will be obtained. Some traders fear that application of Recovery Act and farm subsidies will result in agricultural and wage earners gaining at expense of industrial earnings, which likely to affect Wall street adversely, but others expect Washington to maintain profit motive by visible inflation and further depreciation of dollar. Western drought receiving serious attention."

Such is "controlled inflation."

BROADER TRADE TREND SEEN

NEW YORK, July 14.—(AP)—Broader trade trends were disclosed this week in the reports received by Dun & Bradstreet Inc., from all sections of the country with the exception of a few isolated districts in the South.

Summaries of June activity the agency said "confirmed a more rapid rise and wider gains over last year's record than the weekly reports had indicated." The report continued:

"The most phenomenal phase in the delineation of these reports is furnished by the lack of a discernible trade of reactionary tendencies. Even after 15 weeks of uninterrupted expansion. The usual summer letdown is receiving minor consideration as more industries are found to be sufficiently booked to carry current high operating schedules into September.

"With industry as a whole operating at the highest level in two years the abrupt gains of the last three months are convincing proof of the accelerated speed of the turnover.

"Where hesitation has appeared it has been due to the uncertainty of the price levels that will obtain after codes of operation will have been approved by the national industrial recovery administration. In the meantime, purchasing in all divisions is broadening."

Forbes

Foil Europe In Plucking U. S. A. Eagle

By B. C. FORBES

Mr. Forbes

"IN THE hope that something will turn up soon," the economic conference is being held together, after a fashion, observes the London Times.

There has been no dearth of something turning up at the conference, only that something has been an international array of noses. They have been turned up mostly at President Roosevelt's action.

EUROPEAN statesmen who visited the White House have told the world that they were distinctly led to believe by America's Chief Executive that he favored discussion of currency stabilization.

Europe has stormed and raved against his about-face, his ban on currency stabilization talk with its accompanying "lecture" to European governments in a vein which Europe described as reminiscent of Woodrow Wilson.

It may be true—one cannot avoid feeling it is true—that President Roosevelt's attitude toward consideration of establishing international currency stability did undergo complete change between the time he bid his statesmen visitor a gracious farewell and the day he penned his now historic epistle. Consequently, it is natural that Europe should criticise him.

BUT President Roosevelt was not the first to alter the conference agenda or to violate previous understandings.

It was most emphatically and explicitly stated in advance that the London conference would not discuss Europe's war indebtedness to us.

Yet, the very opening address by the most important European statesman attending the conference, Britain's prime minister, flagrantly broke the clear-cut rule. And Ramsay MacDonald's example was followed by other statesmen who roundly criticised, condemned, unbraided America for her war debt stand.

The law propounds that litigants must come into courts with "clean hands." Europeans having shockingly broken the rules and regulations under which the conference was convened, how can they in conscience affect to be horrified by President Roosevelt's action? In a court of law they would have no standing whatsoever.

PERHAPS President Roosevelt, new at the game, unversed in the wily ways of European diplomats, was innocent enough, naive enough, magnanimous enough to imagine that the various nations would be prepared to co-operate, to give as well as take, when they got together round the conference table, especially since world conditions were so parlous.

That assumption would do credit to Franklin Roosevelt's heart, but not to his head.

This he must have discovered before the conference was many hours old.

IT WAS promptly made baldly manifest that the ulterior objective of leading European statesmen was to pluck more feathers from the American eagle.

They had connived and contrived to perform that operation so successfully, so frequently since the war that it was perhaps logical they should have immediately and immoderately started in to resume the profitable process.

They had been able to "work" President Wilson so effectively, they had been able to fleece American investors of vast savings so easily, they had found President Hoover so sympathetic, and they had received such cordial hospitality from the present occupant of the White House that they apparently felt no need for exercising the slightest finesse when the present conference convened.

LITTLE WONDER, therefore, Europe was stunned by the blow delivered by President Roosevelt.

It is now sorrowfully clear that the conference has proved a tragic fiasco It has wrought no good, infinite harm.

There may have been faults on both sides. But at least Europe, not America, was the first offender.

If there be another international confab, Europeans had better enter it in a different spirit.

PREMIERE -:- Gripping Story of Life Behind The Scenes at Hollywood -:- By ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

CHAPTER II.

"I'm afraid you are too thrilled with success to listen to me," he half-smiled, "but I shall try to be patient."

Leni touched his hand. "Thank you, my dear," she said softly. "You are so nice."

So nice and nothing more, thought Leni in her tense heart. The touch of his hand gave her no strength. Tonight it was strength she needed to face Karl Kruger; vigor of mind and courageous wisdom.

There must be no giving way to blind despair, no surrendering to panic that paralyzes clear thinking. By an immense effort of the will it would be necessary to gather her forces for the ordeal. It would be dangerous to avoid seeing Kruger. She would have to face him immediately and forestall by whatever means possible the menace spawning in his murky brain.

On the stage the army of dancers, amid an orchestral tempest, had finished their eccentric ballet in a whirlwind of shimmering spangles and gyrating legs and arms. The immense velvet curtains closed and, in changing lights, the motion picture screen had filled the aperture. All over the theater the audience was giving a concentrated attention to the title and the screen credit and the lettered names of the cast. For almost two hours this attention would not be interrupted.

"I am going to slip out of the box for a little while," Leni said to Gates, drawing her cloak around her shoulders. "Please—I want to be alone."

PICTURE HOLDS INTEREST

To Gates this was a display of imperious temperament which he was too polite to combat. He rose and stood aside; the small rustle of her leaving distracted no one's attention. Leni's talking ghost on the screen already had achieved a recognition that absorbed all interest from its human original.

The fictitious drama created by an industrious scenario writer was cleverly beginning to weave its spell of apparent reality as the living Leni Luneska, unseen and unconsidered, tiptoed up a darkened side aisle to an obscure rendezvous where past and future moved swiftly toward fatal collision.

Lucky Cavanaugh turned his head and watched her until she disappeared. Then he turned and saw her again on the screen, while a trace of the fragrance she wore still lingered in the box.

The office into which Karl Kruger had been led was one of several on the second floor above the foyer. By day it was used by the press agent and was luxurious in the Hollywood tradition with thick rugs, mahogany and leather.

BURGLARS IN DISGUISE

Quite different, indeed, from the adjoining room to which a connecting door led. Next door there was nothing of swank. An adding machine on a plain table, several chairs, a stack of ledgers and a substantial steel safe were about all. The door of the safe was swung open and a serious-looking man knelt before it. On the floor beside him was the night's receipts, the paper currency in banded sheafs and the silver in two canvas bags.

The man on the floor was not a burglar. He was the theater treasurer and he was about to lock up the money carefully for the night.

The real burglars, who were equally methodical, lurked behind the last row of seats in the gallery.

They were dressed in the uniforms of ushers and had crawled down from the roof. Their undertaking was precarious, but they had left very little to chance. Every detail had been planned to theoretical perfection.

Outside a side door downstairs there was a third, also disguised as an usher, who was the lookout. He resembled the genuine article who might have sneaked out to drag on a cigaret.

EXPLOSION PLANNED

According to the burglars' plans the room adjoining the treasurer's office should have been empty, but no safe-blowers, however foresighted, could have predicted the catapulting of Karl Kruger into the scheme. Nor, for that matter, Leni Luneska, who made inquiries and was escorted by the house manager himself to the room occupied by the waiting Kruger. These events annoyed but did not dissuade the determined safe experts.

The treasurer had locked the office and gone. So far, so good. It was child's play for the robbers to enter the office with a skeleton key and wait, still as mice in the dark, until the unexpected conference next door broke up. The wall was thick and the connecting door heavy. Kruger's and Leni's voices were but dim babbles. In any case more than an hour remained before it would be time to explode the safe.

This explosion was to be a matter of accurate timing, a feat without precedent. Leni's screen picture was called "Madelon" and it dealt with the story of a little French cocotte who followed her poilu into the trenches in 1914. In the sixth reel, the picture reached its climax during a terrific bombardment from German heavy artillery.

At a preview in Santa Barbara the previous week the sound effect had been so violent the audience was deafened. Windows had rattled and chandeliers shaken. It was the loudest bombardment ever screened and a mere safe blowing, to be let loose at its height, would attract no more attention than a popgun in a boiler factory.

CAREER MENACED

Kruger, sitting deep in the comfort of a leather chair, did not arise when Leni entered. Without moving he looked at her strained face. One of her hands clutched the opera cloak over her breast, the fur brushing her smooth neck.

"Shut the door" said Kruger without removing the cigaret from his mouth. "What's the matter—afraid I'm going to bite you?"

She stood gazing at him without speaking while a little dark pool formed between her eyes where the faintly penciled brows drew together. The cloak rose and fell visibly with her breathing. Kruger, too, was affected despite his effort to be domineering; a dark vein in his temple throbbed with a steady beat.

"What are you doing here? What do you want of me?" Leni asked. Her voice was low and almost polite.

Kruger nervously threw his cigaret to the rug and straightened forward aggressively.

"You know very well what I want," said Kruger loudly. "You—in your fine feathers—you wish I hadn't showed up, hey? It is not pleasant to have a starving bum hanging round in his rags, is it? No—oh no! Not when he happens to be your husband! It would be so nice and convenient to forget all about Karl Kruger, wouldn't it?"

Leni's breathing was difficult and she had a cold sickness in her breast. Crack-brained and egotistical, this man had it in his power to poison her whole life.

He could reach up with his dirty hand and pull her down again into the mud and despair from which she had climbed by the almost superhuman force of her own will—by the soul-drive of her own revolt against the shame and misery of a haunting past.

Synopsis

Attending the premiere of her latest motion picture, beautiful Leni Luneska, the star, is confronted by a shabby, emaciated man, who emerges from the crowd crying "Leni! It is I, Karl Kruger. Do you want me to tell the whole world?" Leni turns white. She tells the man she will talk with him inside. Lucky Cavanaugh, a gambler, fascinated by Leni's beauty, saunters into the theater after Kruger. He prevents Kruger from making a scene and has him placed in a private office until after the show. Cavanaugh then bribes an usher to seat him in Leni's box. During the performance Douglas Gates, Leni's elderly escort, proposes to her. She is tempted to accept him to get away from everything.

Now Go On

"What's the matter——afraid I'm going to bite you?" asked Kruger.

The Junior Patrol Mail Box

Lots of letters in the mail today, fellows!

And they are full of good news, too. One letter from S. W. Reed, Jr., of West Leisenring, Pa., tells us that he is starting a Junior Patrol club, and he asks us to send him information on starting a club. That's easy, and although we know that most of you know how to do it already, we'll explain it to Reed right here.

First of all, you get all the fellows and girls in your neighborhood who want to join to send in pledge slips or a copy of the pledge slip printed on this page, signed with their name and address. Then, just as soon as they all get their badges and membership cards from the Sun-Telegraph, you can meet at the home of one of the members, and elect a captain and a first lieutenant. The boy or girl with the most votes gets to be captain. At the same meeting, you should decide the name of your club, for example "The Fifth Avenue Junior Patrol."

If you want to, you can write a constitution and a list of rules. Most captains like to have both boys and girls in their patrols, but if you want to, you can have all boys or all girls.

Isn't that easy? Then, when you have the Captain and the first lieutenant elected, you are all ready to start having fun together and helping others.

Here's a nice letter from Frances White, of 702 Means avenue, Bellevue, who is one of the followers of the Junior Patrol. She writes:

"Yesterday we organized a Junior Patrol Club. We have only four members. I would like to know if you could send me a lot of small pictures of Junior, Spike and Snuggins. If you do not have the pictures, please write me. The names of the members are as follows: Mary Louise (Pete) France, captain; George Weber, Bill France and Frances (Jim) White, first lieutenant. Hoping to hear from you soon."

Well, "Jim," your patrol might not be a very big one, but it's easy to see that every one of you four members is on his or her toes. There are always three pictures, of Junior, Spike and Snuggins, printed right here in the Mail Box, have you noticed? You could cut them out if you wish. Or, if you want to make a collection of the comic strip fellows, you could cut their pictures right out of Uncle Quin Hall's comic strip, "The Junior Patrol," at the bottom of this page.

Now here's a note from Jean O. B., who lives at 52 Radium street, North Side. Jean wants 10 pins and cards. Sorry Jean, but you will have to get all of those 10 fellows to sign pledges or copies of the pledges themselves. That's the rule, and and the only fair way we can do it. When we get the pledges or the copies all signed, the fellows will be sent the cards and badges.

We'll have to say the same thing to Stanley L. Janosky, of Glassmere, Pa. He wants us to send 18 Junior Patrol pins and cards. The pledge slips or a copy of the pledge slip signed by all the fellows must be in the Junior Patrol office first, Stanley. We're glad to know that you have your club all started and everything, and just as soon as you send in the pledges we'll put their names on the Junior Patrol roll book and make everything official.

Arletta Brown, of 4223 Stanley street, Greenfield, hopes to start a patrol soon. Here's her very nice letter:

"Please send me a Junior Patrol card and button. I hope to encourage other children around my neighborhood to join also. And if I reach success I hope to start a chapter. I do not know of any around here. Send me my card and button soon for I am anxious to receive it. I enjoy what is in the paper about this wonderful club. I am 11 now and will be 12 next month."

If you have sent in your pledge all signed, Arletta, your button and card will soon be there. We hope you will be able to start a club soon.

RUSSIAN SITUATION CLARIFIED.

WASHINGTON MONUMENT—"Well, sir, when I was in Russia I went to the bottom of everything in my usual dauntless way, including a Siberian salt mine. I found the Russians a secretive lot, but I picked up some dandy dances while spending the week-end with some friends on the Tseller Steppes, and had snapshots taken of myself in various fiery poses. I will be glad to autograph and send one of these pictures to any lady who writes in, giving me her name, address, phone number and the date of her birth. Ladies born prior to 1912 need not waste their postage, as I am looking for a fresh viewpoint."

LAUGHTER

By Winifred Black

"Laugh and the world laughs with you
Weep and you weep alone."

How long is it since you have smiled at the sentimental old couplet?

Great stuff—when it first appeared, wasn't it? And then people began to weep when they said it and, of course, we all laughed.

We had to laugh—to keep from crying.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you."

Why, of course it does—the poor, tired, scared, worried, melancholy old world—why shouldn't it laugh, I ask you?

And what kind of a world would it be if we didn't laugh—everyone of us, in season and out of season?

Laugh for a lot and laugh for nothing—a good laugh is worth a dozen doses of the best medicine that was ever compounded.

Weep alone? — why certainly you do.

What do you want, anyhow?

Do you want the woman across the hall and the man upstairs and the children in the little house down the street to know that you have had a good cry all to yourself?

Of course you don't!

They'll wonder what you were crying about and maybe you couldn't tell, even if you wanted to. And if you did tell, they wouldn't understand.

What do they care about your good old friend who was always a rock of refuge, a comfort and delight.

To you—he was like an angel in disguise—to them he would look like rather a shabby old man, with a queer grimace of a smile and an odd, explosive way of speech.

They wouldn't understand him unless they had known him year in and year out in good weather and bad, through hard times and good times. And why should they bother to take all that time to understand anybody?

"Weep alone"—why, certainly—that's the whole relief of weeping—there'd be no fun in it at all if you had to call in the neighbors and get out an extra about it, would there? And who are you—pray tell—and who am I—to add one salt tear to the ocean that is part of the sorrows of the world?

"Laugh and the world laughs with you"—that's the idea. The good, kindly, well-meaning, terrified, uncertain world. Bless the people who make us laugh—they're worth all the weepers that ever felt sorry for themselves.

When you are blue and lonesome and tired of life and a little bitter—laugh and the world will come trooping to your door to laugh, too.

Open the door wide and laugh together—you and the world—and I'll be there to laugh the hardest of all.

The bewhiskered correspondence continues to pile up from A to Z. It arrives from all sections of the convalescent world:

Alberta, Canada: We said the big movie companies failed to renew their contracts with the Canadian Northwest Mounted.

Aylesworth N. B. C.: Thanks for help. But when a dentist gives you back your tooth it's no good to anybody.

Bartlett, Phila.: Vinegar will prevent sunburn, but cider tastes better.

Burs, La Jola: First remove the string. Then the wrapper. Then pull out the excelsior. Whatever is left is yours.

Gross, Alabama: What we said was she was so woggle-eyed she could knit a sweater and do a jig-saw puzzle at the same time. Needless to state, we regretted it in later years.

Foster, Vermont: The gag appeared on editorial page of Washington Times before it was credited to that famous statesman, Around 1912.

A Repeal Argument

The Deaths of Seven Men Who Drank Poison as Rum Should Help to Do Away With Prohibition.

Dry leaders are forming organizations in every county of Pennsylvania to combat the proposal that prohibition shall be repealed. They express the opinion that there is an even chance that Pennsylvanians will vote against repeal in the election next November.

The Sun-Telegraph believes they are deceiving themselves, and that Pennsylvania will vote overwhelmingly in favor of repeal.

Another unanswerable argument against prohibition was furnished during the past 24 hours in the tragedy at Tarentum, where five men died as a result of drinking poisonous liquor, and two other similar deaths in the county.

The Judiciary Campaign

The Voters Have No More Important Duty Than to See That Good Men Are Placed on the Bench.

Candidates for places on the bench of the Common Pleas and County Courts are scheduled to speak at a mass meeting this evening under the auspices of the Thirty-first Ward Civic and Welfare League.

It is encouraging to find the people taking a lively interest in the judiciary campaign. They have no more important duty than to see that good men are placed on the bench.

The courts have much to say as to whether we shall have good government or not. The attitude that the judges take in cases involving malfeasance on the part of public officials and crookedness on the part of politicians often governs their conduct. Allegheny County has suffered from judges who were too lenient.

A pertinent question for candidates for the Common Pleas Court is if they approve of leniency in election fraud cases.

The N. G. P. Encampment

The State's Citizen Soldiers Are Found to Be in a Gratifying Condition of Preparedness.

There is cause for pride in the reports coming from Camp Rickards at Mt. Gretna, where troops of the National Guard of Pennsylvania are holding their annual encampment.

Our citizen soldiers are found to be well trained, well equipped, and ready for action.

Particularly gratifying to Pittsburghers is the showing made by the 176th Field Artillery and the 110th Infantry, which draw their membership from Western Pennsylvania.

Heaven forbid that our Pennsylvania regiments shall be forced to fight! But if they must, it is a satisfaction to know they are ready for any emergency.

Licenses Required

The Number of Trades and Professions in Which Examination Is Demanded Is Increasing.

Fifty-one persons were arrested in the last two months for working as barbers, real estate agents, pharmacists, optometrists, physicians, etc., without having obtained a state license.

The number of trades and professions for which a license is required has been increasing in recent years. The Bureau of Professional Licensing now includes 16 state examining and licensing boards.

If the trend continues one may have to undergo an examination and procure a license before engaging in any trade or profession.

This is undoubtedly necessary in certain professions to protect the public and the legitimate practitioners from quacks and impostors. But care should be taken to keep the licensing movement within reasonable limits. Pennsylvania must not become like those countries where scarcely anything can be done without a government permit.

Sensible Diet

Corpulence and Fatty Degeneration Can Be Avoided By Eating Proteins and Avoiding Starches.

If you want to be slender and strong, eat proteins and avoid starches and sweets.

Starches and sweets make you fat and soft. They also develop diabetes and other troublesome diseases when eaten to excess.

Proteins give strength without creating fat.

What are proteins? They are the food content of meats chiefly. Cheese, however, also contains proteins.

Starches are contained in bread and potatoes and rice and grains generally.

Butter fats and sugar are extremely fattening, and excess of sugar is absolutely dangerous to health.

Milk contains large quantities of butter fat. Buttermilk, however, is milk from which the butter fats have been extracted.

Fruits and green vegetables are healthful, and supplement a protein diet.

Therefore, to be strong and slender and to avoid fatty degeneration, eat beef, mutton, fowls and such meats.

Pork as a rule contains too much fat, but lean ham is strengthening and not fattening. Do not cook the meats in grease.

Take a cup of bouillon or clam broth or chicken broth or other clear thin soup; but do not eat cream soups or thick soups or greasy soups.

Eat fruits and salads. Some fruits have a good deal of sugar, but a melange of fruits or berries without any added sugar or syrups will be healthful.

Eat green vegetables such as string beans, tomatoes, artichokes, cabbage, cauliflower, peas, carrots, spinach, et cetera.

Do not cook the vegetables in butter.

Eat salads freely if made of lettuce or tomatoes or fresh fruits or cooked green vegetables. Eat eggs but without butter.

Eat white-meated fish but do not fry it.

Do NOT eat potatoes or grains or anything made from dough, such as bread or macaroni.

Avoid fat, or butter, or sugar in any form.

Do not use grease in cooking.

Drink tea, coffee or buttermilk; but do not use sugar.

Try sensible eating for two or three months and see if you do not feel immensely improved in health and strength.

Of course thin people who are in no way threatened by fatty degeneration can use butter and bread and milk and grains; but even thin people should be careful of sugar and grease.

They are dangerous to digestion and to health.

Thin people often develop diabetes because they do not fear fatty degeneration, and consequently put no limit upon their consumption of sugar and starches, thus inviting disease.

Of course alcohol should be taken very moderately, and where diabetes threatens, not at all.

A Romantic Education

No screen's star's romantic education appears to be complete, these days, unless she has been married to one of the Mdivani brothers, at least once.

* * *

Now that the third Prince Mdivani is starting his matrimonial career, the friends of the family might save money by stocking in their wedding presents by the gross, before prices go up.

* * *

With such speed and generosity has the title been passed along, that if the good work keeps up, nearly every famous star and popular debutante in America will have a chance to be a princess, at least once in her life. (What's the fare to Hollywood, anyway?)

According to a news report, Mae Murray, the movie star, and Mary McCormic, the opera singer, have both vowed that their respective princely husbands were perfect lovers—"Princes Charming." And, if we remember correctly, Pola Negri parted from her Prince with only the gentlest feelings of regret and admiration.

* * *

That is the distinguishing thing about this particular family of princes. Every time one of them gets free—I mean, divorced—he received the highest sort of "references" from his ex-princess.

* * *

There are lots of men in the world who were born to be lovers—but never to be husbands. Their mission is to bring romance into the life of one woman after another, but never to settle down and FILL any woman's whole life.

The Great Lovers of the world are as necessary to it as flowers, music, poetry or butterflies—as necessary as BEAUTY, itself. To be wooed by a man who can give her romance (whether it lasts or not) is a liberal education for any woman. And to have had a perfect lover, just once in a lifetime, is more than nine women out of ten can hope for.

* * *

But the Great Lover is born with the carefree soul of Pan, and cannot be tied down to domesticity, nor to any one woman for long. No woman should be so selfish as to expect to monopolize a Prince Charming's whole life. It's not fair to the rest of her sex!

* * *

The world must have its butterflies, its moonlight nights, its big moments, its springs, its Junes and its Great Lovers—and none of these last, for long. A short love and a thrilling one—but wasn't the scenery grand!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 14.—Thoughts while strolling: Seems the depression was only yesterday. Heigh ho! What became of the Palace orchestra leaders, Ben Roberts and Lou Forman? Variety's first night oracle—Jack Pulaski. Claudette Colbert has the come-hitherest eyes in the movies.

One word description of Otis Ralston—chuckly. Caricatures of Owen D. Young resemble Al Jolson. H. T. Webster's middle name is Throckmorton. Whatever became of La Belle Titcomb and her white horse? Jimmy Montague and Bide Dudley could pass for twins. And both poets, too.

Westbrook Pegler, a Minneapolis, (Minn.) boy, who made good in the city. J. P. Morgan's son, Junius, is never without a cigaret. And he could pass for Fred Keating, the magician. No one ever looks like me. The nearest was Tully Marshall when he played in "The City." And was that a play!

Wonder if all the people are broke who claim to be. Those lunchrooms called "The Shanty" are sponsored by Nedick, the orangejuice man. So the Winter Garden may become a German beer hall. Once that would have been a yarn for Page 1. But now it does not win even a sigh. Broadway!

One of my favorite people—W. W. Hawkins. Roxy looks fresh as a daisy again. No one has a more affectionate halloo than Gene Buck. Suggested sign for a dry cleaning establishment: "Others have cleaned you; why not us?" Ten years from now: "Who remembers O. O. McIntyre?"

* * *

Not even the depression throttles Wall street's yearly laugh—the annual burlesque edition of the Wall Street Journal called "The Bawl Street Journal." It rocks with gay and vulgar mirth from which the highest to the lowest nabobs are not immune. It travesties ads, such as announcing the biggest house in the street is opening a branch office, adding laconically: "For no particular reason." And one reads a grave bravura that the biggest brokerage firm "as a prosperity gesture will hire a phone operator." And so unpredictably on with real names.

* * *

The cinema's modest little wren, Ruby Keeler, suddenly takes on the glamour of the plumed peacock in movie citadels. Everywhere she's "box office." A skilled musical show tap dancer out of a night club, Miss Keeler was willing with marriage to put away dancing shoes and bask in the shine of her husband's celebrity. She remained appealingly shy in the background. It required persuasion to induce her to step into a movie part. She clicked so instantaneously that stardom for her becomes a matter of selection. The "new deal" seems to include a shuffle of movie stars. And old timers better be peeking at hole cards!

* * *

I visited a model tenement chivvied out of a tumble of slums in the deep Ghetto today. An imposing structure of dull brick, between Broome and Grand streets, it looks upon an open square. A huge inside courtyard blooms with flowers. Nowhere the sear of squalor. The apartment I visited was as cozy and modern as one could desire. Occupants pay $27.50 a month. Once they lived in an avenue duplex with complement of servants. The crash—and they sought complete isolation from former surroundings, and if unhappy certainly did not show it.

Texas Guinan tells friends she will bivouac in the outland until New York becomes New York again. A complex creature, Texas loves domesticity and her heavily divaned and flamboyantly pillowed pied-a-terre on West 8th street is fully staffed with servants who, along with her white-haired mother and father, await her return. Recently she told me: "I love a home and the feel of a skillet better than any trouper living. But I whisper that softly. For if the public believed that, along with the thought that I was a lady, it would kill my career completely." Whether Texas returns permanently to New York or not, her vivid splash on the night life canvas will glow phosphorescently in memory.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Someone's mad at you—just because you gave them a little advice! Look at all the trouble that might have been saved if they'd taken it! The criticism was just, too. Maybe it did make that other person feel pretty cheap to hear such frank facts; but you told them for their own good. It helps us to hear the truth about ourselves. That's the way we grow stronger and wiser, isn't it?

Yes, you certainly acted the part of a real friend. But what thanks did you get? Not a decent word! If you'd flattered and fibbed and told them how wonderful they were, they'd have loved you for it. But just because you told the truth, they act exactly as if you tried to harm them!

Well, didn't you?

Stop and think. Put yourself in that other human's position. Suppose you were the one who had to face that unsolicited meddling. Would you like it? Of course you wouldn't. You'd feel resentful.

Friendly co-operation—constructive criticism for which you've asked—that's different. But telling you mean things and pretending they're for your own good—you'd resent that, even if you knew the charges were true.

And you'd have a right to resent that, for meddling would menace the most important things in your nature.

What are those most important things? Your pride. Your self-confidence. Your belief in your deep, true self, and the power of that self. Your faith in your own fineness. That's the foundation on which you build your life. Robbed of that foundation, you'll go to pieces. And if someone continually belittles you, that foundation is shaken.

That's why you, yourself, resent meddlers. That's why Frank Folks are always despised, and Friendly Flatterers always adored. For we love the fellow who builds us up; not the chap who tears us down.

And, after all, by what right do you tell the other fellow "the truth for his own good?"

How do you know it's the truth? It may be YOUR conception of the truth. It may be a truth which fits YOUR need or nature. But what do you know of HIS need or nature.

You two are entirely different. You function under different laws. That which may be right for you to do, may be wrong for him. That act which may be wise and prudent in you, may be the yellowest cowardice in him.

No one can tell us the truth about ourselves. No one can define the law under which each soul should operate. Each man must discover his own meaning, his own law. And he isn't worth a whoop unless and until he does.

And even if the advice in itself is commendable, what of the individual's hidden necessities?

SOMETIMES IT IS MUCH MORE IMPORTANT FOR US TO MAKE MISTAKES THAN IT IS FOR US TO PLAY SAFE AND PROFIT THEREBY.

WE LEARN MORE FROM ONE OF OUR OWN MISTAKES THAN WE DO FROM A THOUSAND OF THE OTHER FELLOW'S SERMONS.

Barring those precautions which serve the common good, you've no more right to deny another adult the right to make a fool of himself than you have to shut off his air or his food.

And that injunction doesn't go merely for strangers or acquaintances or casual friends. It's even more binding upon those who are nearest and dearest. That other human may be your husband or wife, son or daughter, mother or father—BUT HE OR SHE IS AN INDIVIDUAL FIRST OF ALL, AND YOU'VE NO RIGHT TO BARGE INTO THAT OTHER SOUL WITHOUT INVITATION.

The Human Side of the News

An Appeal from Tristan da Cunha—Loneliest Place in the World—Mount Everest Remains Unconquered

By EDWIN C. HILL

THE loneliest place in the world turns up in the news—the Island of Tristan da Cunha in the middle of the South Atlantic Ocean. It's an extinct volcano, rising more than seven thousand feet above the sea. It's far off the steamship tracks and doesn't see a ship more than once a year.

A hundred and sixty people live on this forsaken chunk of lava, going without mail and newspapers for many months at a time, and often going very short of food. The soil is thin and poor and raises little. They would starve if it weren't for the fish in the sea. Yet they cling to the island, one of the most amazing evidences of the power of habit and custom.

Five nationalities live on Tristan de Cunha, English, Scotch, Irish, Italian and American. There has been a great deal of inter-marriage and there are only a few family names—Glass, Green, Rogers, Hagen, Swain, Lavarello. They have no artificial light except from lamps filled with whale oil. There is no money and no need for it. They get along with the system of barter, as mankind did 10,000 years ago. The only settlement is named Edinburgh.

And now the people of Tristan da Cunha send out a plaintive appeal for another mongoose, which is a kind of weasel and death on rats and snakes. They have one mongoose and the rats on the island are getting too tough for him. Any day he is apt to become a casualty and then the big rats would overrun the place. The people want some spare mongooses, and they also ask for canned sardines, Epsom salts and Bibles.

Everest Expedition Is Abandoned

INTERESTING news from the roof of the world. The little group of Englishmen who have been fighting their way for eight weeks toward the summit of the world's highest mountain—Mount Everest—have abandoned their courageous adventure until next Fall.

For eight weeks, they fought their way through snow and ice, facing the savage gales which eternally sweep the crest of the king of mountains, climbing finally to a height of 28,000 feet. But old Everest and the demons which dwell on his peak have routed them at last, and the gleaming pinnacle which rises 29,140 feet above the level of the sea stands unconquered. Never has a human foot rested upon that majestic height.

A few weeks ago a British aeroplane soared gallantly above it, but man has never climbed of his own energies and with his own fingers and toes, to that lookout station of the gods. It is only a matter of a dozen years or so since the first European ever reached the foot of Mount Everest.

Inaccessible for all these thousands of years it leaps from the roof of the world. Four times the British have made heroic and historic efforts to scale the peak where abide the gods of the Hindus. Like the old Greeks, who believed that Mount Olympus was the home of Zeus and Hera, the people of Hindustan believe that only the towering peak of the king of mountains could be the home of their god.

Some 10 years ago a gallant Englishman named Colonel Norton stumbled on and up, fighting for his breath every step of the way, until he won past the 20,000-foot mark. He fainted dead away to stagger back with a heart that barely beat, to fight snow blindness for many a weary month.

* * *

Desperate Attempt Of Two Brave Souls

THEN came the two intrepid souls, Mallory and Irvine, who made a desperate attempt, staking their lives on the thinnest of hopes. From a camp to which they had fought their way, less than a mile below the plume of mist which everlastingly waves from the helmet of the mountain king, they set out, with cans of oxygen, for the final conquest.

From far below, their companions in the adventure watched them with strong glasses, thrilling to the struggle that was being made, the gallant advance of two puny little human beings against a very stronghold of the gods. Through the glasses they saw the tiny figures, like little black dots against the white field of snow, struggling closer and closer toward the crest. And then the glasses caught the oncoming of a blizzard, a storm of whirling snow.

The blizzard fell upon the tiny figures, swallowing them up in its blinding mystery. Never again were they seen by the eye of man.

And now, on the high plateau of the Himalayas, sitting in their ancient monasteries, turning their prayer wheels, meditating for long hours over the enigma of life, the Lamas of Tibet, those ancient men with ancient knowledge, whisper that no man can win to the summit of the footstool of the gods.

Since the last frightful convulsion which sank whole continents, and folded the crust of the earth into mighty mountain ranges, Mount Everest has stood in appalling majesty, eternally lifting toward the sun and the stars—the last barrier of Nature to defy the conquering spirit of adventure. For man has stamped his foot upon the poles, fought his way across the burning sands, slashed his paths through the jungles and walked upon the floor of the ocean deep. But never has he planted foot upon that summit of eternal ice, upon that cold pinnacle which flies its white plume of defiance and towers five and a half miles to catch the eye of the Almighty.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

By S. H. Connolly

Who wrote:

1. "His life was gentle, and the elements
   So mixed in him that nature might stand up
   And say to all the world, 'This was a man?'"
2. "The fickleness of the woman I love is only equaled by the infernal constancy of the women who love me?"
3. "And the night shall be filled with music
   And the cares that infest the day
   Shall fold their tents like the Arabs
   And as silently steal away?"
4. "Equal rights for all, special privileges for none?"
5. "Now he lives in Abraham's bosom?"

Do you know:

6. What character was disguised as a man in "Twelfth Night?"
7. What is the name of the witch in "The Tempest?"
8. What is laudanum a tincture of?
9. What does the expression "nee" mean?
10. What does bicephalous mean?
11. What is Zionism a plan for?
12. What is a long curved blade for mowing called?
13. What does the feast of Pentecost celebrate?
14. What girl lost a race because of a golden apple?
15. What was the name of the ship in Stevenson's "Treasure Island?"

Answers to today's tests:

1. Shakespeare, "Julius Caesar." 2. Bernard Shaw, "The Philanderer." 3. Longfellow, "The Day is Done." 4. Thomas Jefferson. 5. St. Augustine, "Confessions." 6. Viola. 7. Sycorax. 8. Opium. 9. Born. 10. Having two heads. 11. Colonizing Jews in Palestine. 12. Scythe. 13. The descent of the Holy Ghost. 14. Atalanta. 15. Hispaniola.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Do you show the deference you should to aged persons who are respectable?

Instead do you say and do things that are likely to bring ridicule to them?

Because of their age they cannot strike back and so you use them as a butt for what you consider your own superior intelligence.

You may not even go as far as this, but you leave a deep hurt from your discourtesies.

The person of good breeding never fails in courtesy toward an older person, no matter what the provocation.

Good breeding demands that a person hold his own self-respect.

Good breeding means unfailing courtesy toward old age—get that.

You may not be well-bred but you do as a well-bred person does and show kindness and consideration and respect for the aged.

Not a patronizing sort of courtesy but a genuine kindliness.

The well-mannered elderly person, irrespective of wealth or station, gets too little from the younger generation.

To be set back on the shelf with curt and even snappy replies to their criticisms hurt older persons and not only robs them of joys they might have, but shows the one administering the rebuffs is not what he may pretend to be.

WORDS OF THE WISE

Every art is an imitation of nature.—Seneca.

No architecture is so haughty as that which is simple.—Ruskin.

The habit of agreeing seems to be dangerous and slippery—Cicero.

A competence is all we can enjoy.—Young.

A pleasant possession is useless without a comrade.—Seneca.

True valor lies half way between cowardice and rashness.—Cervantes.

Confidence, like the soul, never returns to whence it has departed.—Publilius Syrus.
